SENATE ADOPTS CURB BY LODGE ON ARTICLE X.

WILSON WON'T ACCEPT IT

Note to This Effect Said to Have Been Written on Copy of the Substitute.

MAY DEAL WITH GERMANY

And Ask Allies to Confirm Rights Guaranteed to United States Under Treaty.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 15.—The Senate today made Senator Lodge's substitute reservation on Article X. of the Peace Treaty a part of the resolution of ratification, by a vote of 56 to 26. Fourteen Democrats voted with the Republicans in favor of the reservation in the face of a last minute notification from President Wilson that he found the modified Lodge proposal entirely unacceptable.

The defeat of the Peace Treaty, either through an adverse vote in the Senate or the refusal of President Wilson to communicate its ratification to the signatory powers, will determine in the negative the pending question whether the United States shall become a party to the negotiation of the Peace Treaty with Turkey. It is understood that such a decision has been reached. The view that prevailed in this connection was that with the rejection of the German treaty, it would be futile for the United States to become a party to any treaty having to do with the adjustment of the affairs of Europe or, for that matter, the affairs of any foreign country requiring settlement after the world war.

What course will be followed by the Government of the United States if the German treaty is killed either by action of the Senate or the President, can be determined only by the President himself. If he should follow the sentiment that prevails very generally in his administration he will immediately undertake the negotiation of a new treaty with Germany, and at the same time enter into exchanges with Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan, with a view to having them confirm the rights guaranteed to the United States under the terms of the German treaty. It will be necessary also for the President to undertake new treaty arrangements with the Governments of Austria and Hungary.

Angry with Compromise Democrats.

The President, according to report which gained wide currency today, but which Senator Hitchcock said was not entirely accurate, was at no pains to conceal his impatience with Democratic Senators for even troubling to ask his opinion concerning the Lodge substitute.

Mr. Hitchcock sent the President a copy of the reservation late last week and asked his opinion of it. Though he denied today that the President wrote him a letter in reply, Senator Hitchcock said that his information from the White House left no doubt in his mind that he was right when he expected rejection of the proposal by the President. The story which emanated both from the White House and from Senators was that the President upon reading Mr. Hitchcock's letter and the reservation, grew so impatient over the repeated submission of "compromise" reservations to him that he did not want to write Mr. Hitchcock a letter, but quickly wrote upon the margin of the reservation, "This is not acceptable to me—W. W." and dispatched the letter and reservation back to Senator Hitchcock post haste.

President Cannot Be Moved.

The Senator was exceedingly reticent today about it all, but he told his colleagues that the President was in no mood to take either of the Lodge reservations on Article X. He said that in his opinion the President made no difference between the original Lodge reservation and the one adopted today with the aid of Democratic votes.

As it was adopted the reservation carries the amendment drawn up Saturday by Senator Borah and other irreconcilables and accepted by Senator Lodge as a means of solidifying the Republicans in support of it. Forty-two Republicans voted for it and none opposed it. Had the fourteen Democrats voted no, the resolution would have been adopted by a margin of two votes.

The reservation reads:

"The United States assumes no obligation to preserve the territorial integrity or political independence of any

Smuts Elected in South Africa, But Parties Face a Deadlock

CAPE TOWN, March 15. — Jan Christian Smuts, Premier of the Union of South Africa, was a successful candidate for the House of Assembly in the elections held on March 10.

Minister of Justice Deivel also was re-elected.

The outstanding feature of the elections was the numerous Labor successes, that party having already won nineteen seats, as compared with the six it previously held in the House of Assembly.

It is virtually certain that a second election in South Africa will be necessary because no party or combination will be able to form a Government.

FIND $100,000 GEMS STOLEN FROM SAFE

CLUE IN PAPER ON FLOOR

A thirty-eight-inch diamond necklace, containing 185 stones, valued at about $100,000, which was missed on March 6 by Mrs. Emily Ladenburg, widow of Adolf Ladenburg, from the private safe in her apartment at 15 East Forty-eight Street, was found yesterday wrapped in an old stocking in the room at 241 East 115th Street of Solomon Rothman, nineteen-year-old elevator boy at the apartment house in East Forty-eighth Street.

Mrs. Ladenburg, after she had discovered her loss, told Detectives Walsh and Fitzpatrick of the East Fifty-first Street Station that she had found lying on the floor in her apartment, a few days before, a slip of paper bearing the numbers of the combination of her safe, and the words, "Combination of Ladenburg's small safe." This had not been written by her. She said that some one evidently had copied the combination from a small memorandum book which she kept in a cabinet in her bookcase.

After questioning employes of Mrs. Ladenburg and others who work in the building the detectives called on them for samples of their handwriting. They said they found a similarity between the writing of Rothman and that on the slip of paper.

Rothman made a vehement denial when he was accused of the theft yesterday afternoon. After he had been taken to the Ladenburg apartment and questioned he admitted, the detectives said, that he had written the combination numbers on the paper and had taken the necklace. He continued to deny, however, that he had used the combination to open the safe, asserting that he had found the jewels lying on a bureau.

Rothman told the detectives where he had hidden the necklace at his home. He was questioned for some time to discover if he was in league with any brokers in stolen diamonds, but he protested that his plan was merely to hold the necklace until a reward was offered and then collect it.

The 185 stones in the necklace ranged from one-eighth of a carat to five carats in weight. They were set in platinum. Mrs. Ladenburg had owned the necklace for thirty-five years. Its original cost was $25,000, but a number of stones have been added since that time.

Mrs. Ladenburg is the widow of Adolf Ladenburg, one of the founders of the banking house of Ladenburg, Thalmann & Co., who disappeared from the steamer Niagara in February, 1897, when he was returning from a trip to the Bahamas. He left an estate of $10,000,000.

400 IN CONFERENCE ON $100,000,000 HOUSING PLAN

CAUSES OF CRISIS ARE TOLD

DISSENSIONS OF WORKERS

A comprehensive discussion of Mayor Hylan's $100,000,000 building plan took place yesterday at the meeting called by the Mayor in City Hall, where representatives of money lending institutions, builders, material manufacturers and labor unions gave their views on the present housing shortage.

Among the conditions revealed by the speakers were the following:

Owners of thirty billions of dollars of the forty billions outstanding on mortgages are liquidating their holdings as rapidly as possible, because of the Federal and State income taxes, and the money is being invested in tax-free securities.

Unless immediate relief is available, 75,000 families will be homeless on May 1.

Serious dissensions in the ranks of union labor, with the possibility of additional strikes of workers in the building trades by April 1 and the consequent shutdown of the little building that is now going on.

A three-cornered fight involving the Iron Erectors' League (the employers' organization), the Allied Building Trades Council (the employes' organization), and the Bricklayers' Union, unaffiliated with the council. The council demands that where steel and other materials have been put up nonunion men will have to come down before members of the organization return to the jobs. The steel men insist they will continue to stand unequivocally for the open shop. The council will not permit bricklayers to work on buildings unless they join the organization.

Unless the bricklayer situation is cleared up quickly no bricklayers will be left in the city, for, of the 7,000 who have been idle since Jan. 1, 2,500 have already gone to other centres.

A tremendous drain of building material by automobile manufacturers who are planning to build $2,000,000,000 worth of automobiles this year. The deviation to automobiles of great quantities of glass, pipe, lathe, sheet steel and other materials tends to cripple the building material market.

Thousands of workers on building materials are also being induced to transfer their labors to the automobile field, further embarrassing the building material manufacturers.

Mayor to Attempt Mediation.

The hearing room was crowded with 400 men and women when the Mayor took his seat at 10:30 o'clock. The meeting lasted without interruption until 4 o'clock. On the urgent solicitation of the bricklayers, carpenters and those interested in the steel situation, the Mayor promised to attempt to mediate the three disputes. He was also empowered to appoint a committee of eleven,

Lloyd George Announces Mandates for Colonies

LONDON, March 15. — David Lloyd George, the British Prime Minister, in the House of Commons today announced that the following mandates had been allocated:

German East Africa to Great Britain and Belgium; German Southwest Africa to the Union of South Africa; German possessions in the Pacific Ocean south of the Equator, other than Samoa, to the commonwealth of Australia; Samoa to New Zealand, and the German Islands north of the Equator to Japan..

FEAR GERMAN MOVE TO CONTROL RUSSIA

SPARTACIDES MAY ACT

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 15.—The possible reaction of the upheaval in Germany upon the Russian situation and the influence it may have on Russia's future relations with the Entente or Central Powers is regarded by officials and diplomats here as the most important, and perhaps the most dangerous phase of the revolt.

If the German coup d'état is successful it is considered probable that the new elements in control in Germany will seek to develop and expand their industrial influence over Russia, with the ultimate view of seeking again to control the world. If it fails, it is believed here that the conservative and reactionary elements will regard the revolt as premature, and that later, when conditions are again considered ripe, there will be another revolutionary movement.

Opinion in Washington today still held that the revival of imperialistic ambitions in Germany was bound to develop and that what is now taking place in Prussia is a logical development of the situation. It was not necessary, it was felt, for the game they are playing, for the junker, industrial and reactionary elements to embrace the mantle of Kaiserism, and not absolutely necessary for those engaged in the coup d'état to seek at this time to restore monarchical control. German militaristic and imperialistic elements are not regarded as strong enough to openly flaunt the Allies, and for that reason it is believed that they proceed cautiously to make it appear that the chief purpose of the revolution is to set up a strong conservative government in Germany, that the restoration of the Hohenzollerns is not part of their present game, and that they will so shape their course, if they remain in power, as to give the Allies the least possible excuse for sending troops across the Rhine or into Berlin.

Doubt Success of Revolution.

It was seriously doubted in Washington that the present revolution would be successful, but it is believed in quarters possessed of confidential sources of information that failure now will be followed by a successful counter-revolution by the reactionary and big business elements at a later time. However, if the present revolution is successful, it is felt here that the new régime will not for some months regard itself as strong enough to challenge the Allies.

It is the conviction in well-informed quarters here that the revolutionary leaders responsible for the present upheaval hope to link up their planned German industrial revival with industrial and economic control over Russia, with the view ultimately of effecting a Russo-German industrial and political alliance which would give them an economic grip on the world.

The latest dispatches received by the State Department contained information which was summarized in the following official bulletin:

"The Department of State was advised today through official sources that a general strike is in force in Hamburg and that the city is under military control. The dispatch, which was received this afternoon, did not indicate the time of its filing, but it stated that there had been no disorders in Hamburg."

"Without any indications of military resistance to the revolutionists, Berlin was quiet yesterday, a dispatch received by the department from Berlin today announced. The new authorities in control of the city have removed the

ALLIES WARN OF REACTION

IGNORE KAPP GOVERNMENT

LINCOLN A RIGID CENSOR

LONDON, March 15.—Premier Lloyd George, referring in the House of Commons today to the German revolution, said the allied Governments would regard with anxiety any movement representing a monarchical or military reaction, but that it was well to await developments before taking any definite action.

The Premier read to the House the following telegram from Lord Kilmarnock, British Chargé d'Affaires at Berlin:

"The latest news is that the military movement is spreading and a military coup is reported from Munich. Frankfort is in a state of division. The military and civil authorities have been supporting the opposite Governments.

"There has been fighting at Breslau, Hamburg, Kiel, Leipsic and Chemnitz, but the results are uncertain. Military coups have been carried out in thirty-five towns. The position of the new Government appears to have been strengthened."

The Premier said the Allies were watching the course of events carefully.

Commander Kenworthy asked leave to move an adjournment, in order to call attention to the situation in Berlin, but the Speaker of the House declined to entertain the request.

One of the first acts of the new Government in Berlin was to request recognition from the allied commissions in Germany, according to an official British message today. The request was ignored, the Commissioners taking the attitude that they would not extend recognition even to the extent of answering the communication.

An official message filed in Berlin at 6:30 o'clock last night said there was no confirmation of the reports that the sailors at Kiel and Altona had gone over to the new Government.

Lord Kilmarnock had reported to the Government that the workmen of Cologne had discountenanced the new movement and had organized a demonstration for today in which he estimated 200,000 persons would take part. Cologne was the first German centre to resume its industrial activity after the armistice.

Official circles take the view that the German situation is technically an internal affair of a country with which the Allies are at peace and none of their business so long as the Germans live up to the Treaty of Versailles.

The present military activities are merely precautionary in case the new Berlin Government shows a tendency to disregard the treaty, which officials told The Associated Press today they believed entirely unlikely. What news has come through from official sources is interpreted here as showing that Dr. Kapp, head of the new Government, is anxious not to do anything to arouse the Allies, and as evidence of this his request that they recognize the new régime is pointed to.

Holland Puts Extra Guard on ex-Kaiser and Son After Warning by Allies to Keep Watch

THE HAGUE, March 15.—I am officially informed that the Dutch Government has definitely decided that the ex-Kaiser can now on no account leave the country. In fact, further measures, perhaps a change in residence, are under consideration to ensure more security.

Bentinck Castle now has an armed guard, although official circles here consider the Hohenzollerns are not involved in the revolt in Germany and doubt the new German Government can maintain itself or has power to solve Germany's vital food problems. They consider that a similar movement might have had success next Summer, but that the conservatives have been too precipitate.

In official circles it also is not believed that the ex-Kaiser desires to return to the fatherland.

I am also officially informed that the ex-Crown Prince is unable to leave the Island of Wieringen without special permission of the Dutch Government, which would not be granted under present circumstances.

WIERINGEN, March 16.—German airplanes today flew over the Island of Wieringen where the ex-Crown Prince is interned, but soon after there arrived a detachment of thirty Dutch marines under command of a Lieutenant to guard the ex-Crown Prince, who was much astonished to find himself thus attended. A gunboat has arrived at the small port of Denoever, near the ex-Crown Prince's house.

The ex-Crown-Prince, whom I met on a motorcycle in the village this morning, refuses to express an opinion on the present developments in Germany, but when asked whether the moment was not favorable for his return replied that the situation was still too dangerous, although he was very impatient to return to his wife and children and live as a private citizen.

LONDON, March 15.—The only political action thus far known to have been taken by the Allies before the Peace Conference met at 10 Downing Street this morning was to instruct their representatives at The Hague to point out to the Dutch Government the necessity of keeping close watch on former Emperor William.

AMERONGEN, March 14 (Associated Press)—Former Emperor William spent the greater part of today in the garden of Bentinck Castle, where he paced up and down with every evidence of being under great nervous tension. Religious services, which have been held regularly there every Sunday, were omitted today.

The terrible strain of the events of the last few days seems to weigh so heavily upon the mind of the former Emperor that he cannot tolerate the company of others and he makes every effort to get out of doors.

He was up early this morning. He seemed much calmer and sawed wood from 9 o'clock to noon.

PARIS, March 15.—The official impression in Paris is that the reactionary Government established in Berlin will not endure. Private reports from Berlin to Paris say that von Kapp has not been able to form a Ministry and that not only are the Democrats, Majority Socialists and Centrists against him, but the reactionaries themselves are weakening in their support.

It is understood here that Württemberg, Baden and Hesse-Darmstadt, as well as Western Prussia, remain faithful to the Ebert Government, and the report that a monarchy has been proclaimed in Munich is taken to show that Bavaria, long jealous of Prussian leadership in Germany, will not follow von Kapp.

Allies Content to "Wait and See."

The Council of Ambassadors will consider the situation in Germany tomorrow. The representatives of the allied nations will exchange views of their Governments, but there is little probability that any action will be taken. Premier Nitti has sent word from Rome that he favors watchful waiting for a few days. That is the attitude of the British Government and the French will in all likelihood be content with that policy until affairs shape themselves more clearly across the Rhine.

Attention in Paris is turned more toward Stuttgart than Berlin for the moment. President Ebert has called the German National Assembly to meet at Stuttgart tomorrow, and French diplomats believe that the number of delegates responding will show how the wind is blowing in Ger-

WORKERS CONTROL IN GERMAN CITIES

MANY KILLED IN FIGHTING

BERLIN, March 15 (Associated Press).—In fighting today at Dortmund, Westphalia, several persons were killed or wounded. The big smelting works there are completely idle.

It is stated that a Soviet government has been proclaimed in Bochum and Essen. Frankfort-on-Main is reported to be in the hands of the workers. Workmen have stormed the railway station at Hanover.

The workers at Chemnitz, Saxony, have formed a Provisional Committee of Action consisting of three Socialists, three Independents and three Communists. The committee disarmed the Volunteers Battalion and the Home Guard and removed the bourgeoisie from the Security Guard. Three thousand armed workmen occupied the railway station, Post Office and Town Hall and have assumed power in the surrounding towns. The publication of bourgeois newspapers has been forbidden.

The Government of the Principality of Reuss has been deposed and the establishment of a Soviet Republic there is expected.

Ten persons were killed and several wounded in a sanguinary collision on Sunday between demonstrators and members of a volunteer regiment in Leipsic, according to advices received today. A general strike has been proclaimed at Leipsic.

Announcement was made by the new Government late last night of reports from Munich that the Bavarian Socialist Government had resigned and that the troops were in control of that city. The reports added that the Landtag would meet on Tuesday to form a new government.

BERLIN, March 15 (via Copenhagen).—Late last evening, after a tremendously busy day, Kapp's staff admitted hesitatingly that a compromise had been proposed to the Ebert-Bauer Government, now supposed to be in Stuttgart. If the latter consents there will be immediate elections to the Reichstag.

Kapp's friends represented that this proposal had come from a highly honored conservative politician who had first obtained Ebert's consent. As Kapp and his friends still seem to adhere to the condition that certain ministerial heads be replaced by expert bureaucrats, it would seem that they wish to name some of them.

However, it is very improbable that the Ebert-Bauer Government will accept any such compromise, especially since the proposal does not bespeak Kapp's confidence in his own cause.

Kapp's friends announce as a great success the fact that the two conservative parties promise to back his Government if he immediately orders elections, as repeatedly promised. They also state that Herr Winning, the Provincial Governor of East Prussia, who is a Regular Socialist, has declared his willingness to continue in office.

The night passed quietly all over the city with the exception of the Alexanderplatz where in view of police headquarters a shooting affray between some soldiers and laborers took place, resulting in one soldier being wounded while the laborers managed to escape when reinforcements appeared.

The morning found the scenes around Wilhelmstrasse quite unchanged. Soldiers had been sleeping with rifles in their arms under neighboring doorways. Machine guns and even heavy artillery had been moved to places of better advantage.

Almost with sunrise began a migration of the masses toward the centre of the city, and especially toward Unter den Linden and Wilhelmstrasse, and by 11 o'clock the soldiers faced a great multitude that gave them very clearly to understand that they did not approve what had happened in the last forty-eight hours.

In some suburbs the effects of the strike did not become immediately visible because there a majority of the workmen are Communists who refuse to do anything to bring back the Ebert-Bauer Government, having hopes of gaining control of public affairs themselves at an opportune moment, which they believe will offer itself during the present crisis.

Eberts Return Predicted.

BERLIN, March 15 (Associated Press.)—The counter-revolution in Germany appears tonight to have reached the end of the road. There is a strong probability that shortly one Government will be in control, and that President Ebert will come back to Berlin with his Ministers.

A basis of agreement between the Government set up by Dr. Wolfgang Kapp, as Chancellor, and the Government of President Ebert is enunciated in a declaration issued by the present Berlin Government today.

Announcement is made that negotiations with a settlement in view have been opened between the two Governments at the instance of President Ebert and his associates. But there is no direct confirmation of this from Ebert, who is understood to be at Stuttgart.

Briefly, Chancellor Kapp is agreeable to the continuance in office of the "present Imperial President"—who is Friedrich Ebert. He renounces the formation of a new Ministry and places the direction of af-

Wood Leads All Candidates in Minnesota; Has 12,627 Votes to 8,517 for Johnson

ST. PAUL, March 15.—Major Gen. Leonard Wood maintained a commanding lead in the returns from the Republican Presidential preference primary in Minnesota, when their tabulation was halted tonight by a blizzard which paralyzed wire communication.

Senator Hiram Johnson of California, was second, more than 4,000 votes behind General Wood, according to the vote from about 450 precincts, including a majority of the St. Paul and Minneapolis precincts.

The vote, according to the last compilation of the night was:

Wood, 12,627; Johnson, 8,517; Herbert Hoover, 4,466, and Governor Frank O. Lowden, 3,810.

Hoover's vote attracted some attention early in the evening. In a number of precincts, particularly in St. Paul and Minneapolis, stickers were used to put his name on the ballot, and he received a substantial vote there, but elsewhere in the State his vote was small.

Johnson ran strongly in several Minneapolis wards and apparently received a strong labor vote.

Available returns indicated that the total vote would be very light. Several small precincts reported that not a vote was cast.

The agreement as set forth by Chancellor Kapp provides for a Cabinet, which shall include "professional Ministers," or experts, elections within two months for members of the Reichstag and the Prussian National Assembly, and, subsequently, an election for "Imperial President" by the people—until which time Ebert shall hold the reins of power.

Count von Bernstorff, former German Ambassador at Washington, is reported to have gone to Stuttgart to negotiate with President Ebert and Premier Bauer.

One significant clause in the pronunciamento says:

Strike Breaks the Rebellion.

Herein lies the explanation of the proposed settlement, for the general strike, as often before, has proved an effective weapon. Germany already has felt its sinister effect, for the strike in Berlin and many of the other principal cities of the country immediately cut off supplies, means of transportation, light and heat.

It was President Ebert and his Ministers who called upon the Socialists, the workmen and all the people to declare a general strike, and there was an instant and effective response to this call. Labor fiercely resisted the usurpation of the reactionary Government. Vast numbers of men left their work and serious disorders occurred in various parts of the country.

Chancellor Kapp and his supporters announced that they would deal harshly wit hstrikes or passive resistance to the existing order in Berlin. One of the leaders of the counter-revolution, voicing the sentiment of the others, said: "We won't knuckle down to the Socialists and workmen, who think they can run the country."

Notwithstanding the Government's threat of drastic measures, it has been evident that neither Dr. Kapp nor Major General von Lüttwitz was willing to put his warnings to the test. Bloodshed would have then been inevitable, plunging the country possibly into a state of anarchy and giving the Communists an opportunity to foist Soviet doctrines upon Germany.

The situation for a time was fraught with alarming possibilities, particularly if the strike should extend to the railroads. The immediate consequence of this would have been the speedy starvation of Berlin. The most liberal estimates placed Berlin's food supply at less than enough to last eight days.

This state of affairs was recognized in all its seriousness also by the Ebert Government. Therefore hope is entertained here that an agreement will be reached by the two contending Governments and that the streets of Berlin will soon be cleared of wire entanglements, machine guns and armed troops.

Crowds Fired Upon.

Although this counter-revolution has thus far been the most orderly of any in the history of a great country, it has not passed without the clashing of arms and bloodshed. In various cities there has been fighting, both by mobs and by troops, and today several persons were killed and other wounded in disorders in the suburbs of Berlin, when rifles and machine guns were turned upon the crowds.

Hand grenades were also exploded in front of the headquarters of General von Lüttwitz, the reactionary Minister of Defense, but they did no great damage, indicating merely the spirit of opposition.

Much interest should attach to the meeting of the National Assembly which has been called for Tuesday at Stuttgart. The action of the Assembly, if the meeting is held, should have a potent effect in clearing up the grave situation which has arisen in the past few days.

Protest strikes are in full swing in Dresden, Cassel and Gotha. The newspapers have ceased publication in Dresden and the railroads are not running.

The various parties in Gotha refuse to recognize the new Berlin Government. The Oberpresident of the Province of Hesse has issued a proclamation favoring the old Government. Likewise General von Schoeler, commanding the Reichswehr at Cassel, has adhered to the old Government. He says his command holds military authority over Western Germany.

Berlin Rail Traffic Stops.

The underground railway service and rail traffic generally in Berlin was at a complete standstill from early morning. The water supply had been restored, but the gas and electric supplies were still cut off.

Major General von Lüttwitz's troops have erected barbed-wire entanglements at all the street corners, protecting the Government buildings and barracks from possible surprise attacks. No newspapers appeared today except some special sheets of the Lokal-Anzeiger which, in accordance with a Government decree, contains only news pleasing to the Government.

The Lokal-Anzeiger asserts that the Reichswehr garrisons and other military units everywhere are declaring for the new Government and adds that resistance is being offered only at a few places and that sanguinary collisions are very rare.

Demand Joint Government.

The German National Party and the German People's Party in Berlin have declared against the Ebert Government and have demanded of the new Government that all parties willing to co-operate in the reconstruction of Germany shall be invited to collaborate.

Paris Hears of Settlement.

PARIS, March 15.—A Berlin dispatch received this evening states that an agreement has been reached between Chancellor Kapp of the new Government and Gustav Noske, Minister of Defense in the Ebert Government, and that the Government crisis in Germany has ended.

A new Government for Germany will be constituted under the agreement between the old Government and the new, a Havas Agency announcement states.

The reported agreement is declared to have been reached on the following basis.

2. A new Cabinet is to be formed, composed of experts.
3. New elections to the Reichstag are to be held within two months.
4. A new President of the German Republic will be elected, not by the Reichstag but by the people.
5. Pending the elections, Friedrich Ebert is to remain in power.
6. The Economic Council of the empire and the Exploitation Councils are to be transferred into a Second Chamber, to be called the Chamber of Labor.

News of the agreement was announced in a special edition of the Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung in Berlin at 11 o'clock this morning.

The Kapp Government, it was announced in Berlin advices today, has fixed April 11 as the date for the election of a new Reichstag.

The Paris office of the Wolff News Agency had received no confirmation of the agreement up to 8 o'clock tonight. At the agency it was questioned if the National Assembly called for tomorrow will accept any terms "because of great demonstrations all over Germany in favor of the Ebert-Bauer Government."

A dispatch to the Petit Parisien from Zurich says the Ebert Government, together with the President and Vice President of the National Assembly and the Würtemberg Ministers, met at Stuttgart Monday and decided to reject any attempt at negotiations on the part of the followers of Wolfgang Kapp. Premier Bauer is quoted as having said that the only condition the Ebert Government would offer Kapp was that he resign and quit Berlin.

The Ebert Government further declares, says the dispatch, that it has authorized nobody to negotiate with the Berlin Government, being convinced that it will be able to restore order in a few days.

The Berlin dispatch saying that negotiations had been opened is denied.

The Petit Parisien appends a note to the dispatch pointing out that it does not know whether the meeting at Stuttgart was held before or after the negotiations which are reported to have ended in an agreement.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, March 15.—Sensational news reached London tonight that the German revolutionary crisis had been settled by a compromise between the Kapp and Ebert parties. Up to the time of writing the only news giving a faint hope of such a rapid solution consisted of reports that General Mercker had left Dresden for Berlin and Count Bernstorff had left Berlin for Stuttgart to negotiate between the old Government and new revolutionaries.

Kapp's Attempt to Form Cabinet.

LONDON, March 15.—A conference took place in the Chancellery in Berlin last night at which attempts were made to complete the Cabinet of the new Government, the Exchange Telegraph correspondent at Berlin reports. Dr. Albert Südekum, Prussian Minister of Finance; Herr Oeser, Prussian Minister of Railways; Lord Mayor Daumig, Dr. Schilie and August Winning, former President of East Prussia, were participants in the conference. Herr Südekum and Herr Oeser refused to accept places in the Government, but the others are reported to have agreed to enter it.

Chancellor Kapp, according to the Berlin correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph, yesterday negotiated fruitlessly in an endeavor to induce the Independent Socialists to enter the new Cabinet. Negotiations between the Independent and Majority Socialists may be regarded as having broken down, the correspondent says, the Independents insisting that the Majority Socialists should give up their coalition with the Democrats and Centre and join in the work of establishing a Soviet system. This the Majority Socialists declined to do.

The strike against the coup d'état in Germany has increased in dimensions and significance, says a dispatch to The London Times from The Hague dated Monday.

According to reports received there, the dispatch adds, the new Government is acting in accordance with the old Prussian methods, imprisoning the old democratic Ministers and labor leaders and all who are offering opposition to it.

BERLIN, March 15.—It is now possible to give more complete details of the week-end coup d'état. As I have already telegraphed, it was not till Friday afternoon that the old Government gave any sign that it knew of the intended move, and it then issued a notice so optimistic that nearly all Berlihers went quickly to bed with no idea of what they would awaken to.

But events were moving rapidly. I was in the streets late Friday night and saw the stern warning, "Any one who goes further will be shot," posted on great wooden boards at either end of the Wilhelmstrasse. The whole thoroughfare was strongly held by troops, while at the Brandenburg Gate, at the western end of Unter den Linden, another strong force of Noske's guards was posted with many machine guns. All public buildings were protected in similar fashion, and every bridge in the city was commanded by machine guns and held by troops. Strong forces were marching in various directions through the centre of the city. All the men were wearing steel helmets and were in full marching order and accompanied by field kitchens.

Noske was sitting in his office in Bendlerstrasse directing operations by telephone. Berlin at the dead of night seemed suddenly to have gone back to the uneasy days of a year ago. As the cause of all these preparations began to be whispered about one began to believe there was something after all in the statement that the monarchists were about to make an attempt to overthrow the Government.

At the time Friday afternoon, when Noske's order to his troops to be in readiness for immediate action was being circulated, an optimistic communiqué was issued to the press in time for the evening papers. Guardedly put though it was, it rather startled the city at first. It stated that the extreme monarchist clique was aiming at overturning the Government, and had been endeavoring to win over the troops to what then appeared to be a desperate gamble.

Declaring its intention to take the strongest measures in dealing with the plotters, the Government announced that several of those concerned would be arrested. Two persons were reported to already put in prison—one man named Schnitzler, and another named Fritz Grabokski. The latter was found ill in bed. Both were said to be authors or journalists.

Warrants for Kapp and Pabst.

Warrants were issued for the arrest of ex-Captain Pabst and the well known extreme Conservative, Dr. Von Kapp, who has since come so prominently to the front. Von Kapp, who was born in America, is the son of an exiled ringleader of the Prussian revolution of 1848. He is well remembered for his bitter pamphlet against Chancellor von Bethmann Hollweg in 1916. The Chancellor made a stinging reply in the Reichstag, calling Von Kapp "a pirate preying on public opinion." This reactionary Hotspur is an East Prussian official. He arrived in Berlin only a few days ago. He shares with von Tirpitz the credit of having established the notorious Fatherland Party.

But the whereabouts of Von Kapp and Pabst were unknown when the Noske warrants were issued, though they were soon to make their presence so dramatically felt. It was already known that the danger point was Döberitz, about a dozen miles west of Berlin. There were encamped the forces of marines and other troops recently returned from the Baltic States.

In a previous message I have described the negotiations between the old régime and the new, and the ultimatum from Döberitz demanding the resignation of the old Government by 7 o'clock on Saturday morning. To enforce this the Döberitz forces marched on Berlin, halting at the Brandenburg Gate to await the expiration of the time limit of the ultimatum. Seven o'clock came, and, with bands playing and soldiers singing, the troops of the new régime moved through the great gate. It was a most picturesque and impressive sight. There was a great deal of curiosity among the crowds that had gathered as to what was to happen.

Rebels and Populace Friendly.

Troops and people all seemed in the best of good humor, and small crowds stopped wherever there were soldiers to learn the news. I saw a chauffeur of the British Military Mission learning all about the night's doings from a soldier in Unter den Linden.

When prominent members of the new movement began to take possession of the Government offices they found everything undisturbed and just as the officials had left it the previous evening. Most of the members of the old Government had left in good time. Ebert and Bauer, as well as Noske, disappeared with a small amount of luggage about 5 o'clock Saturday morning.

The first thing the new Chancellor did was to notify the population that the old Government had ceased to exist and that he as Chancellor and Prime Minister of Prussia had assumed full control. His statement added that General von Lüttwitz had been appointed to the supreme military command and to the post of Minister of Defense. Later proclamations declared that the National Assembly and the Prussian Assembly were dissolved and that as soon as domestic order had been restored new elections would take place.

So, without bloodshed and without the firing of a single shot, the counter-revolution took place, and the city remained as quiet as though nothing were happening, people going about their business as usual.

WAR OF MANIFESTOS IS RAGING IN BERLIN

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, March 14.—The Kapp Government is trying hard to convince the people that it will not make any attempt to restore the monarchy or to reintroduce general military service, "because (so the placards posted all over the city say) this would be against the peace treaty." The people are asked not to believe "all these lies which are spread by the old Government for the purpose of discrediting the new Government."

The reports brought to Wilhelmstrasse concerning the attitude of the people toward the new Government seem not to have satisfied the triumvirate Kapp, Pabst and Lüttwitz, who decided that a still more impressive proclamation must go forth. As all the printing establishments were closed because of the strike, the Wolff Telegraph Bureau had to print some thousands of copies, which were distributed by military automobiles.

In this proclamation the trinity of Döberitz assures Berliners that it will liberate Germany "from the misery, corruption and crime fostered by the old Government, in which a man like Ersberger held a dominating position."

"Bolshevism," the proclamation continued, "threatens Germany's eastern frontier. Only a strong Government will be able to ward off all dangers. German honor must be restored. No offense against the Constitution can be tolerated. Only a Government of deeds can save Germany."

Then followed fourteen promises by the Kapp-Pabst-Lüttwitz Government. "It will carry out the Peace Treaty with honor to Germany. It will respect the rights of individual German States; acknowledge war loans; distribute taxes on land in cities and country in just proportion; abolish all maximum prices on farm products; suppress strikes and sabotage—but it promises that laborers shall have a just share in the Government—confirm existing old age pension laws; enact laws affording any German citizen a chance to own real estate, at least his own homestead. The State employes who since November, 1918, have been sadly neglected, will be better cared for. Similar promises are made to officers and soldiers. Religious liberty is guaranteed. Attempts at separation from the federation will be treated as treason. Not theories, but the needs of the people will guide us."

But even this proclamation seemed insufficient, and at 4 in the afternoon the Lokal Anzeiger placed a written statement in the windows of its many branch offices all over the city, promising still another proclamation which will confirm the workmen's rights to form factory councils, and, indeed, confirm all the liberties granted by the preceding Government.

The old Government, too, issued proclamations, some on red paper, warning the people not to trust the new Government, which was characterized as one of irresponsible adventurers who would soon be deposed. This proclamation was signed by Ebert, Bauer, Giesbert and Koch, representing all factions of the coalition Government. It was dated Dresden, March 13.

This afternoon, however, the Lokal Anzeiger received a message from Dresden which was communicated to THE NEW YORK TIMES correspondent. It said that General Merker, commanding the Dresden garrison, had gone over to Kapp and had called on the Saxon population not to obey the order of Ebert and Bauer for a general strike. The message also announced that the coalition Government had left Dresden for a safer place in the south, probably Stuttgart.

Another proclamation was addressed to the soldiers telling them that Kapp was deceiving them and that he desired only to restore the monarchy. Handbills containing similar statements were freely distributed all over the city without the military patrols interfering. It must be admitted that the latter left numerous impromptu street meetings unmolested, despite the fact that hardly any orator said anything favorable to Kapp's Government.

The only interference of the soldiers with the public noticed by THE TIMES correspondent, who traveled all over Berlin, was on the Kurfürstendamm, where some suspicious persons made a demonstration against the Jews inhabiting this district.

Berlin is still without any newspapers, not even abbreviated extras having appeared. The Freiheit offices and the Vorwärts building are strongly guarded by the Marine Brigade. Nevertheless large crowds gathered all day in front of these buildings, as they did also in front of Prince Joachim's palace, which is strongly guarded by soldiers and machine guns, the Prince being still absent.

Many workmen's unions declared a strike this morning, so that the wheels of ordinary life will be still tomorrow. At noon today all the waiters, cooks and maids left the hotels and restaurants, and meals can be bought nowhere. The miners will strike tomorrow; so will the railway employes.

Business men who arrived from Hamburg by automobile told THE TIMES correspondent that a large majority of Hamburg citizens of all classes had declared against the Kapp Government. The newspapers there are censored by the compositors.

ITALIAN PRESS PESSIMISTIC.

Whole World Seen as a Seething Cauldron by One Paper.

ROME, March 14.—Commenting on the international situation and the events in Germany, the Popolo Romano asks: "Where is the peace of Clemenceau and Wilson when the whole world is a seething cauldron?" The newspaper says that for Italy the necessity of keeping out of the new impending conflicts is more important than concluding peace.

"What will happen in Germany, Turkey, Hungary and elsewhere?" the Popolo Romano continues. "In Tunisia and India there are signs of rebellion against France and England. The Turks and Arabs are turning against the Europeans, and Russia is with them. Germany can cement and direct the coalition."

The Tempo says:

"The coup in Germany is a step backward, as Germany needs to regain the confidence of her former enemies. The episode cannot help the empire internally. It may lead to Spartacide riots and reaction on the part of the masses, while externally it will complicate the moral position of the German Empire and increase suspicions against it."

non-compliance with the rules of the new censorship.

Telegrams received during the day from Lord Kilmarnock, the British Chargé d'Affaires in Berlin, presented a gloomy review of the situation. According to one of them conflicts of various degrees of intensity existed in thirty-five cities and towns, and the strike against the usurpers called for by Noske had begun in Berlin, Frankfort, Essen, Dortmund, Duisberg, Munich, Hanover, Leipsic, Hamburg, Cologne and other industrial centres.

In Berlin, Frankfort, Essen, Kiel, Leipsic, Dusseldorff and Honover there had been fighting between workmen and soldiers, with some loss of life. The change of Ministry at Munich does not seem to have been caused, though it may have been precipitated, by the revolutionary movement.

VIENNA PERTURBED BY GERMAN REVOLT

FOOD SUPPLY IN DANGER

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

VIENNA, March 15.—Events taking place in Berlin are causing much headshaking in Vienna. It is feared that there may be considerable reaction politically on the situation here. While no doubts are entertained as to the disaster which may happen to Vienna's food and coal supplies, what is feared most politically is if the monarchist plans in Berlin succeed, Bavaria may call for the restoration of the Wittelsbach dynasty with all that ancient family means to the historical consciousness of southern Germans.

Tyrol and Sturalberg and other provinces of Austria are already endeavoring to effect a union with Germany, and should the Wittelsbach dynasty be restored, then these provinces, with their strong monarchist tendencies, would certainly break away from Socialist Vienna and join with Bavaria and the Catholic monarchy.

Vienna is perhaps watching Munich rather than Berlin. Effects here of any great strike movement in Germany will of course be almost catastrophic, as Austria's food from Holland and Scandinavia comes on the German railways, while a considerable percentage of Austria's miserable coal supplies are either produced in or transported through Germany. So there is naturally apprehension here, indeed, the feeling that Central Europe generally is going to experience a landslide.

If a strong monarchist movement come about Hungary will certainly be in it as a result of the recent successes of the Hapsburg family supporters there, and Austria is in some danger either of being isolated amongst active monarchist plots or of falling prey to them as a result of her defenseless state.

With all these circumstances in view there is at present a certain amount of subdued Socialist activity in Vienna. Various Socialist groups had arranged to hold demonstrations during the week-end in celebratoin of the revolution in March, 1848. At first the program was for separate meetings of separate groups, but at the eleventh hour a change was made and it was decided that all parties should unite and hold a joint demonstration against reaction—whether in Berlin or elsewhere. A grandiose announcement to this effect appeared in yesterday's Arbeiter Zeitung, the leading Socialist paper.

The Socialists and Communists and Landwehr therefore joined in large processions, which were held throughout the city, all converging ultimately in the Ringstrasse and marching past the Parliament buildings and the Rathaub.

The Internationale and other Socialist songs were sung rather freely, while red banners and other outward signs of sentimental socialism were plentiful. Reserve police forces were visible on the streets, but the proceedings passed off quietly.

The political situation is rather troubled here now, and important developments are expected in the coming week. What ultimate effect the events in Berlin may have is, however, uncertain as yet, but the Socialists here certainly seem determined that they must continue to have a large say in matters.

Government stated that conditions in East Prussia were quiet, civilians and militia guarding the railways and the post offices.

As regards Hamburg, the Government statement said the situation there was not clear. It added:

"In Mecklenburg-Schwerin no strikes have taken place. General Lettow-Vorbeck (former Commander of the German troops in German East Africa), has taken charge of the troops, who are supporting the new Government. Saxony is quiet and the troops are neutral. General Mercken has ordered that no strikes take place. Stettin, Hanover, Hesse and South Germany are quiet."

Messages from Munich report that crowds collected on Sunday afternoon in the streets of that city especially in front of the Palace of Justice, but that they were dispersed by the police and troops. The trade unions and the Socialist parties subsequently called a meeting at which the immediate release of political prisoners was demanded and a general strike proclaimed.

A general strike was also declared for today in Nuremburg.

A message from Schwerin declares the regular troops there are solidly behind the new Government, but that the workers at the gas, electrical and water works have struck.

Soviet Reported in Mannheim.

PARIS, March 15.—Independent Socialists and Communists met yesterday at Mannheim and decided to take advantage of the present situation in Germany and proclaim a Soviet Government, according to advices from Basle, the news having reached that city by telephone.

Majority and Independent Socialists throughout Germany appear to be uniting against the military movement, according to a Basle dispatch to l'Information.

Re-establishment of the Bavarian monarchy has been proclaimed in Munich, according to a telephonic message received in Berlin from the Bavarian capital this afternoon and telegraphed to the Temps.

New Governments Formed.

LONDON, March 15. — Telephonic messages received by the Berlin correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Company from different parts of Germany report the situation as follows:

In the Rhine Valley and Westphalia industrial regions the Communists have proclaimed a counter-revolution and general strike.

A number of labor councils have been formed at Essen and Dortmund. Heavy fighting continues at Frankfort.

Bavaria, Würtfamberg and Baden have joined together as one State, and Saxony, it is reported, will also enter this bloc.

A heavy loss of life is reported in disturbances at Kiel, Frankfort and Essen, according to a Berlin dispatch to the Central News. Demonstrators have seized a depot at Frankfort containing arms and ammunition.

Radicals Prepare to Rise.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

THE HAGUE, March 15.—Although many reports show the new German Government has gained support outside of Berlin, reports from Düsseldorf and other industrial districts state a counter-revolution is gathering like an avalanche and taking on a much more radical character. Socialists, Independents and Communists have decided to meet tomorrow in the workshops to choose councils and then strike. The council will form the basis for a political counter-movement, prepare a dictatorship of the proletariat and free political prisoners with the help of workmen. The Socialists will undertake to arm the people. Leaders will be chosen from the council. Workmen are warned against plundering.

Some people here think Germany may be divided into three States—Monarchist, Democratic and Communist.

WASHINGTON, March 15.—General von Lüttwitz, commanding the military forces of the new Government in Germany, was described today as "one of the Kaiser's old gang" by Herbert Hoover, who said he had found it necessary to deal with him during the war as one of the principal German military officials in occupied Belgium.

Mr. Hoover was of the opinion that events in Germany have not developed sufficiently to indicate how closely the imperialists are connected with the movement.

READY TO DOUBLE FRENCH RHINE ARMY

By EDWIN L. JAMES.

many. Should delegates in any great majority from Saxony, Bavaria, Württemberg and the Rhineland—not to mention Prussia—respond and stand firm for the Ebert Government, the French believe the duty of the Allies will be to give their aid, at least morally, to that Government. The French Foreign Office has instructed an official in Mayence to go to Stuttgart this afternoon and report on the situation from tomorrow.

Paris Doubts von Kapp's Success.

The Foreign Office puts no confidence in dispatches coming from Berlin telling how well von Kapp's faction is doing. Persons familiar with German politics point out that the Majority Socialists, the Centrists and Democrats are opposed to von Kapp; that the strike is spreading and that South Germany is suspicious. They believe von Kapp has a very difficult time ahead of him.

General von Lüttwitz, after announcing that von Kapp's Government had been recognized by the Allies, handed to General Nollet, chief of the Allied Commission for the Disarmament of Germany, a note addressed to the Allies, asking them to postpone their demands. According to the French Foreign Office, General Nollet refused to receive the note.

It is the general opinion in Paris that Hindenburg and Ludendorff are back of von Kapp and von Lüttwitz, but are keeping in the shadow until they see whether or not these reactionaries are successful. The French do not conceal their hope that out of the counter-revolution will come the dissolution of the German Empire. They have always held that the safety of France lay in a weak Germany, and they still believe so. The cutting off of Prussia from the rest of Germany would be regarded by the French as a godsend.

Everywhere in Paris one hears the assertion that, regardless of the outcome of the fight between the two German Governments that appear to exist today, the very fact of the present situation in Germany indicates that the French ideas about firmness must guide the Allies in future.

Press Continues to Attack Wilson.

The newspapers continue their attacks upon Wilson and Lloyd George, saying that their leniency toward Germany is bearing its fruit.

The Matin asks how it happens that President Wilson knew enough about Europe to discover and warn of militarism in France, but did not suspect militarism in Germany.

"At the moment when Mr. Wilson was denouncing the triumph of militarism in France," it says, "and was being listened to favorably in English Government circles militarism seized Berlin and chased out the republican Government. The President of the United States did not foresee this coup, as his message shows. Informed as he was about France, why was he not similarly informed about Germany? It was by men capable of being so deceived that the fate of the world was fixed. It is not only to Mr. Wilson but also to M. Clemenceau and Mr. Lloyd George that the events in Berlin come as a humiliation.

"Now, after the efforts of these three, in their mistaken judgment against history, against the nature of things and against the interests of France and all Continental Europe, to save German unity at any price, Germany herself is destroying that unity. We foretold the weakness of the policy of these three, but we did not think it would be proved so quickly."

French Army Augmented by 175,000.

Many papers congratulate the country on the fact that today begins the enrolment of the class of 1920, which will add 175,000 men to the French Army.

The Figaro says that the Allies must stand solidly with France to force the disarmament of Germany. It adds:

"We ought naturally to act in agreement with our Allies. We have already given proof of our moderation. But it must not be forgotten that the German menace touches us infinitely more closely than any one else. If a new war breaks out in a few years it is we and our brothers of the Belgian Army who would have to stand the blows. It is then reasonable that our voice should be heard. We count on the support of our Allies. In case this support should not be so complete as we would like it to be, our most sacred interests, the blood of our dead, make it our duty to take the indispensable precautions."

In a newspaper interview André Tardieu says:

"The feebleness of the Allies since the retirement of Clemenceau and the transference of the conference to London have encouraged the chiefs of the German militaristic movement. We gave way on the question of the war criminals; we hesitated in the matter of coal; we started a campaign of revision. Germany tries to profit. What is happening in Germany cannot leave the Allies indifferent. They need not fear German military aggression for the present, but they must assure the execution of the treaty, which the events at Berlin compromise."

American Commander Confers with Foch.

General Allen, commanding the American forces on the Rhine, attended today a conference called by Marshal Foch at Mayence. The commanders of the British, Belgian and French Rhineland forces were also present. The Marshal discussed with the Generals the step which might be taken. Saturday he ordered additional troops moved across the Rhine into the bridgeheads.

A message received from Cassel denies that the Reichswehr there went over to von Kapp, and quotes an order by General von Schöller to his troops saying that he supports the Ebert Government.

Temps Still Urges Intervention.

The Temps tonight continues to urge the Allies to intervene in Germany. It says the program of von Kapp is to place Hindenburg in the Presidency and then to hold a referendum on the restoration of the monarchy, and that if the vote is favorable the ex-Crown Prince will be called to the throne. The Temps believes the Allies should halt this program at all costs, and quotes Roosevelt as saying that cowardice will not assure peace.

"The men who have seized power in Berlin," it says, "have seized it only to restore the Hohensollerns. To say we will recognize their Government if it does not carry out its program is not policy; it is camouflage. As for the idea ingeniously put forward by Chancellor Bauer, to establish a Prussian monarchy on the British model, we think too highly of the intelligence of our British allies to suppose they will be caught by this. The Germans who profess themselves friendly to England are not the least dangerous for the English. William II., who was before von Kapp the protector of Admiral Tirpitz, was a grandson of Queen Victoria. In London and Rome it must be realized that to recognize this Government in Berlin would be to capitulate to the Hohenzollerns."

The Temps says that if von Kapp and his crowd are allowed to consolidate their power it is evident what their attitude will be.

"Germany," it continues, "will not pay, will not disarm, will never cease to prepare revenge until the day when she is strong enough and we are weak enough. On that day there will be war. The allied Governmen—least of all France—have no right to expose their peoples to such danger. They must not let it be thought they will tolerate the existence of a Ludendorff Government. Since General Lüttwitz and his colleagues declare that the Entente has recognized them, it is necessary to declare publicly that the allied Governments will not recognize them in any fashion whatsoever.

"Shall we say that the Allies should intervene in the internal affairs of Germany? It must be understood, first of all, what non-intervention signifies. In our eyes it signifies that foreigners have not the right to take part against the Government which a people has freely accepted. But when a group of fanatics driven out the regular Government, disperses the National Assembly, suppresses liberty of opinion and tries with machine guns to install a régime whose evident aim is to prepare war, we wish to know in what consists non-intervention; if it consists in encouraging the fanatics by complacent silence, or if it consists in telling them that we will make no compact with them.

"It cannot be repeated too often, in the face of what happens in Germany, that inaction is not permissible. It is necessary that the force of the Allies be felt across the Rhine and that by a firm declaration and by acts, if need be. The Prussian militarists have thrown their swords into one balance of the scales; we must throw ours into the other."

The Journal des Débats takes the opposite view, and says that France should note well that the course of events is dividing Germany—an end to be desired—whereas armed intervention by France would once again unite the empire—a thing to be avoided.

French Send Envoy to Stuttgart.

PARIS, March 15—(Associated Press).—Mr. Bruyère has been appointed by the French Government as its unofficial representative at Stuttgart, the provisional seat of the Ebert Government in Germany, and will leave Paris late today for that city, where he will watch the course of events.

Maurice Paléologue, General Secretary of the Foreign Office, paid a visit this afternoon to Dr. von Mayer, the German Charge d'Affaires here, and informed him of M. Bruyère's appointment.

The dispatches received by Dr. von Mayer confirmed the French official view that the hold of the Kapp Government in Berlin was not likely to be of long duration. His support was considered by the Chargé, he intimated, to be hardly more than that of military adventurers. The Kapp adherents, according to Dr. von Mayer's informant, had learned by today that they had no chance of succeeding, but were still trying vainly to obtain the support of the labor parties.

Advices to the French Foreign Office from Berlin, it was said, indicated that the revolution in Prussia had thus far been confined to the military and the Pan-German party, and was without other political support. Leaders of the conservative parties and such industrial leaders as Dr. Walter Rathenau, President of the German General Electric Company, it was declared, had condemned the movement.

From all the information thus far received, it was added, the impression in official circles was that the military party might hold possession of Berlin and other important centres and prolong the state of uncertainty for some time—possibly a month or two—but that without the support of other political elements than the Pan-German party, the movement was doomed to failure.

Rebels Denounced by Rathenau.

Herr Rathenau, according to an official dispatch received at the Quai d'Orsay, has characterized the leaders of the counter-revolution as "brutes."

The attitude of the French Government is simply one of expectancy, it finding no reason to interfere with Germany's internal affairs and taking only such precautions as the indicated revival of the military spirit of Prussia demands. Whatever may prove to be eventually the regularly constituted Government of Prussia and the other States in the former German Empire is preoccupying French official circles to a less degree than the execution of the Treaty of Versailles, upon which the French Government, it was indicated, will remain absolutely firm.

Some significance is attached here to a conference which Premier Millerand had this morning with General Mangin, former Commander in Chief of the French forces on the Rhine. No dissatisfaction is felt here with General Degoutte, at present in command, but it is not forgotten that the name of Mangin means far more to the German militarists than that of Degoutte.

No confirmation is obtainable of the reports that the French forces on the Rhine are being reinforced, but it was said at the Foreign Office that it was quite possible that the reserves of the Rhine army had been brought up from the rear in preparation for eventualities.

French Youths Called to the Colors.

A contingent of the class of 1920 left the Paris railroad stations this morning to join their regiments. This proceeding was according to previously arranged plans, having no connection with the events in Germany. Nevertheless, the fact that the young men were on their way to join the colors for the first time made them the object of especially sympathetic attentions on the part of the public.

France contemplates sending three more army corps to Wiesbaden, Neustadt and Bonn, thus doubling her forces along the Rhine, according to The Petit Parisien. Marshal Foch will call a meeting of the Supreme War Council as soon as he returns from Mayence, where he will confer today with allied commanders. Reports reaching this city state that every step has been taken to maintain order in occupied districts of Germany and that the International Commission for the Rhenish Provinces has received the German High Commissioner after having conferred with allied military leaders.

BIG EUROPEAN PLOT SEEN IN GERMAN COUP

Russian, Turkish, Magyar and Balkan Reactionaries Said to be Involved.

POLAND GRAVELY MENACED

Berlin Monarchists' Purpose Is to Organize Russia Militarily and Economically.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, March 15.—A foreign correspondent of the Daily Telegraph, whose prediction of a German counter revolution has been justified by Saturday's happenings, supplies that journal with an interpretation of those events from the same source. Among other things he says:

"The counter revolution, although not avowedly of a monarchist character, has not yet unmasked all its political batteries. It would be difficult to proclaim Wilhelm II. or III., when both are still detained abroad, and it might be unwise to proclaim even as regent any other Hohenzollern until the attitude of the Supreme Council and the solidarity of the Allies in this emergency have been put to the test, whence the suggested regency, for such it is, of Hindenburg.

"It would also be foolish to imagine that the German Army will launch any attack in the direction of France and Belgium. The Government will not repudiate the Treaty of Versailles in its entirety, but upon Kuhlemann's advice, and Bernstorff's (the former is closely watching the Pacifist forces in England and the latter the trend of Washington towards aloofness from the old world). The new Wilhelmstrasse, under Von Jagow virtually the old Wilhelmstrasse, will ask to renegotiate a peace in the sense advocated by the Revisionists.

"In the meantime the German Army will decline to be disarmed and will be redirected towards the east, while the present troubles of the Allies will be intensified from Budapest to Merv—on the Indian frontier.

"Among the conspirators recently in Berlin and in conference with Ludendorf and other German Army chiefs one may note Enver and Talaat Pashas, now it is learned, stirring up Pan-Islamic movements in Daghestan and Azerbaijan. Count Julius Andrassy, most Germanophile of Magyars, has also been here on behalf of the Hapsburgs and the Budapest reactionary Government. Then there have been ex-Czar Ferdinand of Bulgaria and agents of ex-King Constantine of Greece.

"Last, but not least, among the foreign conspirators at present or recently in Berlin, the Allies must reckon with the Russian Czarist and Octobrist leaders—Generals, ex-Ministers and Baltic bankers. Non-Bolshevist Russia, it may as well be frankly stated, has latterly, with the exception of a few Cadet and other small sections, turned against the Allies. Britain and Italy are special objects of that hatred, France still retaining a certain romantic lustre. Blacks and Reds in Russia are coalescing and neither are hostile to Berlin, the former sympathizing with the German Junkers and the latter wanting and finding German technical organizers.

"The idea of the German reaction is to organize Russia militarily and economically as soon as the allied blockade has been finally lifted, and while temporizing diplomatically with the Supreme Council to gather in Russian cannon fodder and Russian raw material. The German reaction, too, is working upon Russian hatred of the Poles. If the Poles should attempt to obstruct her, Germany plans for the immediate repenetration of Russian Poland. According to the plans, this section is to be crushed by joint Russo-German military action.

"German Bolshevist agents and provocateurs account for the labor unrest which is raising its head in Poland, as they also account for renewed friction between the Poles and Czechs at Teschen. The German Monarchists know that Poland is ill-equipped for defense against themselves and they firmly believe that whatever they may undertake in that direction, the Supreme Council will not reopen hostilities against Germany.

"Only the Supreme Council itself can undeceive them on this point. The immediate danger is not on the Rhine, it is on the Vistula, the Danube—and further east."

MARTENS BUREAU TELLS ITS TRADE PLAN

Now Suggests Dealing on a Barter Basis with Official Missions Settling Values.

A. A. Heller, "Director of the Commercial Department" in the Russian Soviet Government Bureau here, headed by L. C. K. Martens, who is now awaiting examination with a view to his deportation as an undesirable alien, sent this statement to the newspapers last night:

"Contracts already made between the Russian Soviet Government and American business firms will not be affected by the decision of the Russian Government to stop further negotiations until some definite trade understanding is reached at Washington. The Soviet Government Bureau does not propose to cancel any negotiations already made. It will not, however, enter into any further agreements until an understanding is reached by the United States Government relative to Russian trade in general. Railroad equipment is the only exception to this rule.

"When communications are opened we expect to handle trade on a cash and barter basis. The Russian Government is not seeking credit nor does it intend to offer a depreciated currency in payment. The Russian Government can and does, however, offer raw materials with a sufficient gold guarantee in back of them.

"Trade with Russia as it was carried on prior to the war is impossible under changed conditions. Foreign trade is a Government monopoly in Russia. There are no individual traders.

"The appointment by the various countries of trade missions with Government sanction is a possible method of trade. These commissions can determine the values of materials offered in exchange. They can establish a debit and credit account based, not in rubles, but on a price unit that will be acceptable to all countries. Any balances that would accrue to foreign traders from these transactions would then be covered by the gold fund that would be deposited with some international syndicate or corporation created for that purpose."

The entire Russian trade situation, as a matter of fact, awaits the outcome of the conference on the subject with the Allies, suggested by President Wilson for March 20.

Witnesses Tell How Government Is Said to Have Been Swindled.

Witnesses called yesterday by the Government in the trial of Jay A. Weber, Secretary of the Pictorial Review Company, charged with having bribed an agent of the Bureau of Internal Revenue to swear falsely to the company's income tax return, recited the story told in the indictment of how Weber is alleged to have been detected in an effort to swindle the Government.

After a conference between John B. Stanchfield, of counsel for the defense, and Benjamin P. De Witt, Government prosecutor, and later between them and Judge Cushman, concerning a stipulation as to the character of the evidence in possession of the Government and what it intended to present, the trial was adjourned until this morning.

WHITE HOUSE DIALOGUE ON THE COUP VIA PARIS

The Journal Indulges in Satire on Wilson's Foreknowledge of Events.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

"Mr. Tumulty entered the office of Mr. Wilson, crying:

"'It has happened! They have made a military coup d'état!'

The President answered simply: "I expected it.'

"Then, with a smile that showed all his teeth, he asked: 'How did it happen?'

"'Never was a manifesto so well carried out. At the head of two brigades of the Guards a General entered the capital and chased the Government out.'

"'I expected it.'

"'I have forgotten the name of the General,' said Tumulty. 'He was one of those who did well in the colonies. But, in short, no resistance was opposed. The population was with him.'

"'These folks are imperialists at heart,' said the President. 'That is just what I wrote the other day. Ah! How well I know them! But I am here, and I will prevent their doing such things. Have you further details?'

"'Yes, Mr. President. It appears that the Marshal is going to be made President in an enthusiastic movement.'

"'The Marshal! That doesn't surprise me at all. I always distrusted that man who did not talk much, and who did not admire me. But what has become of the President of the Republic?'

"'He has fled with his Ministry.'

"Mr. Wilson sighed.

"'Poor Deschanel! He was not long at the Elysée.'

"At these words Mr. Tumulty jumped to his feet, but he could not prevent Mr. Wilson from exclaiming with an inspired air:

"'Imperialist France!' You see, I was right! I know what happened. I know that Colonial General. It is Mangin. The Marshal, certainly, is Foch. French militarism triumphs, but I—'

"At last Mr. Tumulty recovered his breath and cried: 'Excuse me, Mr. President, but the coup d'état was not in Paris. It was in Berlin.'

"'In—?'

"Since yesterday Mr. Wilson has received no visitors, but it is hoped that this shock will not have serious consequences."

HINDENBURG STILL IN RING.

London Paper Thinks People Would Elect Him President.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Tuesday, March 16.—The Daily Chronicle editorially sees no reason to doubt that the Ebert and Kapp Governments have concluded peace on the terms reported, which are on the whole it says more favorable to the Kapp party.

"The Kapp party obtains two great concessions of principle," it says. "One is that the new Reichstag shall be elected within two months, the other that the new President shall be elected not by the Reichstag but by the people. To both points the Militarists have attached great importance.

"As regards the Presidency, their calculation is that no individual German enjoys anything like the personal popularity of Hindenburg, and that transference of choice from Parliament to the people would not only insure his election but go far to give him the status of a dictator.

"The Militarists, if they obtain power, are likely to challenge the Peace Treaty on two points. One is the trial and punishment of war criminals, the other is reduction of the German armed forces to the Peace Treaty standard. The latter is absolutely the cardinal point on which the whole future of Europe hinges, but its decision can be delayed, whereas that about the war criminals cannot.

LOWER SLESVIG VOTES FOR GERMANY

GERMANS NOW ARROGANT

Threaten New St. Bartholomew's Night Unless Danes Leave Flensburg, Says Correspondent.

COPENHAGEN, March 15.—The second Slesvig zone, including the important port of Flensburg, where a plebiscite was held yesterday under the provisions of the Treaty of Versailles to determine the future nationality of the region, voted to remain German, according to the latest returns of the balloting. The figures, while unofficial, show the population overwhelmingly in favor of German nationality. With four districts still to be heard from, 48,148 votes were cast for German control and 13,025 for Denmark.

In Flensburg, according to official figures given out this morning, the voting was as follows: Voters domiciled and resident in Flensburg, 7,589 for Denmark and 19,416 for Germany; voting on the part of those entitled to vote but not domiciled in Flensburg, 1,358 for Denmark and 7,495 for Germany.

The districts of Goting, Hedehusum and Utersun show Danish majorities.

The Extrabladet's Flensburg correspondent telegraphs that early today the Flensburg Avis newspaper office was wrecked by a German mob. The correspondent says that since the result of the voting has been known the Germans have become increasingly belligerent, several Danes being threatened with shouts of: "Tomorrow all Danes must leave town—we will prepare a new St. Bartholomew's night."

A message from Tonderm, on the edge of the plebiscite area, says a German mob at Horsboel yesterday threw the local chief of the international police into the water. He has not been seen since and it is presumed he was drowned. Authorities have arrived at Horsboel to investigate the affair.

The International Commission, in control of the plebiscite, determined to run no risks of disturbances and had mounted machine guns at all strategic positions and armed squads patroled the streets.

It is charged by the Danes, however, that there was several cases in which Germans clandestinely used the names of Danish voters, who were thus prevented from registering their ballots.

The Flensburg correspondent of the Politiken telegraphs that he learns the International Commission, which, under the Peace Treaty, shall trace the new frontiers, will be ready within a fortnight and the new boundary line will then be put before the Supreme Council at Paris for final decision.

Commenting on the result of yesterday's vote the Politiken says: "In this national reverse comes the consolation that we Danes, united, tried hard to recover what we honestly thought was ours."

The Social Demokraten says: "After the plebiscite of yesterday it would be criminal folly to wish Flensburg and the greater part of the country districts of Central Slesvig back in Denmark. According to the words and spirit of the Peace Treaty the International Commission will doubtless have regard for the decision of the voters. Their incorporation into Denmark would be annexation and catastrophal to Denmark's future."

The result of the plebiscite caused the deepest disappointment to King Christian, who was intensely interested in the fate of Flensburg. There was a performance of the national play last night at the Royal Theatre in anticipation of Danish success in the second zone. After the last curtain the King, the royal family and the entire audience remained standing for a half hour singing national songs. The gathering broke up with deafening cheers for the King, who appeared deeply moved.

Danes Abandoned Third Zone.

There were originally three zones in the Slesvig or Schleswig region, in which the inhabitants were to decide their future nationality by plebiscite, covering the peninsula from the northern limit of the northern zone lying on the Danish frontier to a line running southwest from Kiel Bay to Heligoland Bay, via Kappelin, Schleswig, Friedrichstadt and Toenning. The Danish Government, however, of its own accord, requested that, on account of the obvious preponderant German population in the third zone, the vote should not be taken there.

The vote in the first zone was cast Feb. 10, and, according to the figures of the International Commission, showed 75,023 for Danish nationality and 25,087 for German.

The vote in the second zone, held March 14, showed a large German majority, with several districts still to be heard from.

In the second zone is the important city of Flensburg, which, prior to the war of 1866, was entirely Danish. In the succeeding years it was completely Germanized.

In the war of 1864 Prussia and Austria wrested the Duchies of Slesvig and Holstein from Denmark, while the Prussian victory over Austria two years later caused them to be incorporated in the dominions of Prussia, with the proviso that the people should ultimately decide their nationality by plebiscite—an agreement never kept by Prussia, and repudiated by her on the formation of the German Empire in 1871.

The important Kiel Canal runs almost parallel to the southern line of the obliterated third zone and on an average of twenty-five miles from it.

TRADERS HERE MAY LOSE.

London Thinks German Revolt Will Hit Americans Hardest.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, March 15.—American traders, it is believed in well informed quarters here, are likely to be hit harder than British by the German revolution. They are understood to have been willing to extend long credits more freely, and will consequently run much greater risk if the disturbances continue.

British exports to Germany in 1919 amounted to £18,600,000, and the rate of export has not increased materially since the beginning of this year. Most of these goods were intended for the occupied districts, or at any rate were consigned to Germans in that territory, so it is believed that British traders are pretty well covered. Though a few may have given long credits, the majority have probably made collections already, and can regard the situation with equanimity.

General conditions, however, are regarded in authoritative quarters with a good deal of apprehension. The use of a general strike as a political weapon, it is feared, may greatly aggravate Germany's economic troubles and check such efforts as she had been making to remedy them.

GIVE FRANCE TIME, MILLERAND PLEADS

HANDICAPPED BY EXCHANGE

Would Have to Pay, at Present Rate Two and a Half Times Her Debt.

PARIS, March 15.—Premier Millerand put aside the German crisis today long enough to discuss the relations between France and the United States and the conditions of international credit. He said to a representative of The Associated Press:

"France and the United States must continue the close friendship which always has been maintained between the two countries. No fleeting misunderstandings must be allowed to trouble their relations. To that end the sooner misconceptions are dissipated the better.

"Without going into the purely political questions, it appears to me an opportune time to recall to our friend, the United States, that France is not asking for charity. The greater part of the money France borrowed abroad was spent in the common interest of all the civilized countries—a fact which might form the basis of a claim for special consideration, but such is not our intention.

"We don't request cancellation of our debts. We only ask time to breathe and to recover our strength after four and a half years of exhausting war. Our propositions are those which any debtor would feel right in making in the interest of both himself and his creditor."

Hampered by Exchange Rate.

The Premier referred to the ruinous fluctuations in the rate of exchange, which he held would be aggravated rather than palliated through measures proposed to France by those not taking sufficient account of interior conditions.

"If France is obliged to meet her obligations abroad at the present rate of exchange she would be forced to pay two and a half times what she owes," continued the Premier. "Thus, after spending for the common good 30,000,000,000 francs, borrowed from her friends, she would have to pay 45,000,000,000 francs as France's premium to these same friends. Of course, that is not what they mean to require from us.

"We have given our blood; we have given our money. To ask us now to give more than double our debt is an anomaly that cannot fail to strike the most impartial judges."

After mentioning the suggestion made by the United States that France could raise the value of the franc by increasing exportations, Premier Millerand said that the question appeared to be imperfectly understood by the American people.

War's Cost to France.

"The war cost us 600,000 industrial workers, 600,000 of our buildings were destroyed, regions were entirely ruined which in 1913 gave us 94 per cent. of our wool, 90 per cent. of our linen thread, 90 per cent. of our minerals, 85 per cent. of our pig-iron, 70 per cent. of our sugar, and 53 per cent. of our coal.

"The war wasted our railroads to an unimaginable extent. Thirty per cent. of our merchant fleet was sunk and our wheat production was diminished two-thirds, involving a deficit of 2,000,000,000 francs. These catastrophal changes were a blow to the very base of the economic and financial situation of France."

The French Premier then took up the view of American financiers who have urged France to ship her gold against an unfavorable trade balance.

"If France were deprived of her gold," he said, "it would bring on a financial crisis coinciding with the period during which the effects of war would be unrepaired. It would constitute perils of another order quite as great as those we were under from 1914 to 1918.

"The reproaches of American financiers that France has been too slow in imposing taxes sufficient to balance the budget are made without due consideration of the extent to which the paying power of the country has been reduced as shown by figures I have already given.

"Besides sapping of our economic power, the German invasion reduced the treasury resources 10 per cent. Also, while the United States mobilized about 17 per cent. of her men of an age to serve, we sent to the colors 80 per cent. of all our mobilizable men for an infinitely longer period.

Yield from Taxes.

"The paralysis of business, as well as the prolonged absence of so many taxpayers, resulted in a diminution of 33 per cent. in the yield of taxes in 1915, as compared with 1913. In 1916, when it appeared no longer possible to wait for the liberation of the invaded districts in order to increase the tax revenues, new taxes were imposed and old ones increased, until during the present year the yield of those taxes in force will amount to 12,000,000,000 francs. Further taxes now under discussion in the Chamber of Deputies will increase our revenue to 20,000,000,000 francs, or four times greater than the pre-war total.

SETBACK FOR NEWBERRY.

Judge Says $3,750 Is Limit for Elections, and Will So Charge Jury.

Special to The New York Times.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., March 15.—Judge Sessions set back the Newberry defense today when he ruled:

"The Corrupt Practices act in Michigan says $3,750 is the limit for campaign expenditures, and in order that there shall not be any misunderstanding I might say that I shall charge the jury that if any one participated actively in causing the contribution or expenditures of greater sums knowingly, then the limit set in this State was exceeded."

The question came up when Nichols, for the defense, was arguing that under the State law, which is covered by the United States law on expenditures reads "contributed to him (the candidate) or caused to be contributed and expended," &c., in an effort to show that no law was violated, and that there was no intent to commit a crime.

The Federal law under which the indictment was drawn permits an expenditure up to $10,000, the maximum in any case, the Government holds, regardless of the State law.

barricades, and the soldiers and their impedimenta have been removed to the adjacent buildings on the Wilhelm Platz. Publication of newspapers at Berlin Saturday night and Sunday was prevented by the general strike, and the authorities are occupying the offices of the radical and liberal press. Tram cars have ceased operating in the streets of Berlin, and the supply of water has been reduced."

No Report from General Allen.

WASHINGTON, March 15 (Associated Press).—Lacking reports tonight from Major Gen. Henry T. Allen at Coblenz as to military aspects of the involved situation in Germany, Government advices today threw little light on the political status there, and none at all on possible allied military measures. War Department officials had hoped that General Allen would report on the conference of allied commanders on the Rhine with Marshal Foch, but no such message had come when the department closed.

There was much speculative discussion again in War and State Department circles today as to the status of General Allen's troops on the Rhine in view of the fact that the American forces alone are there under armistice conditions. Disagreement was expressed as to whether they would be under the orders of Marshal Foch as supreme commander.

Some War Department officials thought that technically, the Marshal's authority might still extend to General Allen's command. Other officials held, however, that the Treaty of Versailles had abrogated the French leader's authority, at least so far as the Americans were concerned.

In any case, Secretary Baker's view appeared to render the question purely an academic one. He said General Allen was vested with authority to preserve order in his area and that any other action contemplated involving his forces would have to await specific approval from Washington.

Action Depends on Changes.

Military action by any of the occupying forces it was pointed out, would be contingent more upon the character of the revolutionary change in Germany than upon the revolution itself. The change of Government would be of only passing interest to the commanders, unless it portended a departure from German engagements under the Treaty of Versailles and professions of the former democratic Government to the Allies.

The present political situation in Germany, it was said, was so obscure as to defy diagnosis in its true perspective until time disclosed the real purpose behind events thus far reported.

It is well understood, therefore, that for the present at least, General Allen will confine himself strictly to a maintenance of the status quo in the Coblenz sector so far as this relates to the maintenance of order. This could be done, it is thought, without interferenhe with any political changes which the German population seek to make.

Should a general strike extend to the American section, as is threatened, General Allen's situation might become more involved. Inhabitants of the sector would not, it was thought, be permitted to suffer for necessities of life and the line of communications of the American army must be kept open. While General Allen has large discretion as to measures necessary in such an emergency, it was believed that beyond warning strike leaders against any acts having this effect, he would scarcely do more than operate public utilities with troops and such civilians as he might need to replace strikers.

Officials in Washington see signs of a rekindling of the Radical-Spartacan movement as a force to oppose assumption of power by the reactionaries. A flare up of the most radical elements in Germany is becoming increasingly imminent, it is said. Union of the divergent Socialist parties has already been reported from various parts of Germany and it was thought that a general strike is only likely to open the way for further disorder and anarchy.

other country by the employment of its military or naval forces, its resources, or any form of economic discrimination, or to interfere in any way in controversies between nations, including all controversies relating to territorial integrity or political independence, whether members of the league or not, under the provisions of Article X., or to employ the military or naval forces of the United States under any article of the treaty for any purpose unless in any particular case the Congress which, under the Constitution, has the sole power to declare war or authorize the employment of the military or naval forces of the United States, shall, in the exercise of full liberty of action, by act or joint resolution so provide."

The roll call on the question of adopting this resolution as part of the resolution of ratification follows:

FOR THE RESERVATION, 56.

Ashurst,	Phelan,

Hitchcock,	Stanley,
Johnson, S. D.,	Trammell,
Jones, N. M.,	Underwood,
King,	Wolcott.
Kirby,	Walsh, Mon.,

There were a number of surprising things about the vote. One was the small number of Democrats who finally supported it. Senator Simmons claimed to have 28 votes for it, but that was before the Borah amendment was inserted on Saturday. Another was the fact that Senator Gerry of Rhode Island supported it. He has previously voted always with the Administration forces. His vote today was construed by some as an indication that he might vote for ratification with the Lodge reservations.

Analysing today's vote as a forecast of the vote on ratification, Senators reached the conclusion that the treaty could not be ratified.

If the same number of Senators who voted today should vote on ratification the result, analysts of the vote said, would be:

Against ratification—35.

They arrived at the figures by conceding that 12 of the 14 Democrats who voted today for the reservation would vote for ratification with six others, making a total of 18 Democratic votes for ratification and 28 against.

Of the 42 Republicans who voted, 13 were conceded against the treaty, leaving 29 to vote for it.

On the basis of a vote of the full Senate, the vote should be, these analysts said, as follows:

Against ratification—38.

Of those favoring ratification in the above calculation, 34 were Republicans and 24 Democrats. Of those opposing, 15 were Republicans and 23 Democrats. There was, of course, a considerable measure of uncertainty about the figures, though they were based upon careful polls. There was no way to tell beyond a doubt, Senators said, how many Democrats would now determine that, having failed to get anything less than the Lodge reservations, they should take what they could get and vote for ratification as a means of letting the President decide what to do about the treaty. One Democratic Senator said he knew thirty-two Democrats would vote for ratification. Senator Hitchcock and others said they knew this figure was exceedingly too high.

This and all other arguments concerning ratification probably will be answered Thursday. It is the present hope of leaders to vote on that day.

There was little debate today to accompany the disposition of the Article X. question. Senators all seemed eager to get it out of the way, and tonight they were discussing the agreement for the last roll call that will send the treaty away from the Senate, either rejected or ratified.

Senator Freilnghuysen's substitute for the Lodge reservation was voted on first. It would have removed all obligation from the United States, not only under Article X., but under any other article of the treaty, to use military or naval forces to protect another nation, or to interfere in controversies between other nations. It was rejected, as were the reservation which is alleged to have been discussed in the recent bi-partisan conference, the Taft reservation presented some time ago by Mr. Hitchcock as an alternative for the bi-partisan ones and other reservations offered by Senators King of Utah, Simmons, Walsh of Montana, after which the vote was reached on the Lodge substitute.

This having been adopted and the vote cast which put the substitute into the resolution of ratification, as the Lodge reservation, Senator Owen of Oklahoma, at once began discussion of his reservation relating to the British protectorate over Egypt. The Senate recessed soon after he concluded his speech.

That a technical state of war between the United States and Germany cannot be permitted to continue if the treaty is not ratified or the President pigeon holes it is generally conceded in official circles. The two Governments are not at war in any sense except that of the strictest technicality and it is regarded as out of the question to permit the continuance of the present conditions existing in their relations. Some positive action must be taken to end this abnormal situation. But only President Wilson has it in his power to say what course shall be followed to attain that end.

That the President will not assent to the pending resolution of Senator Knox of Pennsylvania, former Secretary of State, to declare that the state of war existing between the United States and Germany has come to an end, seems to be assured. It is held by the administration that under the Federal Constitution only the President has the right to make such a declaration, and that the adoption by the Senate and the House of a concurrent resolution—that is, a resolution not requiring the approval of the President—will become null and void. If the Senate and the House should adopt a joint resolution declaring the war at an end, which will require the signature of the President to become effective, the President would veto it.

In these circumstances the future relations between the United States and Germany depend entirely upon the disposition of President Wilson. There is general expectation, however, in the quarters best qualified to give an opinion, that, following the death of the Versailles Treaty, the President will declare the war with Germany at an end and begin negotiations to preserve the rights guaranteed the United States by the German Government under the convention of Versailles.

to include representatives of the money lending interests, the borrowers, builders, material men, labor representatives and representatives of the public, to go through the material presented to the meeting and make recommendations.

The first speaker, Walter Stabler, Controller of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, said that the income taxes on mortgages were driving from the market hundreds of millions of dollars which are being invested in non-taxable securities. Unless mortgages up to $40,000 were exempted from taxation, he said, no building program could be contemplated. The situation was "fraught with peril and disaster."

"While we are not at war, the Government should realize that the economic condition regarding housing is worse than war," he declared, urging that legislation be enacted exempting mortgages and investments from taxation. Unless the money now flowing out of the mortgage market comes back, there can be no building, he added.

Mr. Stabler said the uncertainty with reference to building material prices and labor would also have to be cleared up before the housing situation was on the road to solution. With these factors disposed of, all the money necessary would be available for building purposes.

Bill Introduced at Albany.

A. J. Haskin of the Lockwood Housing Committee announced that a bill exempting mortgages up to $40,000 from State taxation has been introduced in Albany and is expected to become law soon. Tenement House Commissioner Frank Mann urged that the bill be amended so that it apply only to mortgages on dwellings.

Robert E. Dowling of the City Investing Company asserted that the rent legislating bill at Albany would stop all building. The legislators, he declared, are aware that they will not help the tenants, but think that legislation will temporarily stop the outcry of the public "until after election."

Present day builders are acting with caution, he said, because they fear in a few years their buildings erected at high costs may have to compete with other buildings erected at lower prices.

Representatives of banks, trust companies and other organizations announced that if the labor and material markets could be stabilized, there would be sufficient money available for all the building operations desired.

William H. Hammond, President of the National Brick Manufacturers Association, alleged that a representative of the bricklayers admitted that his men were not doing as efficient work as formerly. Questioned concerning the stabilization of the price of brick, he said that the law forbade him to consult with his fellow brick makers concerning prices, and so he could not discuss that. However, he indicated that the price of the 150,000,000 brick now in the Hudson River brick yards will remain at $25 a thousand until that quantity is sold. He called on the bricklayers to show their "patriotism" by working for one year without complaint.

Insists Material be Torn Down.

Robert P. Brindell, President of the Building Trades Council, confirmed Mr. Roberts' remarks and stated that material would have to be torn down where non-union iron erectors had been at work, before work could again be begun. He said his organization stood ready to carry out its agreement with the Building Trades Employers which includes in its membership the Iron Erectors League. His organization, he asserted, was 100 per cent. organized so far as workers in the building trades were concerned, but it did not include the bricklayers.

Edward I. Hanna of the Central Federated Union, took up the charge of the Iron Erectors and accused the organization of attempting to "crucify" organized labor. He denied that labor was inefficient in production.

The schism between the Allied Building Trades Council on the one hand and the Bricklayers Union and the International Carpenters Union on the other hand, was shown in remarks by Henry Sipos of the carpenters, and several representatives of the bricklayers.

Sipos stated that Brindell's organization had gone so far as to demand that work done by the International Carpenters' Union be torn down before plumbers or other members of the Building Trades Council could go to work on the job. He charged that the council was an undemocratic organization, and that instead of representing the 118,000 men Brindell said he was acting for, he represented nothing but a group of walking delegates.

The bricklayers' representatives attacked Brindell's council as autocratic, and asserted that bricklayers were unable to work because the council did not permit its members to take employment where bricklayers belonging to the union were engaged. This was intended as a method of coercing the union bricklayers into the fold of the council. The bricklayers insisted that for more than thirty-five years they had had harmonious relations with the master contractors employing them, and that they always made their agreements directly with them and would not make their wage agreements through the council, as demanded by Brindell.

John Gill, a bricklayer, attacked the brick manufacturers for "hiding behind the bricklayers' material men" and charged them with profiteering. In support of his claim he read the following list of prices for building material:

	Formerly.	Now.
Cement (barrel)	$1.95	$2.90
Steel (ton)	$38	$110
Brick (1,000)	$6.50	$20
Sand (yard)	$1.50	$7.80
Lumber (1,000 ft.)	$40	$100@$77
Oak flooring (unit)	$80	$300
Under flooring	$18.20	$60

When the Mayor learned that the various labor disputes were a great factor in holding up the building program he consented to attempt to mediate between the factions.

Several building operators told the Mayor that rent legislation would not affect the building of houses.

Denies Union Limits Work.

When the Mayor sought to learn from John Gill whether his union limited the number of bricks laid by the men, Mr. Gill made an emphatic denial. He said a "young man like the Mayor" could lay 1,500 brick a day.

Gill said that bricklayers worked only 150 days a year. He justified their demand for $1.25 an hour.

Henry Atterbury Smith, architect and designer of multi-family dwellings, said: "If the city will condemn or otherwise come into possession of a whole block in some of our worst slums, we will house these same families at the same rents in modern, healthful, light and cheerful buildings, leaving perhaps a third or fifth of the plottage vacant for a playground park, provided the city will loan 50 per cent. of the total cost upon a long-term amortized mortgage at the same rate of interest which the city pays for its bonds."

Former Justice Wauhope Lynn recommended the leasing at a nominal sum of the city land at Jamaica Bay which, he said, would be filled in by the owners. This would give room for 400,000 dwellers in one year, he said.

It was suggested by a representative of the Tenants' Union that the city issue bonds for public purchase and that the money be used to defray building construction.

The Mayor announced that he would appoint the committee of eleven at an early date, and the meeting adjourned.

HEATLESS LANDLORD FINED.

Apartment House Owner Taxed $130 for Negligence.

Elias Walburg, owner of an apartment house at 1,493 Madison Avenue, paid a fine of $130 in the Court of Special Sessions yesterday after he had been found guilty of not furnishing heat to his tenants. William J. Kirschner, a Health Department inspector, told the court that Walburg bought the property in June, 1919, and had had time to put the heating plant in order.

The landlord said he found the heating plant in bad shape but was unable to have it repaired during the Summer because he could not find workmen to do the job. The court said the evidence did not show Walburg was a profiteering landlord, but that he was negligent in not furnishing proper heat.

FOREST HILLS TENANTS SUE.

Begin Test Case to Restrain Increases in Rent.

The question of whether present housing conditions give landlords the power to rent their properties for sums as "high as the traffic will bear," will be decided in a test suit begun yesterday by Harold G. Arch, realty lawyer, of 50 Pine Street, acting on behalf of twenty-three tenants in the Gardens Apartment Forest Hills, L. I.

A summons was served on Guyon L. C. Earle, agent and director of the Gardens Apartment, Inc., at his office, 2,341 Broadway. The tenants ask that an injunction be granted against the landlord restraining him from inforcing the new leases which increase the rentals up to 200 per cent. The complaint, it was said, will be filed in the Equity Part of the Supreme Court in a day or two.

Albert Rohrback, Chairman of the Tenants Committee, said that the assessed valuation of the apartment house for 1919-1920 is $360,000. The rent roll was $33,100 for 1918; $42,010 for 1919, and $106,650 for 1920, if the landlord is permitted to increase the rentals as announced.

HEARING ON HOUSING BILLS.

Passage of Measures Urged Before Jersey House Committee.

TRENTON, N. J., March 15.—The House Committee on Taxation gave a hearing this afternoon on the Housing and Anti-Rent Profiteering bills. One provides that new dwellings shall be exempt from taxation for two years, and the other for three months notice instead of one to vacate.

Commissioner James Gannon and George L. Record of Jersey City and Mayor Gillen of Newark spoke in favor of the passage of the two bills.

NEW BRITISH PARTY TO BE 'DEMOCRATIC'

Lloyd George and Bonar Law to Issue Manifesto Stating Principles.

LONDON, March 15.—A joint manifesto, which will be signed by Premier Lloyd George and Andrew Bonar Law, will be issued in a few days stating the principles of a new party to be led by the Premier, says The Daily Mail. It will be accompanied, the newspaper asserts, by an important reconstruction of the Ministry, and it is said that for this reason announcement of appointments to the portfolios of Labor, Food and the Board of Trade, now vacant, has been postponed.

According to present intentions, the name of the new party will be the "National Democratic." In addition to a meeting of Liberals next Thursday, arrangements are being made for a conference of Unionists, at which Mr. Bonar Law will announce his resignation from the leadership of that party, and will invite members to join the new organization.

Unionist leaders who have been adherents of Premier Lloyd George are said to have decided to support him, but there are indications that the party will not be united in its adherence to the new combination. A revolt, under the leadership of the Marquis of Salisbury and Lord Robert Cecil, is expected, says The Daily Mail.

ROCKEFELLER BACKS INTERCHURCH PLAN

The Interchurch World Movement of North America will become the greatest force for righteousness in the world, in the opinion of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., who gave that organization his unqualified indorsement yesterday afternoon in a speech to 1,200 Protestant clergymen representing thirty denominations at the first of a two days' conference of preachers of this city and vicinity in the Madison Avenue Baptist Church, at Thirty-first Street.

Every seat was taken in the big auditorium at 4:30 o'clock when Mr. Rockefeller came in a side door, was presented to the audience in not more than a dozen words and launched right into his indorsement of the movement which will seek, starting the last week in April, to raise within five years $336,777,572, to be used in advancing united Protestantism.

"It seems to me that there are but two possibilities for us to consider," said Mr. Rockefeller. "If jealousy, suspicion, pettiness and misunderstanding are allowed to creep in, there is a possibility that the movement may be disrupted and brought to an end.

"I fancy we can count on the fact that the devil will use all the ingenuity of which he is capable to attack this great movement in just that way—from within—for he will well know that in no other possible way can he offset or withstand the great power and force of which it is capable."

Explains His Indorsement.

Mr. Rockefeller spoke for half an hour. He gave his reasons for indorsing the movement, criticised by some preachers already, and said the big meeting in Madison Square Garden two years ago, when the United War Work campaign was launched, was prophetic of the Interchurch Movement.

"This co-operative principle, making for efficiency, which has proved its value in time of war, is equally necessary in times of peace if the Christian people of the land would stand effectively against the foes of righteousness and overthrow the cohorts of evil," said Mr. Rockefeller.

"Those who are in the movement have entered into it on terms which they themselves had a voice in naming, and there is no disposition on the part of any inside or outside force to seek to alter those terms, nor will they be altered unless in the light of experience and the work which they are entering upon together the constituent members shall decide that other conditions and terms are more to the advantage of the common work which they are banded together to promote.

"While different groups have in the past made important studies of various fields at home and abroad, never in the history of the world has there been undertaken so complete, so comprehensive, so scientific, so valuable a survey of the needs of the world and of the resources of the Christian Church as that which this great movement has in hand.

Emphasizes Value of Survey.

"For too long a time has the Church felt that the rule of thumb was sufficiently accurate as a guide and measure in its work. This great survey is prophetic of a new era in Christian work. It is just such a survey as the conservative business man makes of any field which he is proposing to enter. And I do not feel that I overstate when I say that in my judgment the survey alone will be worth to the churches all and much more than it will have cost them in time and effort and resources.

"There can be no question but that increased efficiency will result from this movement. * * * The suggestions which will naturally result from the surveys will greatly increase efficiency; and not only efficiency in the fields now occupied, but efficiency in cultivating the vast fields still unoccupied. Efficiency, also, in the financial department, for the best methods of accounting, of securing funds, of stirring the interest of the people in contributing will all naturally result from the movement.

"After efficiency will, of course, follow economy—economy in administration, economy in operation, economy in surveys, economy in financing, economy in raising funds.

Attract Unattached Christians.

"As a fourth advantage, may I mention the securing of the interested support of unattached Christians? You and I know that there are many Christian men and women who for one reason or another, perhaps because of the limitations imposed by various of our religious communions, perhaps because of disaffection or for some other reason, have preferred not to associate themselves as members with any Christian church; men and women, on the other hand, deeply interested in Christian work and eager and waiting for an opportunity like this to participate in a great, broad, promising Christian movement. I believe that in addition to getting the material assistance of such people many of them will thus be drawn into affiliation with the various churches.

"As a fifth advantage accruing from this movement, may I call your attention to the great power which it will have—power, first of all, in men and women. * * * Think for a moment of the power of 15,000,000 men and women moved by a single high and holy purpose.

"I say not only power in numbers, but power in material means, for there surely will result from this co-operative movement a far larger degree of generosity on the part of Christian people generally in supplying the funds necessary to carry on the work here planned.

"As this movement develops in all its scope and power, I can see great leaders coming again into the work of the church exerting their influence and using their gifts in the pulpit, because convinced that there they can render the greatest service to their fellow men. Yes, power also in spiritual things, for when a vast multitude of people come together earnestly and prayerfully, there must be developed an outpouring of spiritual power such as this land has never before known."

RESENTS WILSON CHARGE.

S. H. Church Wires Sympathy of "Millions" to French Envoy.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 15. — Samuel Harden Church, President of the Carnegie Institute of Pittsburgh, has sent this telegram to Ambassador Jusserand:

"I beg to assure you that millions of my countrymen indignantly resent the astounding and unjustified accusation of President Wilson that France is controlled by a militaristic policy. The chagrin of a lost leadership makes Mr. Wilson forgetful of the multiplied afflictions which have impelled France to adopt an imperative policy of self-protection, and any voice that condemns that policy cannot possibly change the sentiments of confidence, affection and admiration which the American people cherish for France and her people."

One of them struck Abraham on the head with the butt of his pistol when Abraham pleaded that the men take the valuables but spare their victims' lives.

Failing to open a locked drawer in the safe, the robbers cut the telephone wires, tied their victims' legs and escaped.

BIG CLAIMS FOR FRENCH GUN

Said to Throw Projectile 180 Miles and to Revolutionize Gunnery.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, March 15.—The French Government has just bought invention rights in a gun which it is claimed will shoot three times as far as the "Big Bertha" which the Germans used to bombard Paris. As the "Bertha" shells were thrown more than sixty miles, it would mean that the new guns will throw shells about 180 miles.

The gun and shell are the invention of a French mining engineer, Delamare Maze, who served as a Lieutenant in the French Army. After he had satisfied himself as to the worth of the invention he laid his plans before the French War Ministry toward the end of last year. The French Government had a trial battery constructed and carried out tests which have proved so satisfactory that they immediately bought the patent.

It is said that existing guns can be adapted with the new invention at a small cost, and even that rifles and machine guns may be filed in such a way as to double or treble the length of the flight of the bullet. The speed of the projectile fired is increased 50 per cent. and the shells which in ordinary pattern guns have a speed of 800 metres per second have with the new invention a speed of 1,200 metres.

The inventor has been given the liberty to sell his patent to Belgium and England, and it is stated that experiments are being made in these countries.

DETECTIVE INDICTED ON GRAFT CHARGE

F. B. Franklin Lodged in Tombs to Answer to Bribery and Extortion.

SLEUTH HELD IN ASSAULT

Grand Jury Makes Second Degree Presentment in Harlem Restaurant Case.

On charges of bribery and extortion the Grand Jury yesterday indicted Detective Frederick B. Franklin of Inspector Underhill's staff. The indictment was based on evidence presented by Assistant District Attorney James E. Smith, in charge of Mr. Swann's vice inquiry.

Mr. Smith declined to discuss the nature of the evidence against Franklin. It was said the indictment was based on the testimony of three women from whom it was alleged Franklin extorted $40 a month for the protection of a disorderly house in East 112th Street.

Judge Malone, in General Sessions, issued a bench warrant for the arrest of Franklin and Police Commissioner Enright was notified. Franklin was arrested last night by Detective John Cunniff and taken to the Tombs. He will be arraigned in General Sessions today. He declared he was innocent.

Detective Thomas Dolan was indicted on a charge of assault in the second degree growing out of an attack the defendant, it is alleged, made on patrons of the Unique Restaurant, 111 Lenox Avenue, early on March 7. Dolan was arrested at the time, but was later discharged by Magistrate Schwab in the Washington Heights Court when witnesses of the assault failed to identify him.

An investigation was begun by Assistant District Attorney Smith at the direction of District Attorney Swann to determine whether pressure had been brought to bear by the police in the case. The witnesses who testified before the Grand Jury included John Daligoff, a chauffeur, and Michael Ornstein, proprietor of the restaurant, both of whom declared they had seen the assault by the defendant.

Dolan, with Jonah Goldstein, his counsel, went before Judge Malone in General Sessions in the afternoon, and was released in $1,000 bail.

Inspector Bolan of the Third Inspection District appeared in the Tombs Court in response to a summons obtained by Gus Haskell of the Mutual Democratic Club, 26 West Thirty-second Street, and Herman Alterman of the Independence League of the Twenty-seventh District Club, 22 West Thirty-first Street, who charged him with oppression in placing uniformed policemen in front of the clubhouses. After Inspector Bolan and the two club members had conferred in Magistrate Levine's chambers the Inspector announced that an agreement had been reached to remove the patrolmen.

STAY FLOOD WITH DYNAMITE

Special to The New York Times.

PATERSON, N. J., March 15.—Immediate danger of a flood from the Passaic and Pompton rivers was averted this afternoon when Garwood Ferguson, Passaic County engineer, demolished with dynamite an ice jam in the Passaic at Singac, near the Newark-Pompton turnpike and the Greenwood Lake railroad bridges. A considerable amount of water was released, but it was said not to be sufficient to cause alarm as to danger of a flood in Paterson.

Isaac Woolenberg, County Road and Bridge Supervisor, feared that if the ice jam were not removed it would grow to such proportions that it would hold back a great amount of water and cause a serious menace.

The bungalow colony at Mountainview and Singac, six miles above this city, is inundated and fifty families have fled from their homes. The water in many places reaches the floors of the houses. Most of the houses, used by a Summer colony, are not occupied in the Winter. The water extinguished the fires in the Mountainview district school and the scholars were dismissed.

GETS SPEEDWAY HOSPITAL.

Secretary Houston Signs Contract to Take Over Chicago Institution.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, March 15.—After months of controversy, the Speedway Hospital, the largest of its kind in the world, has finally become the property of the Government, the contract taking it over from Edward Hines having been signed in Washington Saturday by Secretary of the Treasury Houston.

The first payment on the contract, amounting to $1,400,000, will be issued by the Treasury Department in the next few days. The total appropriation for the project by Congress is $3,500,000. Mr. Hines estimates that the entire hospital project represents an expenditure of at least $5,000,000. As he projected the hospital originally as a memorial to his son, who lost his life early in the war, he will assume the rest of the cost of completing the structure over the appropriation by Congress.

The Government will change the name of the institution to Broadview Hospital, and in it will carry on its rehabilitation work and experiments for its soldiers who were crippled or disabled or whose health is impaired.

The building is 2,040 feet long, five stories high, and is fireproof throughout. The main building will have accommodations for 2,500 patients, and four more buildings are to be constructed as a part of the plan.

DENIES BIAS IN ZOO ATTACK.

Hirshfield Says There Is No Politics in His Report.

Commissioner of Accounts Hirshfield denied yesterday that his attack on the management of the Bronx Zoo was part of a plan to put an end to the control of the New York Zoological Society over the institution and convert the offices there into political spoils.

Commissioner Hirshfield returned to the attack on Dr. W. T. Hornaday, Director of the Zoological Garden, who had charged that politicians in the City Administration were determined to abrogate the agreement between the city and the society, which was intended to insure an expert, non-political administration of the zoo, and to place the salaries and the control of expenditures in the hands of favorites of the Hylan Administration.

"There is no politics in my investigation," he said, "and there is no politics in my report. I am actuated by one motive, and that is, to tell the people the true conditions of the activities there and the manner in which their money is expended."

Dr. Hornaday said yesterday that he had been unable to obtain a copy of Commissioner Hirshfield's report, and that he would have nothing further to say until he had read it.

Allegations that the estate of Robert J. Collier, head of P. F. Collier & Son, was insolvent and did not have a net value of $202,194, were made in the Surrogates' Court yesterday by George G. Kennedy and Frank H. Rice, business associates of Mr. Collier, who inherited $150,000 and $50,000 respectively, and by Mrs. Sarah Stewart Collier, the widow, who got the residue of $2,194, in objecting to a tax of $12,753 on the net estate.

The transfer tax appraiser listed among the assets of the estate bonds of P. F. Collier & Son appraised at $1,509,296, but the beneficiaries contend that the sum named represents an obligation of the decedent to P. F. Collier & Son instead of an asset. For this reason they say:

"The said estate was at the time of the death of said decedent insolvent, and consequently there did not pass to the petitioners any of the property of the value stated by the appraiser, or any fraction thereof."

Surrogate Foley will hear today an application to have the appraiser make a new report in accordance with the facts.

P.P.C. Printing Facts

Coated paper is not always the best paper for catalog printing. No paper will take a half-tone as well as coated, but it has two serious defects. The coating is composed of clay and glue and is easily damaged by water. Moreover, it is at best very fragile and soon succumbs to frequent handling. Therefore when the catalog is expected to have a long life it is often better to sacrifice to some extent the half-tones and to print on a strong uncoated paper. But it must be remembered that when this is done, special half-tones should be made. They should not be finer than one hundred and thirty-three screen, they should be etched especially deep, and they should never be vignetted, nor should they be made with a raw edge.

POLICE AND AGENTS FIND 2 HUGE STILLS

TAKE BARRELS OF LIQUOR

Each Plant Well Equipped and Supplied—Home Maker Arrested, Other Escapes.

Federal Revenue agents and policemen in Mount Vernon, N. Y., and in Sheepshead Bay yesterday discovered and demolished two elaborate and complete distilling plants, both of which were found in full operation, and each of which was described as one of the largest moonshine plants uncovered in New York in many years. In each place, in addition to expensive apparatus of the most modern and efficient type, the raiders discovered many barrels of whisky and other barrels of mash in various degrees of fermentation, as well as yeast, molasses and all the paraphernalia and ingredients for making illicit whisky in wholesale quantities.

Gerard Von Ingen, a baker, 34 years old, in whose home the Mount Vernon still was uncovered, was arrested. The revenue men said he admitted having brought the whole apparatus from Holland. Joseph Gallo, said to be the proprietor of the Sheepshead Bay place, escaped, if he was inside when the raiders demolished the doors, but a watch was kept about his home last night and a police alarm for him was sent throughout the city.

So carefully had the plant in Sheepshead Bay been contrived that William Tobin, a letter carrier, who lived with his family in a detached building in the rear of the Speedway Hotel in the basement of which it was discovered, never even suspected the place was occupied.

The hotel property which is just across from the Sheepshead Bay speedway entrance was remodeled a few months ago and Tobin supposed it to have been unoccupied ever since, particularly as the uncurtained windows afforded a full view of the large front room on the first floor.

About noon yesterday Tobin saw smoke curling out under the basement windows. He thought he heard some one inside and pounced on the doors, but no response came. He ran to the nearest alarm box and a few moments later firemen under Battalion Chief Rogers had battered in the doors and stumbled upon the carefully hidden plant. Within were fifty barrels, eighteen filled with mash, eight with molasses, some with completed distillate and some with water. Nearby were three huge copper stills, their coils still hot from the process that had been under way. In a corner stood a shotgun, loaded.

A squad of Brooklyn revenue men hurried thither when the Sheepshead Bay police flashed word of their find. They discovered that the operator of the still had tapped a gas pipe and the electric wires behind the meters so that gas for running the stills and light for carrying on the work could be stolen without any one knowing the place was occupied.

The basement and a room behind that on the first floor which was so carelessly exposed to view were heavily barricaded and a number of cunningly contrived exits gave a half dozen means of egress from either part of the building. One of them connected by a tunnel with an adjacent garage large enough to stable a big motor truck. This suggested that the illicit liquor had been carried underground to the garage and thence had been trucked by night to some place of disposal.

The fire had been extinguished before the revenue men arrived, and not all the apparatus or its product had been consumed. When the agents got through, however, there was absolutely nothing about the place that was fit for human consumption or ever would be.

The Mount Vernon still was found at 36 North Eighth Avenue in the residential section, where its presence had not been suspected until the police were told a large number of men were seen going in and out. The raiders were acting Chief of Police George G. Atwell, Lieutenant Detective Michael L. Silverstein and Sergeant Curtis of the Mount Vernon force, and U. S. Revenue Agents Edwin Waters, Robert Campbell, Timothy Daly and Daniel Mangin.

The still was complete in every detail. It was made of copper with large coils and copper containers. It took a big truck to carry all the paraphernalia and whisky that was stored in the cellar to the station house.

The officers confiscated a 50-gallon hogshead of whisky, a number of demijohns and bottles filled with moonshine, five barrels of mash which was fermenting, a wine press, a 25-gallon barrel of wines, a gun, several barrels of alcohol and other ingredients.

When Lieutenant Silverstein rapped on the front door he told Mrs. Voningen that he was looking for an escaped prisoner. As he entered the other detectives rushed in. Voningen was not at home, but he was arrested later at a bakery in West Mount Vernon, where he is employed. Lieutenant Silverstein said that he learned that Voningen received $15 a gallon for the whisky.

PALMER CONDEMNS TRIAL OF SOCIALISTS

Reproves New York Assembly in Detroit Speech, Saying the Party Is Loyal.

DETROIT, March 15.—Attorney General Palmer opened his campaign for the support of the Michigan delegates with a brief speech here late today, while on the way to Battle Creek. He plans to speak at Lansing tomorrow night.

He defended his course in dealing with radicalism, and reproved the move in the New York Legislature against the Socialist Assemblymen.

"The Socialist Party in America," he said, "has cast out the radicals and forced them to organize the Communist and Communist Labor Parties. The Socialists are loyal and patriotic men, though radical. Their aim is to change the Government by lawful means, while the 'Reds' would destroy lawful authority."

HIGH COURT GRANTS DRY TEST TO JERSEY

Permits State to Bring Original Proceedings Against Prohibition Amendment.

OTHER CASES UP MARCH 29

All Phases of Question to be Heard Before Decision on Validity is Rendered.

WASHINGTON, March 15.—All phases of the prohibition question will be heard by the Supreme Court before handing down its decision upon the validity of the prohibition amendment and the Volstead enforcement act.

Having heard arguments in the Rhode Island, Kentucky and Massachusetts cases, the court granted today the State of New Jersey permission to institute original proceedings to test the amendment. It also fixed March 29 for hearing arguments in the New Jersey proceedings on appeals by Christian Feigenspan, a Newark (N. J.) brewer, and on Government appeals in injunction proceedings against the Manitowoc Products Company, a Wisconsin concern.

The two appeal cases apply principally to the validity of the prohibition amendment, in so far as it relates to the manufacture of beer alleged to be nonintoxicating. The Government won the former case, but lost the latter, in the lower courts.

The Supreme Court also took under advisement motions asking that arguments be heard on appeals involving interpretations of the amendment and the Volstead act, docketed today from New York and San Francisco. The former appeal resulted from the denial of injunctions to prevent Federal agents from seizing intoxicating liquors designed for private consumption, but held in storage.

In view of the multiplicity of requests for hearings, the court postponed a two-week recess planned to begin on March 29.

Solicitor General King announced tonight that in the New Jersey suit he would file the same motion as presented in the Rhode Island case. This motion contended that the questions at issue were not justicable, and that the court lacked jurisdiction to hear the suit.

Passengers between the two points mentioned were diverted over the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western and the New Jersey Central Railroads.

The Hudson and Manhattan tunnel service was normal and there was no interference with passenger trains from Manhattan Transfer.

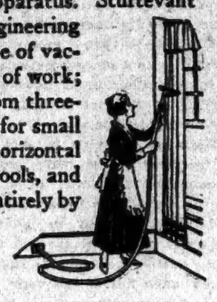
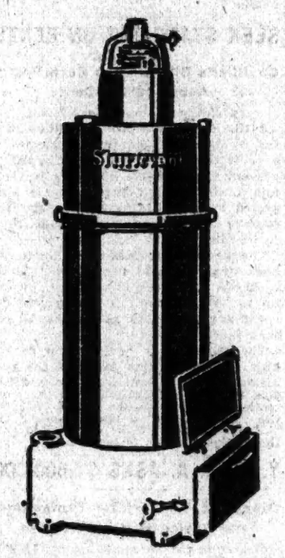
PUTS AIR TO WORK

This residence of Mr. George H. Cahoone at Providence, R. I., is equipped with a Sturtevant Vertical Stationary Vacuum Cleaner, size A.

A Vacuum Cleaner Can Do Only the Work it is Built For

The development of Sturtevant Vacuum Cleaners was not an accident. It was in keeping with Sturtevant's sixty years' manufacture of air apparatus. Sturtevant puts vacuum cleaning on the engineering basis of work to be done. One type of vacuum cleaner cannot do every kind of work; so Sturtevant machines range from three-wheeled portable vacuum cleaners for small homes to powerful stationary horizontal cleaners for public buildings, schools, and theatres. Every machine cleans entirely by air and is just as sturdy as the giant Sturtevant Fans and Blowers, the strongest in the world.





Stationary Vacuum Cleaners

A Sturtevant Stationary Vacuum System can be quickly installed in buildings already completed or in course of construction. A Sturtevant installation increases the value of your property.

The vertical cleaner, shown on the left, is a size "A," which is ideal for houses of ten to twenty rooms, using twenty-five feet of hose and one sweeper at a time. This model of cleaner is also made in sizes "B" and "B-2," which are intended for small hotels, clubhouses, churches, large private houses, etc.

Every Sturtevant installation more than fulfils the purposes it is intended for.

A Sturtevant engineer plans and oversees every job. He never recommends anything but what is suitable.

To find out more about this vacuum cleaner, telephone or write to the district office listed below or ask your own architect. A Sturtevant representative will gladly tell you all about this method of putting air to work.

EBERT GIVES UP.

The German counter-revolution appears to have swallowed its predecessor without a struggle. The Kapp Government, if we are to believe the latest news from Berlin, has reached an amicable arrangement with President EBERT and his administration. There are soon to be elections for a new Reichstag and a new President; in the meantime, a Cabinet of specialists and reform of the Legislature. Thus far there is nothing to disprove the assertions of Dr. KAPP that his movement is not reactionary and not really revolutionary—nothing but the personalities of the men who head that movement and the character of the troops which carried it to success. One can hardly suppose that the remnants of the army which started out last Summer on the great filibuster in the Baltic are interested in a mere increase of efficiency in the republican régime.

But it is not certain as yet that the German revolution is dead. South Germany seems to be holding out against the counter-revolution. How strong the forces against it may be in Prussia we have yet to learn; and it is still to be seen if any great number of Germans care enough about self-government and freedom from the old ruling class to fight for it.

How much fighting would have to be done is a question; there are several hundred thousand men in arms in Germany in the various military and semi-military organizations still surviving, and if NOSKE'S Reichswehr so readily made way for the reactionary forces marching on the Government offices it can hardly be expected that any military organization will be ready to fight for the republic. The fact is, of course, that even NOSKE'S army was never NOSKE'S army to any great extent; its best troops were raised and commanded by Junkers of the type now ruling in Berlin, and owed allegiance to these officers and the old imperial ideals first of all. They saved the republican government in January of 1919 because they loved Spartacus less than EBERT. But there are millions of veterans in Germany outside of these organizations. Some of the military bodies have very few veterans in them; liberal German papers have been complaining for months past that the new army was being recruited among peasant boys from East Prussia who had never seen service but who would take orders from Junker officers. The best troops, presumably, are the remains of the old Baltic army; and yet that army, when it was much stronger than it is now, was soundly and decisively defeated by the Letts before Riga. If there are very many Germans who care enough about the republic to fight for it, the question of their success will turn largely on their access to sufficient war materials, and on their leadership. There may be German republicans who will not give in to reaction as readily as the leaders of the Government.

TAX BLUNDERS, AND WORSE.

The punitive taxes laid by Congress, which are so punitive that they are not productive, have never had such approval as the proposals for repeal from the most authoritative sources. The Chamber of Commerce has formally approved a stamp tax on purchases of over $1 and it estimates that the yield would be $600,000,000. If the rate were made 5 per cent. it was thought that the proceeds would suffice "to replace the entire product of "the taxes on estates and incomes, "including both corporate and individual incomes, and the so-called "excess profits taxes." Moreover, there would be a benefit to the taxpayers as well as to the tax collectors in that

The pyramiding of costs which results from the excess profits tax would then disappear. The planter, the grower, the producer, the factor, the manufacturer, the jobber, the wholesaler and the retailer would have no excuse to add to the cost of the product at each stage in its progress toward the market the indefinite sum for excess profits tax, and the consumer would pay a moderate price in comparison to what he pays now.

This action of the Chamber last week followed only by a day or two a similar statement of tax truths before the Chicago Chamber of Commerce by the President of the American Bankers' Association. As Mr. HAWES says, "taxes that are passed "from one to another with a profit "at each stage, or taxes repressive "or confiscatory, are a detriment to "our economic life." The excess profits tax is, as he says, in effect a consumption and commodity tax and obnoxious both to those who pay it in the first place and to those ultimate consumers who pay it with cumulations at each stage of production or distribution. As a war tax the excess profits tax has outlived its original purpose, even of punishment of war profiteers, and is now a drawback to peace profits and the reduction of the cost of living. Men will less willingly mine ore or cut lumber if they must give half of the gains of their capital and labor to the Government.

Expansion and production, which are the best hope of redressing the excess of demand by increasing supply, are checked by the penalization of credit in not allowing the taxpayers a deduction for employment of borrowed capital. The inflation of prices by the necessity of finding funds for tax payments is an excuse for demanding increases of wages, which bring no increase of satisfactions when paid and spent, and thus increase unrest. How many testimonials like these are necessary to arouse Congress to a sense of its responsibility for the necessity of passing penal and repressive criminal statutes as the sequel to punitive and unproductive taxes?

A QUESTION TO BE SETTLED RIGHT.

It is said to be the "general feeling" among the former service men in Georgia that "the Government should do something for them." When the civil war was over and Union veterans of the four years' struggle returned to the plow, the factory and the shop, they did not ask for a cash payment of $50 for every month they had served. Yet the civil war cost the country in pensions $4,917,245,500 between 1865 and 1918. In 1918, fifty-three years after the return of peace, there were 340,313 disabled veterans and invalids on the pension list and 306,582 widows and dependents, a total of 646,895 pensioners. When the United States entered the war on the side of the Allies in April, 1917, it was hoped to avoid pension disbursements of billions, and at the same time do justice to American soldiers and sailors called into the service, by providing insurance at low rates and on easy terms. It was foreseen that the cost of the war would strain the resources of the country to the point of danger, that after the war taxation would be a heavy burden for the people to carry, and that economic conditions would not permit of a return to normal prices for an indefinite period.

But most of the service men, those who fought in France and those who did not leave the country, soon tired of the insurance plan, liberal as it was and so much to their advantage if they would practice thrift to pay their premiums. Then began the agitation for a money bonus to all who had served during the war, that is to say, to more than 4,000,000 soldiers and sailors who had served in any capacity, had gone overseas or had not left the country, had been in battle or had not been under fire, had suffered hardships or gone through no ordeal at all, had been disabled by wounds or were whole and able-bodied. No distinction was to be made between those who did not need financial aid and the necessitous, between those who had remunerative work to do and those who could not find places for themselves and were "down on their luck." All were to draw $50 a month from the Treasury for each month they had worn the uniform, no matter what amount was added to the burden of taxation. It would certainly be $2,000,000,000, and might be $4,000,000,000. Congress could arrange the details with the advice of the Treasury Department. Many veterans said that they had earned the bonus, and that a grateful country should pay it. What thoughtful men are thinking about today is the pension list that would be sure to follow the bonus disbursements; and, remembering that the civil war cost the American people nearly $5,000,000,000 in pensions, they are wondering what the great war will cost the American people during the next fifty years.

Inquiries in all parts of the country to sound the sentiment of the former service men show that, with exceptions in some localities, they agree with their comrades in Georgia that "the "Government should do something for "them." Here and there, in the North as well as in the South and West, the cash bonus does not meet with favor, approval of it being confined to a minority. Few American Legion posts have gone on record, and of those that have spoken some are opposed to the plan. In Virginia a rehabilitation for disabled veterans is preferred, whatever it may cost. In several of the States the question of a bonus is still an open one, and not much stress is laid upon a cash expression of the gratitude of the American people.

It will never be possible for the American people to prove a gratitude which is in the heart by paying money into the Treasury to be divided among their saviors. It is clear that the American Legion is not committed to the bonus plan, and among service men everywhere there is a thoughtful minority opposed. It is one of the unsettled questions before the people, and it should be settled right; that is to say, wisdom, honesty, moral courage should be brought to the consideration of a matter so momentous in its effects and consequences. Political expediency, the desire to win votes, should not be brought into play at all.

STRIVING FOR SPOILS.

It is an old game which Commissioner of Accounts HIRSHFIELD is playing. In a report to the Mayor he calls Dr. HORNADAY, the highly competent Director of the Bronx Zoological Garden, an "autocrat," "a monarch in his own principality," and other endearing names; and cries for an investigation so that the city may take the Bronx Zoo out of the hands of the New York Zoological Society. Dr. HORNADAY is more than able to take care of himself. It would be absurd to defend him. Tammany hungers and thirsts for control of the Zoo, which it wants to turn into a preserve of politicians.

Like the Metropolitan Museum of Art and the American Natural History Museum, the Zoological Park has been honestly and admirably managed because it is managed by public-spirited citizens. The city contributes funds to it, usually inadequate funds, so that the members of the society subscribe to make up the debt. By inheritance and gifts for general and special purposes the society possesses an income, all too small, but growing. The park has become one of the wonders of New York and of the world. Some two million people visit it every year. It is a great and an increasing source of education and of intelligent pleasure to the public. Its collections and exhibits are really a marvel. Nobody but the politicians objects to its management, which is, in fact, a model.

The New York Zoological Society was incorporated in 1895 with "power "to establish, maintain and control "zoological parks, gardens, or other "collections for the promotion of "zoology and kindred subjects, and "for the instruction and recreation of "the people." It has the right to manage its own business. Lands were allotted to it under that act, and the act of 1917 amending it. The Mayor and the President of the Department of Parks are ex officio members of the Board of Managers. It was the distinct and understood object of its founders and its foundation to keep the park out of politics, to insure that it should be conducted by experts. Tammany itches for "patronage" in the park. Tammany hopes to make "the Tiger" the chief exhibit.

The Zoo is one of the most famous and most beloved of New York institutions. Public opinion will not tolerate any diminution of its beneficent and fruitful work by political grabbers. Moreover, Tammany can never lay its accomplished prehensile paws upon it without the consent of the Legislature; and that consent is unthinkable.

THE TAX PAYMENTS.

When the time for paying Federal and State taxes expired yesterday there were hundreds of millions in custody of the tax collectors, who were unable to deposit it, for the banks were closed. The confusion and inconvenience caused so generally are about equally due to faults of taxlayers and taxpayers, the tax collectors being efficient and considerate. New York State is more blameworthy than the United States, because it demands the entire tax in one payment and provides no alternative. The Federal Government allows four payments and issues tax certificates for those who wish to provide themselves with accumulated funds bearing a better rate of interest than is allowed on bank deposits. Thus the cash is never out of the money market, and the burden is distributed over a long time.

The State might well imitate the nation in that respect, and in doing so not repeat the error made when the method of paying city taxes was arranged for the City of New York. Some of the boroughs had a custom of paying taxes in advance, instead of after the end of the financial year. It made no difference to the taxpayers, for the sum was the same in either case. But it made a difference to the city, for the payment at the year-end made it necessary to borrow in anticipation of taxes, thus running up a large bill of interest, which was added to the cost of Government. But instead of adopting the pay-in-advance method the consolidated city adopted payment at the year-end and made a present of one year's taxes to the boroughs which had been accustomed to pay in advance and might easily have continued that custom. The city afterward adopted the method of instalment payments of real estate taxes in order to avoid that interest bill and to convenience the taxpayers.

Federal Tax Collector EDWARDS bears welcome testimony to the cheerfulness with which the irritating Federal taxes are paid. The more moderate payments include those of many women and wage earners who are reported to regard income tax payment as a badge of honorable distinction by membership in the capitalist class. It is indeed in singular contrast with the agitators' description of the desperate economic condition of American workers that women and laborers pay taxes on incomes larger than are received anywhere else in the world, and larger than they ever imagined that they would be able to spend. Indeed, the liberality of payments to the working classes is now seen to be in some ways detrimental to wage earners themselves. It was for the sake of exempting these foundation classes of citizenship that taxes on wealth were made punitive, only to prove that at the other end of the scale our tax methods are also harmful in economic effect. The ability of one class was overrated, and of the other underrated, but both classes are alike in cheerful endurance of an impost unnecessarily burdensome to both. The country would benefit by greater freedom in production and distribution if the taxes on those processes were less restrictive.

THE MISSING SISTER.

West Virginia was the thirty-fourth State to ratify the Suffrage Amendment. Washington is expected to be the thirty-fifth. Surely, Washington, a suffrage State, can be counted on. The Delaware Legislature meets a week from yesterday. Miss MARY GARRETT HAY feels certain that Delaware will ratify. On the other hand, the leaders of the National Woman's Party seem to think that at present the odds are against ratification by Delaware. The Legislature is severely Republican. The suffragists and the anti-suffragists are making life interesting for the devoted members of that body. It is difficult to believe that they will make a desperate or successful resistance to the appeals of some of the most suasive of advocates, assisted as they are by Republican managers eager to make a party record satisfactory to the suffragists.

Still, according to Miss ALICE PAUL, Chairman of the National Woman's Party, "failure of Delaware would "make necessary a special session in "Vermont or Connecticut." Miss HAY, too, says that "Connecticut "and Vermont will join us without "much doubt." With respect, there is much doubt, unless two hard-headed Yankee Governors, MARCUS H. HOLCOMB of Connecticut and PERCIVAL W. CLEMENT of Vermont, show a ductility and malleability which nobody has discovered in them yet. To be sure, the suffrage ladies will need to soften only one of these men of rock. If Delaware is unequal to her opportunity, which, if either, of these basaltic Down Easters can be coaxed into the melting mood?

RESEARCH AND FREE SEEDS.

The Department of Agriculture is fighting for the life of its bureaus of research. The quiet labor of a band of scientists whose minds are filled with visions of an indefinite future does not impress Congressmen who are facing an immediate political contest and are bent upon making a show of economy. Yet the recent achievements of the research bureaus compare very favorably with the record of this or of any other Congress.

Some years ago a researcher conceived the idea of growing cotton with a longer fibre. To the legislative mind it would not have seemed a glorious achievement. But plants were imported from Egypt and by a process of breeding and selection were so improved that no Egyptian would recognize them. American long-staple cotton adds to the life of every garment, every automobile tire, in which it is used. The cost of the work was some few thousands of dollars. Already the crop is valued at $20,000,000. Then there is durum wheat. The hope of developing a variety of wheat that will grow on semi-arid soils would have seemed to the lay mind illusory. The undertaking cost perhaps a quarter of a million dollars, but today durum wheat grows in broad regions that would have been of little use without it and yearly adds fifty to seventy-five millions to the national wealth.

The story of the fig is a romance of science. When transplanted in our soil, the Smyrna fig grew and blossomed but bore no fruit. Investigation showed that in its native land it was fertilized by a certain wasp which is unknown here. The wasp was imported and thrived. But still no fruit came. Then it was found that to do its work of fertilization the wasp required also the Capri fig. Today a new industry is being born and in a few years we shall grow whatever figs we eat. These are a few of a long list of triumphs, each one of which has brought an increase of wealth that is literally inestimable. The stamping out of yellow fever, which made life possible in the tropics and gave us the Panama Canal, was the ultimate result of researches made in the Bureau of Agriculture.

The salaries of the men who thus benefit the nation average something less than the pay of a railway trainman. Like officers in the army and navy and teachers everywhere, they are finding it impossible to live and are being driven in large numbers into the commercial world, where they receive double and treble their former pay. The present prospect at Washington is that the department, instead of an increase of $2,033,000, which is necessary to continue indispensable labors, will have to get along with less than last year's expenses of $1,600,000. To prevent this, Secretary MEREDITH has taken the stump and is appealing to the country. There is no politics in this campaign. Out of 21,000 jobs all but those of the four chiefs are under the civil service. All he asks is that a group of distinguished scientists, whose sole aim is to devote their great powers to the service of the nation, may be permitted to do their work.

Meantime there is that old scandal of free seeds. The yearly cost is approximately a quarter of a million. In the Senate, the Department of Agriculture succeeded in having the item cut out. But the bill is going into conference—and Congressmen stand much nearer the voter. While items for research work are lopped off right and left, a disposition is becoming manifest to restore the free-seed item. It is not a proceeding that will commend itself to business men of the farm. They know the motive behind the gift. They are also coming to know, much better than their representatives, the value of research in agriculture to themselves and to the nation.

HONORABLE WARFARE.

An instance of the honorable and kindly way in which clean fights end is the fact that the Philippine Government has granted a pension of $6,000 to General EMILIO AGUINALDO. AGUINALDO led a gallant fight against the United States; he was beaten, and instead of nursing his sores he loyally did his best to bring about a better state of feeling between his own country and ours. He was instrumental in recruiting Philippine soldiers for our war against Germany, and, in civil life he never showed a trace of the old hatred, but conducted himself always as a citizen and official who had the interests of both countries at heart.

It is a case like that of General BOTHA in South Africa, who also made a clean and very hard fight long after KITCHENER and ROBERTS imagined they had put down the Boers, and who accepted his final defeat at about the same time the Filipinos accepted theirs, and in the same spirit. It was BOTHA who conducted the war against Germany in South Africa, with such results as to change the map of that great region of a great continent. The same was true of General SMUTS. It was true, long ago, of ROBERT E. LEE.

How long will it be before the world feels toward the ex-Kaiser and his chief lieutenants as it feels toward AGUINALDO, SMUTS and BOTHA? Defeat is no stain, though it is the only one German "honor" seems capable of understanding.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

His Disclosures Show Us Nothing New.

"Now It Can Be Told" is the title which PHILIP GIBBS gives to his new book, and in it he has told many things that he and other war correspondents, while the great life-and-death struggle with Germany was on, wrote little or nothing about. Their reticence was in part compulsory, but a good deal of it—most of it, one likes to believe—was due to their own appreciation of the need there was, for reasons of various kinds, to exercise a certain amount of discretion. After reading what Mr. GIBBS now tells, however, the impression left on the mind is not that of having learned much that is new, but merely that of having added many details, none of them essential or important, to knowledge already possessed.

There are few of us, for instance, who were not already aware of what happens to the dead bodies of men when long unburied. It is not really news to anybody that the object of every military censorship is a double one—about a quarter to keep information away from the enemy and about three-quarters to protect the commanding officers from home criticism when they make mistakes.

Only because Mr. GIBBS is a descriptive writer of more than ordinary ability do his present disclosures have the semblance of revelations, and while unquestionably his book will fill all pacifists with the same delight they felt while reading the similar production of HENRI BARBUSSE, the British author will find it as difficult as did the equally talented Frenchman to defend himself from the charge of having tried to teach his fellow-countrymen that war is a thing so terrible as to make peace at any price—enslavement by Germany, for example—preferable to it.

Germany, Not "War," Responsible.

Unlike BARBUSSE and other defeatists, Mr. GIBBS waited till the war was over before he allowed himself to write in the strain of "Now It Can Be Told." For that he is to be commended, but his justification for writing in that strain at all is more than dubious. Of what he set down as an observer the accuracy need not be questioned, but his conclusion, which he asks his readers to accept—the conclusion that "This is war!"—can be and should be denied.

The true conclusion from his facts is different—"this" is what must happen when unprepared peoples are suddenly forced to defend their lives, their liberties, their homes and their families from the attack of a nation that has long been making ready for the greatest and most ruthless of all robber raids. It is not "war" that should horrify Mr. GIBBS, but the German Government, for that Government was responsible for every one of the horrors that excited his righteous indignation.

As for the mistakes and incompetencies of some of the Entente officers, why should Mr. GIBBS or anybody else forget that nations unexpectedly threatened with enslavement or destruction must use the men and the weapons available at the moment? That all of the men were not military geniuses does not incriminate or disgrace them; that in the early days of the conflict they were not well trained is lamentable, but after all it was not their fault, and the severest of their critics cannot deny that they did what they could to the best of their ability. In the end that best was proved to be enough to foil the abominable ambition of Germany, and if it was at dreadful cost, they paid it, thousands and thousands of them, with their lives.

And what alternative does Mr. GIBBS propose to the horrors he calls war? Submission to domination when next the same or another brigand race starts out to conquer the world?

News Comes From Far Away.

However it may be with other people, astronomers can never again repeat the familiar complaint that the spirits who talk through mediums tell nothing new or important about the world or worlds beyond. In the book made by Mrs. RAYMOND DE KOVEN out of communications conveyed to her through a certain Mrs. VERNON, there is at least a little information that is both new and interesting.

Questioned as to the use to which the beings "over there" put their abundant time and leisure, this answer came: "We do inhabit the ether; we are ethereal beings, we can preside at the conjunction of the sun, moon and stars. The earth attracts most of those in my realm because we all have loved ones there, but more ancient souls prefer the Hebrides, Pleiades, Hesperides."

Evidently the notions now accepted as to conjunctions of the heavenly bodies must be revised, thoroughly and at once. They must be a sort of convention, or foregathering, else how could spirits preside at them, and the assumption that they are merely a relation of visibility that exists only for earthbound observers must be abandoned.

As for the grouping of Hebrides, Pleiades and Hesperides, that, too, demands immediate and serious attention as something quite new. None of the existing textbooks put the three in the same class or describe them as appealing to the same taste, but the textbooks must be wrong. The writers of them have no such opportunity to acquire sidereal information as is open to ethereal beings.

His Lack of Faith Is Painful.

A really curious vehemence characterizes the letter just sent to the Chairman of the Assembly Committee on General Laws by a member of the Merchants' Association of New York. In it he protests against the passage of a pending bill which, if enacted, would compel the branding of shoes containing any substitutes for leather so that the purchaser could know exactly what he bought.

On the face of it, and to the uninitiate, this seems to be a rather commendable idea, but the association's spokesman says it would ruin, utterly and forever, the business of the shoe manufacturers to whose product it was applied. People, he says, would not buy shoes so branded, and that would be a pity, as some shoes containing certain substitutes for leather really are much better than some shoes into the making of which no substitutes enter.

Presumably that second statement is true, but is the public really so stupid that it couldn't be taught a possibility with which neither sense nor experience is in conflict? It is not difficult to believe that good substitutes are better than poor leather.

The Christian Science Suit.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Owing to erroneous reports that are being offered to the press aiming to discredit the Board of Directors of the Mother Church in Boston, this committee, appointed to represent the Christian Science churches and societies of New York State, protests.

The Board of Directors are prevented from speaking in their own defense by reason of a sweeping injunction obtained by the Board of Trustees of the Christian Science Publishing Society.

Therefore, in their behalf, our committee wishes to state that we are daily receiving communications from churches and societies throughout the world assuring us of their unqualified loyalty to the Manual of the Mother Church and its Board of Directors.

This committee, which now represents the entire Christian Science movement, has filed a petition of intervention in the Boston litigation, the aim of which is to gain legal recognition of the Manual of the Mother Church as the supreme and final law governing the Board of Trustees of the Publishing Society as well as every other branch of the movement.

This suit was begun in the name of Mrs. Emilie B. Rulin of Brooklyn, a first member, and Martin F. Jackson of New York, Chairman of this committee.

We state most emphatically that there is not nor will there be any schism in the Christian Science Church.

IS THIS THE END?

A space ago we knew a noble rage
As o'er the world men died that dreams might live—
The dreams of brotherhood, of lasting peace
And every mother prayed her secret prayer,
And every father cursed his clogging years,
And everywhere you moved your met a friend!
But that was yesterday! It seems, today,
Unnumbered years ago, since now we live
Like hungry maggots in a teeming world
Grown rotten with base caution, apish greed!
A group of egoists called "Statesmen" drool
Their senile jealousies, men old in guile,
Whom years and tragedy and grim world-pain
Have not ennobled—these hold progress back
While we, a Nation, merely chafe and shrug
And analyze their motives. Jealousy
Of one in power, or sullen mulishness,
Or narrow prejudice, they proudly call
"American," and foul a gallant name!
How long shall this endure? While wounded boys
Stare drearily with tired eyes, and dream
Of careless days when they too laughed and ran,
When they were young, and whole . . . all life a song!
Dear God, must we surrender that white hope
Of "one last war to end all war"?
Shall we
Allow these men to bicker, hesitate
While tortured Europe waits? Is this the end
Of all our chivalry and sacrifice,
Our gallant, poignant, beautiful response
To that great cry for help across the sea?

BONUS SURE, SAYS SWEET.

Bill Giving $10 for Each Month of Service Expected.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, March 15.—Bonuses from the State will be awarded to World War veterans through legislation enacted at the present session, according to a statement made by Speaker Sweet tonight from the rostrum replying to Assemblyman McCue of New York, whose bonus bill has been held in the Ways and Means Committee since its introduction.

The McCue bill provides for uniform bonuses of $100 to all World War veterans, regardless of their length of service. Assemblyman Cuvillier has a bill providing a bonus of $10 for every month of service.

Speaker Sweet asked Lieut. Col. Theodore Roosevelt what the American Legion wanted in the way of bonus legislation, if any.

"The American Legion," he replied, "is preparing to submit recommendations to the Assembly for its consideration. The Executive Committee recommended a $10 bonus for each month of service and that every one who served, including nurses, be taken care of."

Speaker Sweet then said the legislative leaders were waiting for a report from the American Legion before deciding. It is regarded as not unlikely that a bill introduced by Miss Marguerite L. Smith of New York, which tonight was amended in consonance with the views of the American Legion as stated by Colonel Roosevelt, will be passed.

SEEK STATE TAX ON RENTS.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, March 15.—Imposition of a tax by the State on rental incomes of over 10 per cent. profit as a means to prevent unreasonable advances in rents and curb landlord profiteers, is suggested in a bill introduced in the Assembly tonight by Assemblyman Louis A. Cuvillier.

The measure provides a graduated tax beginning with 40 per cent. on from $1 to $1,000 above the 10 per cent. income up to 100 per cent., if the income derived exceeds $5,000 above the 10 per cent. income.

The bill adds a new section to the Tax law. It contains many of the provisions of the Income Tax law and like this is to be administered by the Controller. The Controller would be given the right to order a reappraisal of the value of property if he is satisfied that the assessed value is insufficient.

Y. W. C. A. ASKS $1,500,000.

Dinner at Waldorf for Professional and Business Group of Drive.

Preparing for its campaign for $1,500,000 which is to be started Monday, the Young Woman's Christian Association gave a dinner last evening at the Waldorf for the professional and business women campaign workers, where plans for their work were outlined. Miss Mary Parker of the Federal Reserve Bank, Chairman of the division, presided, and Mrs. William Fellowes Morgan, President of the New York Branch of the Y. W. C. A., and several group representatives spoke.

This is to be one of the strongest groups, with about forty different divisions, including motion picture and theatrical women and a strong branch known as the Wall Street Girls. Mrs. Henry P. Davison, Honorary Chairman of the Business and Professional Women's Division, told of the war work of the Y. W. C. A. There is to be a pageant in the Grand Ballroom of the Waldorf on Friday evening, at which the fifty years' work of the Y. W. C. A. will be shown and a luncheon at the Commodore for workers on Saturday.

At a meeting at the Lexington Avenue Opera House at 3:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon Mme. Louise Homer will sing. On Monday morning all the teams of women all over the city will begin work. It is to be a quiet, dignified campaign with no street booths or street work, the force being in the number of workers who by individual effort will reach almost every one in the city. The campaign will last for a week. Miss Mary E. S. Colt, the campaign leader, told the women last night how to "sell the Y. W. C. A." for the highest prices possible.

BANDITS FREE DR. SHELTON.

Washington Advised of Release of American by Chinese Outlaws.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 15.—The State Department has received word from Peking that Dr. A. L. Shelton, who was kidnapped by outlaws while he, his wife and two daughters were traveling from Bantang to Yunnan-fu, in Yunnan province, has been released.

Dr. Shelton and his family were traveling with an escort of six police and were within two days of their destination when the party was attacked by a notorious outlaw named Yang Tin Fu, who carried Dr. Shelton away into the hills, but allowed Mrs. Shelton and the children to proceed on their way to Yunnan-fu.

Every effort was made by General Tang Chi Yo, the military governor of Yunnan, to obtain the release of Dr. Shelton without taking such measures as would endanger Dr. Shelton's life. The American military attaché was sent by the American Legation at Peking to Yunnan-fu to assist in the efforts to obtain Dr. Shelton's release.

FOCH FOR MARNE STATUE.

Marshal Indorses Proposed Symbol of Friendship with France.

"America's Gift to France," which starts a drive in every State next Monday to raise $250,000 for the MacMonnies statue to commemorate the battle of the Marne, has received this communication from Marshal Foch:

"The Marne was one of the greatest symbols of the whole war. It was there that the invasion was first arrested in 1914. It was arrested there a second time in 1918, and it was from the Marne that the victorious offensive recommenced, which led the allied armies to the Rhine, and in which the A. E. F. took a glorious part.

"At the entry to the Port of New York a monument recalls that, more than a century ago, our peoples fought together for liberty. The Monument of the Marne will remain as a witness for future generations that the same idea still united the United States and France."

LET CHILDREN QUIT FIUME.

Little Ones to be Sent in Small Groups to Italian Cities.

TRIESTE, March 14.—General Caviglia, commander of the Italian troops along the armistice line between Fiume and Jugoslavia, has agreed to permit Captain Gabriele d'Annunzio to send children out of Fiume to Italian cities. The children will go in small groups, the first being scheduled to leave on Tuesday.

Deportations of Fiumans who have been residents of the city for less than ten years continue and there is a large number constantly besieging the frontiers for permits to travel to Italy or into Jugoslavia. Thousands have nowhere to go and have no prospects for work, being unable to claim any other place of residence but Fiume.

Reports reaching this city state the shortage of food in Fiume is becoming more critical every day.

HOUSE VOTES FLOUR FOR THREE NATIONS

Authorizes Grain Corporation to Sell 5,000,000 Barrels to Poland, Armenia, Austria.

BILL PASSES BY 283 TO 12

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 15.—The House today by a vote of 283 to 12, with two voting "present," passed a bill authorizing the United States Grain Corporation to sell for cash or credit 5,000,000 barrels of surplus flour to the Governments of Poland, Armenia and Austria. In the brief debate Republican leaders were accused of needlessly delaying action on the matter, which received favorable consideration of the Ways and Means Committee more than seven weeks ago.

Eleven Democrats and one Republican voted against the bill. They were Representatives Bankhead, Alabama; Blackmon, Alabama; Buchanan, Texas; Garner, Texas; Rayburn, Texas; Sisson, Mississippi; Stephens, Mississippi; Thomas, Kentucky; Wilson, Louisiana; Johnson, Kentucky; Johnson, Mississippi, Democrats, and Kraus, Indiana, Republican.

Those voting "present" were Johnson of Washington and Williams of Illinois, both Republicans.

Representative Kitchin of North Carolina charged that the Republicans had held up legislation for a month and a half at a time when the people of Central European countries were starving. He declared this action had been taken because of the attitude of the Republican Steering Committee of the House, which allowed people to starve while it considered the effect such legislation would have on politics.

Representative Johnson of Washington, Republican, offered the only direct opposition to the bill. He expressed fear that the flour would get into the hands of the armies of Poland and other countries, and that women and children would get little of it.

No Cash Appropriation.

The bill as passed contains no mention of any sum of money, the authorization of the sale of flour having been substituted for the provision permitting the use of $50,000,000 of the funds of the grain corporation. The flour, which is now in possession of the corporation, is of a low grade, and, according to Junius Barnes, Director of the corporation, cannot be sold in this country.

Representative Fess of Ohio, Republican, declared that, while he would support this bill, the United States should serve notice that this would be the last time Europe could look to this country for aid.

Republican Leader Mondell took Mr. Kitchin to task for his criticism of Republicans, and explained his opposition to the original bill authorizing the use of money on the ground that the people of this country had reached their limit in giving money to Europe.

"America has been generous to Europe as no people have ever been generous," said Mr. Mondell. "We sent 2,000,000 of our boys and $28,000,000,000 of our credit to fight Europe's fight. Ten billions of our money has been loaned, and so far not a penny has been returned or interest paid. There is not a household in the land that has not poured out its means for the relief of the people of Armenia, Serbia and other countries.

Would Prevent Starvation.

"This relief which is now proposed will not prevent starvation in Russia. It can't begin to bind up the wounds of all the world.

"I was one of those who thought that, as far as a cash contribution in Europe was concerned, we had about reached the time when the American people wanted to call a halt. But this is a case of granting 5,000,000 barrels of flour. There still is an enormous amount of suffering in Europe and will be after this is done.

"If the gentleman from North Carolina (Kitchin) is in earnest in his desire to feed all Europe, he would introduce a bill to appropriate $500,000,000 for that purpose. The present measure will not begin to cover the needs."

Representative Johnson, in opposing the bill, said there was no assurance that it would do much good.

"Nobody can read these reports of suffering in Europe without almost shedding tears," said Mr. Johnson, "but it is not so long ago that we were asked to contribute $100,000,000 to aid the starving people of Europe and we were told that it would check Bolshevism. Now we have a wheat trading proposition.

"What will happen to this flour? If it gets to any of these countries their armies must be fed first. This flour will get to the armies that now are in the field and very few starving cities will be fed."

Representative Fordney of Michigan, Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, said conditions in Europe were more distressing than anything ever brought to his notice and passage of the bill was the least the United States could do.

FIX ROYALTIES ON OIL LANDS

Graded from 33 1-3 to 12½ Per Cent. on Government Properties.

WASHINGTON, March 15.—Production royalties ranging from 33 1-3 to 12½ per cent. on the lease of Government oil lands under the claims relief section of the land bill were prescribed in regulations issued today by the Interior Department. Practically all withdrawn lands now being operated under claim are made subject to the assessment.

With the maximum one-third royalty applying to all wells producing 200 barrels or more a day, the quality of oil being specified as "20 degrees Baume or over," the assessment is graduated according to production down to the minimum of 12½ per cent. for wells producing less than 20 barrels per day. For oil below that quality the maximum royalty is fixed at 25 per cent. with the same minimum.

These royalties apply to all Government oil lands upon which claimants located prior to the withdrawals under the act of September 27, 1909, and which are producing practically all the oil now flowing from the withdrawn areas. They are not prescribed for the lease of claims on subsequently withdrawn land, which are for the most part as yet unproven or unproductive. A minimum royalty of 12½ per cent. on such leases is fixed by the act.

Rigid restrictions for enforcement of the general provisions of the act denying leasing rights to citizens of any country which "do not extend similar privileges to citizens or corporations of this country" is a feature of the regulations.

DELAWARE GOVERNOR EXPECTS RATIFICATION

DOVER, Del., March 15.—Governor Townsend said this afternoon that he still entertains hopes of ratification of the suffrage amendment, although he has no definite information as to how the members of the Legislature will vote.

That the wives of many of the members of the Legislature may influence their husbands is shown by the members frequently saying, "Well, my wife is opposed to [or for] suffrage, and I hardly know what to do about it."

It is believed by party leaders and others that the vote by members will largely be controlled by their loyalty to their party.

HARTFORD, Conn., March 15.—Governor Holcomb formally refused tonight to call a special session of the Connecticut General Assembly to act on the woman suffrage amendment. He issued a statement setting forth his reasons for declining to call the Legislature and outlining the Administration's position on the question at this time and on previous occasions when he refused to act.

Denial of the report that suffragists feel doubtful of the ratification of the suffrage amendment by the Delaware Legislature was made yesterday by Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, President of the National American Woman Suffrage Association. "We are confident of victory in Delaware," she said.

Notice that the National Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage will take legal steps, if necessary, to fight any attempt to count Ohio among the thirty-six States required for ratification of the suffrage amendment has been served upon the Department of State.

In a letter to Frank L. Polk, made public yesterday, Miss Kilbreth, President of the association, requested the department not to issue a proclamation declaring the amendment ratified until the Supreme Court has passed upon the legality of Ohio's ratification.

$10,000,000 TIMBER PLOT.

Prisoner in Bellevue Questioned by Government Agents.

Federal officials here learned yesterday that agents representing United States Attorney General Palmer were seeking from Edward S. Kenny, who is held in Bellevue Hospital as a prisoner, information regarding the fraudulent sale of timber. It was alleged that first-class timber, worth about $10,000,000, had been sold as second and third class for $3,000,000.

Kenny, who is also known as Edward Connors and E. S. Maloney, was indicted by the Federal Grand Jury in November, 1912, on a charge of fraud in connection with a scheme for selling automobiles on the Instalment plan. A few years ago he obtained the post of chief traffic regulator for the United States Shipping Board, and it was while serving in that capacity, it was said, that he learned of a plot to defraud the Government by falsely classifying timber bought for the Government for use in various ways during war time.

He is being held on the charge in the indictment of 1912, in default of $3,000 bail. While in the Tombs he suffered an attack of the heart that he was transferred to the prison ward in Bellevue.

RATHOM'S STATUS CHANGED

Special to The New York Times.

NEWPORT, R. I., March 15.—The status of John R. Rathom, editor of The Providence Journal, before the naval court of inquiry at the Naval Training station hearing evidence in regard to the operations of a so-called naval vice squad, was changed back today from that of a complainant to a witness.

It is presumed that he will be recalled before the court later.

Captain Edward H. Campbell completed his testimony at the opening of the session early in the afternoon, following which three naval men who were members of the so-called vice squad were made "parties in interest" to the proceedings.

Hamilton Fish Webster was recalled to be examined by Lieutenant E. M. Hudson, who was ill when Mr. Webster testified last month.

Testimony in regard to the former court of inquiry that investigated the charges of vice among naval men a year ago and the consequent court-martial was given by State Senator Max Levy, who acted as counsel for some of the accused and who brought out the fact that the former court of inquiry had recommended to the Navy Department that special notation be made in the service record of a number of men for their zeal in working in the investigation. Several of those mentioned were among the list that the Judge Advocate had made "parties in interest" earlier in the day.

Today's session closed with Arthur L. Fairbrother, of The Providence Journal, on the stand in closed session, this being the rule of the court in view of the fact that he had testified before the Senate Naval Committee and had been warned by them to secrecy.

MRS. WILSON'S VOICE OPENS FLOWER SHOW

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, at a telephone in the White House in Washington at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, opened the Seventh Annual Flower Show at the Grand Central Palace, and a large crowd waiting at the door, leaving cold Winter winds, found Summer inside. Frederic N. Newbold, Treasurer of the Flower Show Committee, answered the telephone and made the electrical connection which opened the doors.

Appropriately, the first to enter were gardeners-to-be, ex-service men who are studying the care of flowers and plants under the direction of the Federal Board of Vocational Training. Each of the several hundred exhibitors was present and every flower and every plant was in the perfection of beauty and freshness.

Great crowds blocked the entrance to the palace at 5 o'clock when the chief social event of the afternoon took place, the arrival of General Pershing who was the guest of the Navy Club at the Tea Garden. The General was met at the entrance by Mrs. Charles Chfids, Mrs. A. Barton Hepburn, Mrs. Adrian Iselin, Mrs. Edward M. House, Mrs. Frederic R. Newbold and General Wilder. Mrs. Price was chairman of the committee which met the General in the Allied Loyalty League Tea Garden. On this committee were Mrs. John Alexandre, Mrs. Julian Robbins and Mrs. Nina Duryea.

Rose gardens are always the great feature of the flower show, and while Adolph Lewisohn carried off the $500 prize for that of private exhibitors, A. N. Pierson of Cornwall, N. Y., won the same amount of money for the rose garden with entries open to all classes, and F. R. Pierson, the second of $300. The two Piersons, always rivals, exchanged places in prize winning this year—F. R., of Tarrytown, having carried off the first prize last year.

The prize winning garden contains a circular Summer house, the back covered with delicate pink rambler roses, and more of these drooping from high arms extended on either side from the Summer house; the little white fence surrounding it is covered with the roses while at either side of the entrance gate at the front is a deep yellowish rambler tea rose. There is a central gravel path, plots of green grass on either side and more roses.

Beautiful Bulb Garden.

Equally charming in a different way is a garden of the Lewisohn exhibit at the front of the main floor, having in it many varieties of plants of all colors, with shrubs at the back. In the centre is a small piece of statuary and a running fountain. This received a special award. To Mr. Lewisohn, who has seventy-six exhibits, went the greater number of awards of the day.

Other private exhibitors who carried off first and second prizes were Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, Manhasset; Mrs. F. A. Constable, Mamaroneck; James A. McDonald, Flushing; Mrs. W. D. Guthrie, Locust Valley; W. B. Thompson, Yonkers; Mrs. J. H. Wright, New York City; B. H. Borden, James Stuart, Mamaroneck; G. G. Mairon, Tuxedo Park; Mrs. H. O. Havemeyer, Stamford, Conn.; Harold Irving Pratt, Glen Cove; Miss S. D. Bliss, New Canaan, Conn., and A. N. Cooley, Pittsfield, Mass.

In the exhibition of orchids "Mavehonna," the Princess, named by Mrs. Wilson, attracted attention. It is of the Brasso-Cattleya variety, very beautiful in color, the result of eight years' growth from seed to flower. It was grown by Joseph Manda of West Orange, who also exhibited an orchid named after Gertrude Ederle, the swimmer.

The Navy League is co-operating with the Allied Loyalty League in the Tea Room. Mrs. Charles Childs was the hostess yesterday, which was America's Day.

Reception Committee.

On the Reception Committee of the Tea Room are Miss Cottenet, Chairman; Mrs. Charles Ditson, Mrs. Horace Gallatin, Miss Angela Gerry, Miss Belle Gurnee, Mrs. Newbold Leroy Edgar, Mrs. Adolph Ladenburg, Miss M. S. Palmer, Mrs. George Wickersham and Mrs. James Metcalf. The General Committee of the Tea Garden also is headed by Miss Cottenet, with Mrs. Edward McVicar Vice Chairman. Other committee Chairmen are: Food Supplies, Mrs. Jessie Baskerville; Tea Garden, Mrs. Price Post; Decoration, Henry R. Sedgewick; Finance, Mrs. Charles S. Whitman; Flower Booth, Mrs. Charles Curtin; Publicity, Mrs. Joseph Hamblen Sears; Membership, Mrs. Nina Duryea.

Among the débutante waitresses were Misses Sylvia Hillhouse, Gladys Livermore, Lilian Ranson, Carlotta Havemeyer, Rosalie Bloodgood, Margaret Monell, Helen Cameron, Margaret Flint, Katherine Van Ingen, Lucille Baldwin, Augusta McKaig, Elsie Everett, Minnie Richards, Renee Carhart, Fannie Billings and Melissa Yuille; Mesdames Casemer de Rham, Clark Fosdick Evans, Julian Robbins and Barrett Mitchell.

Junior League girls who served as waitresses in the afternoon were Misses Marion Hodenpyl, Katherine D. Porter, Janet Croll, Lucy Bulkley, Alice Lawrence, Helen Johnson, Beatrice Starr, Marion Carroll, Geraldine Mealding, Virginia Van Ingen, Elizabeth Moffat and Helen LaFetra; in the evening, Misses Elsie Morrill, Virginia Sterry, Eleanor Landon, Margaret Wallace, Dorothy Thompson, Marie Jenney, Lucy Lord, Helen Whitridge, Juliet Bartlett, Sylvia Seymour and Genevieve Mangans.

The features in the Tea Garden yesterday were music by the U. S. Navy Band, the Bay Ridge Orchestra, the Bay Ridge Hawaiian Orchestra in native costume, two buglers and a xylophone player.

Major General Robert Bullard, Admiral Glennon, Captain G. S. P. Stone, General Bullard's staff, Miss Ethel Barrymore and Miss Blanche Bates were among the guests.

DR. MANNING WANTS GERMANS CHECKED

Tells Meeting He Would Reopen War at Once if Necessary to Halt Militarism.

The opinion that it would be better to reopen the European war than to permit the restoration of German militarism or to permit the Turks to retain their hold upon non-Moslem peoples in Europe was expressed at an Armenian mass meeting in Carnegie Hall last night by the Rev. Dr. William T. Manning, rector of Trinity Parish, and Samuel Gompers, President of the American Federation of Labor. The same opinion was expressed by ex-Ambassador James W. Gerard, a member of the American Committee for the Independence of Armenia, who, not able to attend the meeting because of illness, sent his prepared speech to be read.

Opening the meeting as chairman, Dr. Manning declared that Armenia should not be put back into the hands of the Turks, "no matter what the financial or diplomatic considerations," and he added that "the rule of Turks over non-Moslems must end forever." He criticised the American policy in dealing with the Turk as "weak, wrong and inconsistent," and declared that "it was not to our credit that throughout the war we remained at peace with the Turk." Concluding these preliminary remarks, Dr. Manning said:

"If such a step were necessary to drive the Turk out of Europe then it would be better to re-open the war at once. I think that every American officer and soldier who served in the war would be willing to fight to see this end accomplished."

Thinks War Ended Too Soon.

After Mr. Gompers had declared in his speech that he feared the Allies had stopped the war six months too soon, Dr. Manning strengthened his first remarks about Germany and Turkey, saying:

"I think that Mr. Gompers is right and I agree with him that if German militarism is to be restored, then we did stop the war six months too soon, and we should have declared the terms of peace in Berlin and not in Versailles. If militarism is to be restored there or if the Turk is permitted to maintain his sway in Europe, then it would be better to open the war again."

Taking as the keynote of his speech the assertion of Mr. Gerard that the failure of America to ratify the Peace Treaty and the premature dissolution of the allied armies had emboldened the German Junkers, Mr. Gompers said:

"Although I had said in many of my public utterances during the war that the war should continue until the menace of German militarism and autocracy had been wiped out and that it should not end one hour before that time nor continue one hour after that time, I am now afraid that we stopped the war just six months too soon. The salutary lesson of humility has not yet been learned by Germany, Austria and Turkey."

Many Approve Move.

Speaking of the Peace Treaty and the covenant of the League of Nations, Mr. Gompers said that it was "mere lip service" to ideals to prevent ratification when world peace was at stake and the future of the United States and all countries in the balance. He said he would not discuss the proposed reservations and added that he was not in sympathy with those who called for the treaty with or without reservations.

Mr. Gerard was prevented by illness from attending the mass meeting, but he sent a message

"The non-ratification by America of the treaty of peace, the premature dissolution of the armies of the allied and associated powers, and the marked difference of opinion which existed in the deliberations of the Peace Conference in dealing with the Turkish problem emboldened the Junkers and hastened the overthrow by them of the makeshift Ebert Government.

Those who sent messages approving the aspirations of the Armenians and calling for the expulsion of the Turk and an independent Armenia were President John Grier Hibben of Princeton, Cardinal Gibbons, Dr. Charles W. Eliot, Governor Bartlett of New Hampshire, James L. Barton, Chairman of the Near East Relief Committee; Senator King and Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Chairman of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations.

The meeting was under the auspices of the Armenian National Union and the American Committee for the Independence of Armenia, and about 1,000 atttended. Resolutions were adopted urging President Wilson to recognize the Armenian Republic.

SISTER HILDEGARDE TOLD TIME OF DEATH

Nun Who Seemed in Best of Health Begged Priest for Last Rites, and Soon Expired.

PATERSON, N. J., March 15.—True to a premonition that she would die within half an hour, Sister Hildegarde, who for nearly forty-two years had been attached to St. Joseph's Hospital here, arose from her bed in the best of health today and called her roommate, Sister Mary Magdalen. She was dead within fifteen minutes.

"What is it, Sister?" she asked.

Sister Mary Magdalen did as requested, and Father Julien saw that Sister Hildegarde was, or seemed to be, in the best of health. She insisted, however, it is said, that she was dying, and begged for the last rites of the Church. These were given her. She lay down and was dead in a few minutes.

Sister Hildegarde was born in Hanover, Germany, in 1838, and came to this country at the age of fifteen. She was a non-Catholic, but after years of charitable work embraced that faith. She was well known for her work as a Sister of Charity.

The doctors are wondering if the death three months ago of Sister Mary Claire, to whom the dead Sister was very much attached, was in any way responsible for the premonition and death of Sister Hildegarde.

For next Saturday afternoon Mr. Monteux's revised list includes Beethoven's "Fidelio" overture, Mozart's G minor symphony, Borodin's "On the Steppes of Central Asia" and Debussy's "Petite Suite" arranged for orchestra by Henri Busser.

Mr. Mayer, who was 69 years old, was born in Germany.

Lieutenant Francis Blessing of 385 Cypress Avenue, Bronx, commander of the rescue squad of the Fire Department and seven times decorated for unusual bravery, died yesterday in St. Lawrence Hospital after a brief illness of pneumonia. He was only 35 years old. The death of his mother two weeks ago was said to have been a severe blow to him.

Soon after joining the force in 1907 he was known as a daring driver for Chief Croker, and it was while serving as chauffeur for Chief Kenlon in 1912 that he made the brave though unsuccessful attempt to rescue three men trapped on the roof at the Equitable Building fire. His fight to save the men was rewarded by the department's medal of honor.

His most sensational rescue was performed on Oct. 5, 1918, when he entered the gas-filled hold of the burning submarine O-5, when Ensign Sharkey and two sailors were caught there and suffocating. The vessel's sea cocks were open and the water creeping up on them all. Lieutenant Blessing got the two sailors out alive, but the Ensign perished. On the recommendation of the Navy Department the Bennett medal was given Lieutenant Blessing for this exploit.

CHAMPION REDS WIN FIRST FROM YANKEES

HUGMEN PASS UP CHANCES

MIAMI, Fla., March 15.—The Yanks are getting to be gluttons for punishment. They tripped up on a lot of scoring chances and were defeated here this afternoon by the world's champion Reds. The Moran crew made only three hits, but succeeded in taking the first of the series by a score of 2 to 1.

Had the Yankees been content to remain on the bases in the early innings they might have won with ease. Jimmy Ring, the Brooklyn boy, was most liberal with passes, but the Yanks lifted him out of trouble by being caught off the bases.

In the first inning, both Fewster and Peck, the first two men up, walked, but Chick was caught napping and Peck was nailed at second when he tried a delayed steal. In the second inning, Ruth and Vick both walked, but Ruth was caught sleeping and Sammy was detected taking a nap off first. Bodie led off the third with a single, but went out stealing. Five of the first seven Yanks to come up got on bases and all were picked off.

Mays in Fine Form.

Huggins, however, was able to extract a certain amount of satisfaction out of the contest. Carl Mays, his star pitcher, showed that he was ready to start the season, and Ruth finally pickled one. Mays pitched remarkable ball for this early in the Spring. He pitched five innings, during which only one man reached first base on him. That was Daubert in the fourth, but Jake was doubled off first after Groh struck out. May had such good control that only three balls were hit out of the infield on him.

Ruth cracked a single to right in the eighth inning, his first hit since last May, when he hit a double in the first contest between the first and second teams in Jacksonville. While the hit only yielded Ruth a single, it was a fierce smash and would have gone much further if the ball had not been deadened by the poor field.

Ping Bodie was Huggins's real slugging star. Ping is about the only Yankee regular who is pasting the ball. He got three hits, and hit the longest drive of the game in the fifth inning, when he tripled far over Duncan's head to the left field fence. It took a three-man relay to nip Ping at the plate by an eye lash. O'Leary coached Ping to try for a home run, and he was nearly all in when he came down the home stretch.

Thormahlen Yields Passes.

Thormahlen relieved Mays in the sixth inning, and Cincinnati made both of its runs off the left hander. Neither were anything to brag about. The one in the sixth started with a fumble by Peck and ended with a wild throw by Ruel. All the Reds had to do in the eighth was to stand at the plate and wait for Thormahlen to walk them. He passed three men and forced in the winning run.

Ring and Luque pitched for the Reds. Bad baseball enabled Ring to get by without a score, but Luque really is in fine fettle. He has been pitching Winter ball in Cuba, and has a wicked curve ball. He struck out six men in his four innings. Muddy Ruel fanned three times.

Neale was safe in the sixth on Peck's fumble and reached second on Rariden's out. Luque lined to Vick. On a wild pitch, Neale raced around third base and came half way to the plate before he decided to retrace his steps. Ruel foolishly threw to the pitcher's box, where no one happened to be as Thormahlen was at the plate, and Neale scored.

Yankees Tie Score in Seventh.

The Yanks tied the score in the seventh inning. Pipp cracked a single to right, and Ruth rolled to Rath. Rath made a hard, quick throw to Crane to start a double play, but Sam dropped it and both runners were safe. Ward apparently layed down a beautiful sacrifice, but it was ruled out as Dineen said the ball hit Ward.

An infield single by Bodie filled the bases, and Ruel also got an infield single on a ball which took a bad bound to Groh. It scored Pipp, with the bases still full. Thormahlen fanned.

Neale also scored Cincinnati's second run in the eighth. He walked with one out, and took second when Rariden was passed. Luque beat out an infield hit, filling the bases. Thormahlen continued wild and walked Rath, forcing in Neale with the winning run. Daubert then smashed to Thormahlen for a double play.

BROOKLYN REGULARS WIN.

Special to The New York Times.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 15.—The Brooklyn Regulars and Yanigans resumed their practice series this afternoon and also continued to hit the pellet with considerable vigor. A total of twenty-five base hits, eight of which were good for more than one base, was recorded during the fray. The Regulars finished on the heavy end of a 7 to 4 score. Clarence Mitchell and Rube Marquard were the opposing hurlers when the mêlée started, and near the climax Sherrod Smith and Jeff Pfeffer were doing the box work. Thus four of Uncle Robbie's regular hurlers were given a good workout.

Clarence Mitchell pitched for the Yanigans and did not allow a hit in the first two rounds, but in the third the Regulars pounced on his left-handed delivery and scored four runs. He retired from the game at the end of the inning. After the first two Regulars were retired in the third, Marquard and Olson made singles, and a pass to Neis filled the bases. Johnston cleared the sacks with a two-bagger to left and scored on Wheat's single to centre. In the following inning the Regulars added six other tally to their total when they found Sherrod Smith for two hits.

Unofficial Yacht Trials Will Be Held Late in May

Yachting in local waters probably will start about the middle of May, when the Resolute and Vanitie are expected to meet in the first of a series of contests which will lead to the selection of one or the other to defend the America's Cup in the contests to be held off Sandy Hook, starting on July 15. The tentative schedule includes a series of races to be held in Long Island Sound off New Haven, about six in number, and these will be largely in the nature of warming-up contests to break in the crews. They will not count in the selection of a yacht to represent this country. These contests will end about May 27, and on or about June 3 the two trim American single stickers will again meet off Newport for a series of from twelve to sixteen races to select a cup defender. The craft picked then will be hauled out and made ready for the big event.

While the two American racers are having their trials off New Haven and Newport, Sir Thomas Lipton's Shamrock IV. and his 23-meter Shamrock, which is expected to arrive in this country soon, will have their contests over the course off Sandy Hook.

M'GRAW'S REGULARS BOW TO YOUNGSTERS

Special to The New York Times.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, March 15.—The Giant regulars who have been beating the rookies rather handily in the recent daily practice games, took a slump today and were beaten by the youngsters by 6 to 2. Though they managed to win, the Rookies played ragged ball. The brightest spot was the pitching and stick work of Reynolds Kelly, younger brother of the regular first sacker, and himself a ball player of no mean ability.

The younger Kelly having blanked the regulars in the opening frame, the Rookies proceeded to step out in front their half the inning, aided by an error on the part of Paul Johnson, who did the flinging for the veterans in the first three innings. Sicking heading the batting order, singled to right and advanced to second when Johnson, seeking to catch him napping off first base, pegged the ball over George Kelly's head. He died, however, in an attempt to steal third.

Pull Double Steal.

Bowen walked and stole second, and Bates reached first on Frisch's wide throw of his grounder. A double steal was then put on, and when Johnson, in an attempt to break it up, heaved the ball wildly past second base, Bowen dashed over the plate.

King, who led off in the second inning, was safe on a high throw by Frisch and raced to third on Armstrong's single to right. Gonzales was thrown out by Doyle and Thomas fanned, but Reynolds Kelly struck a blow in his own behalf. It was a two-base blow over Burns's head that caromed off the left field fence, King and Armstrong scoring.

The regulars had one or two chances to score prior to the fifth inning, but not until that round was reached did they tally. In the fifth, McQuade, who had relieved Johnson in the box for the regulars, got a base hit when Stats lost his fly to centre in the sun. Burns put him on third with a two-base slam, and Young hoisted a sacrifice fly to Statz on which McQuade counted and Burns went to third. Fletcher followed with a sacrifice fly to Bowen, on which Burns scored.

Errors Help Rookies.

The rookies sewed up the game in the sixth. Statz strolled and pilfered second. Bates filed to Kauff, but King walked. Armstrong popped to Doyle, but Fletcher made a wild throw on Gonzales's grounder, Statz scoring and King going to third. King and Gonzales started a double steal, and when George Kelly, to whom McQuade had thrown, hurled the ball over Frisch's head into left field, both men scored. That ended the runmaking for the day.

Baker said he was through with big league baseball, but was willing to play an occasional game with the Uplanders, with whom he played a couple of seasons ago.

Students Greet A. A. U. Champions on Return from Atlanta.

The victorious New York University basket ball quintet, which captured the national championship of the Amateur Athletic Union at Atlanta last week, returned home yesterday to be greeted by the greatest reception ever accorded a New York University team. Classes in the various departments of the university were suspended for the day.

When the members of the team alighted from the train at the Pennsylvania station at 3 o'clock they were engulfed by a mad rush of about 2,000 students, who hoisted the players on their shoulders and carried them to the buses waiting outside the station. Headed by the university band the procession of buses rolled up Fifth Avenue and to the campus at University Heights. A banquet and several theatre parties completed the celebration last night.

BRITISH MAY ASK CHOICE OF YACHTS

Suggest Better of Two Shamrocks Be Permitted to Sail for the America's Cup.

Advices just received from English yachting circles indicate that there may be an appeal for special privileges in connection with the contests for the America's Cup this Summer, and that the New York Yacht Club may be asked to permit another yacht than the Shamrock IV. to compete for the trophy.

It has generally been understood that the Shamrock IV., built especially for the purpose from designs by Nicholson and sent to this country in 1914, would be the craft to carry the private signal of Sir Thomas Lipton in the contests when they take place, but The Field suggests that Sir Thomas Lipton's 23-metre Shamrock, designed by Fife, which is to be used as the contending craft in the tuning up races of the Shamrock IV. in these waters may prove to be the better yacht, or the one with the better chance to win in the big races for the coveted cup—and asks whether the 23-metre craft will be permitted to contend if she proves to be the better boat.

In its comments on the two Shamrocks The Field takes the stand that, while the Shamrock IV. may be faster—and the publication does not doubt it—still the 23-metre craft is known to be very speedy; in addition to which the latter, with her altered keel, curiously enough comes very close to fitting in under the American rule, and would not have to allow much, if any, time to the American defender, whereas the Shamrock IV. would be heavily penalized.

Could Remove Fittings.

The 23-metre Shamrock is built to Lloyd's heavy scantlings and has a heavy deck house, as well as being full of heavy cabin fittings, all of which are described as "drawbacks," but, while the scantlings could not be altered, the deck house and heavy cabin fittings could be removed.

Continuing, The Field says: "The Americans are leaving nothing to chance; neither should Sir Thomas Lipton. They will get the utmost out of both their boats. So should Sir Thomas Lipton get the last inch out of both his boats. If he insists upon doing so, then he will have a better chance of winning the cup than he ever had before. If he is ill advised as to only tune up the Fife 23-metre in a half-hearted way, then he will not be making the most of his opportunity."

Commenting on the situation which the presence of two Shamrocks in this country may bring up, The Field says: "Early next Summer the Americans will sail a series of very hard trial races between Resolute and Vanitie, and the better boat will be selected to defend the cup. At the same time, and in the same waters in America, Sir Thomas Lipton will sail a series of equally hard races between Shamrock IV. and his 23-metre, but whichever boat proves the better, according to the Deed of Gift, Shamrock IV. must race for the cup against the better of the two American boats. Supposing, however, in his trial races Sir Thomas Lipton finds out that the 23-metre is the better boat, what would happen then?

Would Start Better Boat.

"No doubt, according to the Deed of Gift, Sir Thomas would still be bound to race with the Shamrock IV. We shall not, however, assume that the Americans would be such poor sportsmen as to insist upon this; indeed, we have every reason to believe that they would not want to sail against Sir Thomas's slower boat. After all the sport and expense of running the four boats, this would be very poor fun. They are going to chose the better of their pair, and we assume that they will allow Sir Thomas Lipton to chose the better of his pair.

"If the 23-metre is asked to race in the trials with the weight of cabin fittings on her back, she will not have a sporting chance against the unhoisted boat. If, on the other hand, the fittings and every bit of superfluous weight are removed and her designer compensates her accordingly, she will have a good run for her money. That is what we want her to have, because we should like to see Sir Thomas Lipton win the cup."

SEEK REGATTA FOR HARLEM

Rowing Association Wants Labor Day Event Held There.

Representatives of nineteen rowing clubs of the metropolitan district attended the annual meeting of the Board of Delegates of the New York Rowing Association at the New York Athletic Club last night, and, by their reports of activities in prospect indicated that rowing this season would receive a stronger impetus than had been given it in many preceding years of the association's history.

The delegates decided that a strong effort should be made to bring the Labor Day regatta of the Middle States Association to New York. President James Pilkington of the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen, entered a strong argument toward this end. Pilkington pointed out that years had elapsed since the regatta had been held here. The meeting of the Middle States Association will be held in Philadelphia on May 29, and the New York delegates will unite at that time in the endeavor to have the Labor Day classic rowed on the Harlem.

Development of the details for the Memorial Day regatta of the New York Association were left to the newly elected officers and Stewards. In addition, it was indicated that the schedule of events for 1920 would be longer and more elaborate than ever before.

Announcements was made of the offer of a special national trophy to be rowed for by high school crews. The trophy will take the form of a cup to cost $250 and presented by the Lone Star Boat Club in the memory of the late Samuel A. Cramer, who devoted many seasons to the development of schoolboy oarsmen, coaching a different high school crew each season. Mr. Cramer, who died last year, was the Vice President and Captain of the Lone Star Boat Club. The Cramer Trophy will be open to competition by schoolboy crews from all parts of the nation. The working out of the details of the competition was left to the New York Rowing Association.

The retiring President, Anton Jurasik, opened the meeting and was succeeded in the chair by Edward Scully, retiring Vice President. On the motion of Mr. Pilkington, Otto J. Stephens, of the Nassau Boat Club was nominated for President, and his unanimous election followed. Other officers elected were as follows:

The newly constituted Board of Stewards is as follows: John H. Conlin, Nonpareil Rowing Club; Anton Jurasik, First Bohemian Boat Club; Thomas Lyons, Friendship Boat Club; Warren Kinney, Columbia University Rowing Association; Richard Stenvig, Woodcliff Boat Club; Robert Kirschner, Waverly Boat Club; Edward Scully, Ravenswood Boat Club, and W. P. Cassidy, Brooklyn Rowing Club.

The resignation of the Clifton Boat Club from the association was accepted and the application of the Atlantic Boat Club for readmission favorably acted upon.

SHOEMAKER DEFEATS SHONGOOD AT POOL

J. Howard Shoemaker, the champion, showed much of his old-time form in the opening match of the pocket billiard tournament for the national championship of the National Association of Amateur Billiard Players at the New York Athletic Club last night. He defeated Charles Shongood, Jr. by a score of 125 to 52 in thirteen frames.

The champion was in that same fine stroke that has carried him to so many championships in the past. He had almost perfect control of his cue ball and his execution was all that could be desired. No shots appeared to be too difficult for him to make and, during his high run of 26 when he forged into a commanding lead, he made several long, hard cut shots.

Chief among those things which contributed to the decisive victory scored by Shoemaker was his position play. Seldom did the cue ball get away from him and most of the time he attained excellent position for his succeeding shot. It was in this way that he was able to take his ambitious rival from Brooklyn into camp.

A striking feature of the game was the fact that neither player resorted to safety. The defensive work in the match was virtually nil, both striving to make shots. In spite of the big lead that Shoemaker gained early in the match, Shongood strove gamely to overtake his opponent. He was out after everything in sight, but he had little opportunity to make much headway, for Shoemaker was in such fine form that he seldom left anything. The champion generally did all the taking there was to be done and when he finished shooting there wasn't much left on the table for Shongood to shoot at.

J. H. Shoemaker—6 11 14 12 10 11 11 12 14 9 8 0 9. Total, 125; high run, 26; scratches, 2.
C. Shongood, Jr.—8 3 6 2 4 8 3 2 0 5 6 14 5. Total, 52; high run, 14; scratches, 3.

COSGROVE WINS AT CARROMS

Player.	W.	L.	H.R.	P.C.
J. Frimakow	4	0	5	1000
W. Blumenthal	3	1	4	.725
J. Cosgrove	3	1	5	.725

F. G. Owles	1	3	7	.250
C. Maxwell	0	3	4	.000
G. E. Van Arsdale	0	4	5	.000

Playing in the three-cushion tournament for the national championship of the American Amateur Billiard Association at Joe Thum's Academy last night, Joseph Cosgrove defeated Fred Owles by a score of 50 to 29 and advanced to a tie for second place in the standing with William Blumenthal. It was one of the best victories scored in the tourney to date.

Winning in ninety-nine innings, Cosgrove showed all the form that could be expected of a veteran. In short, he had everything, and Owles had comparatively little chance to win after the first few innings. Owles is a new comer as a tournament player and, in a measure, it was this lack of experience that caused him to be so decisively upset. Repeatedly during the match he left his opponent natural or near natural shots, and Cosgrove seldom failed to take full advantage of the opportunities thus afforded.

The game was far from being a brilliant exhibition of billiards. Cosgrove's best run was a cluster of 3 and Owles's best effort netted him 2. In consistent scoring Cosgrove excelled by a considerable margin, and at times he showed symptoms of breaking out into a real rash of three-cushion billiards, but these were mere flurries and soon subsided.

RICE LOSES TO WORCESTER.

Julian Rice met his second defeat in the 18:2 balkline handicap billiard tournament for the J. F. Poggenburg Cup at the National Recreation Academy in Brooklyn last night. Rated as a Class A player, Rice is called upon to play 250 points and, while he was able to score 160 points, he was defeated by Charles Worcester, a Class C man playing for 115 points, by a score of 115 to 160. Rice showed some of the form that featured his cue work when he won the National Class B title recently and when he was playing in the National Class A tournament at Boston, but the handicap was too much for him.

In the afternoon game, Robert Steinbugler defeated Jake Ward by a score of 115 to 95. Both men are Class C players and, therefore, played on even terms. As a result of this victory, Robert Steinbugler moved into the lead in Section B of the tournament.

In the match between Rice and Worcester it was simply a question of the handicap. Rice was in good stroke and played well, but Worcester was good enough to emerge from the fracas the winner because of the liberal margin allowed him.

Irish Featherweight Here Seeking Bout with Champion.

Fred Jacks of Cork, Ireland, claiming the featherweight championship title of Europe, is the latest foreign boxer to seek honors and gold in this country. Jacks arrived here last Saturday on the Mauretania in search of a bout against Johnny Kilbane, world's champion. The Irish boxer is under the management of George McDonald, veteran English handler of fighters, who is now seeking matches for the new arrival. It is probable Jacks and Jack Blumenfeld, English middleweight, will make their initial American appearance in a Jersey City ring within a few weeks.

Tendler Wins Bout on Points.

PHILADELPHIA, March 15.—Lew Tendler, Philadelphia, gave Stock Yards Johnny Rose, the Western lightweight, a severe beating in their six-round bout here tonight. Tendler had the advantage in every round. Harry (Kid) Brown, Philadelphia, knocked out Chris Chaney, New Orleans, in the second round.

Yale Abandons All Plans for International Matches

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 15.—Instead of sending crew, track and tennis teams to England this Summer, Yale has decided to allow none to make the journey. The crew abandoned the plan because of conflicting dates for the English Henley and the American Yale-Harvard races.

The international tennis match was abandoned because satisfactory terms could not be made. Today the graduate committee of the track team decided that, as previous international matches had included Harvard, Yale, Oxford and Cambridge, while Harvard could not go this year, it would be wiser to wait another year.

Sherman Hall of the New York A. C., national foils title holder, led his Mercury Foot team mates to victory last night in the national team foils fencing championship tournament, held under the auspices of the Fencers' Club of New York, at the French Y. M. C. A. The New York A. C. trio captured the title with a record of 12 victories and 3 defeats against the Washington (D. C.) Army Fencers' Club and the Fencers' Club of New York. The latter team finished second with 7 victories and 11 defeats, while the follsmen from the capital brought up the rear with 5 successes and 10 setbacks.

Hall displayed characteristic skill with his favorite weapon. The Mercury Foot leader went through a series of five bouts without sustaining a defeat. A fifth bout for Hall was made unnecessary when his team clinched the title before the completion of the full schedule with the Washington Army fencers in the final clash. Against the Fencers' Club of New York A. C., Hall, with brilliant skill and remarkable ability at parrying and thrusting, scored three victories. His remaining trace of triumphs came at the expense of Washington Army Club representatives.

The teams which competed for the title were as follows: New York A. C.—Sherman Hall, Steddiford Pitt and Leo Nunes; Washington Army Fencers' Club—Major Harold Raynor, Lieut. Col. Francis W. Penn State Open Awarded.

The Pennsylvania State open championship has been awarded this year to the Oakmont Country Club, near Pittsburgh, scene last August of the national amateur. The Quaker officials have set tentatively the week of Aug. 16 for their event, but the Professional Golf Association has pointed out that this will probably conflict with dates for the P. G. A. championships or other matches which have already been listed for the Middle West.

ARNOLD HAS ROMP IN THE M'DONOUGH

NEW ORLEANS, La., March 15.—The efforts of the official handicapper to bring C. A. Applegate's Arnold down to the speed of his rivals by assigning him a high impost failed again today when this dependable son of Peep o'Day fairly romped off with the McDonough Handicap at five and a half furlongs for his third successive victory. Arnold was required to take up 126 pounds and concede as much as twenty-seven pounds to at least one of the other starters, and yet he had a margin of three lengths in his favor at the finish over Binding Tie, which just barely saved second from Ticklish.

The McDonough Handicap was the feature of the opening of the final week at Jefferson Park. The racing, which comes to a close here Wednesday, was favored by fine weather and another large crowd was present. So much time remains between the close of this meeting and the opening at Bowie, Md., that few shipments of important horses have been made, so local racegoers are assured of good cards for the balance of the season.

Arnold's victory was easily the most popular of the day and was a credit to a horse which is always sure to do his best. Arnold has made thirteen starts during the Winter season and has yet to finish out of the money. He has rightfully won the name of "Honest Arnold," for in every start he puts forth his best efforts.

Today he was required to go out in a field of six starters, which included Binding Tie, Ticklish, Bobby Allen and Tacola, all good sprinters and all with lighter weight to carry than the winner. Despite this, Arnold was made the favorite and was backed down from 7 to 5 to 6 to 5 at post time. Ticklish and Tacola were well played also, but mostly for place and show.

The summaries:

FIRST RACE—For two-year-olds, claiming; purse $800; four furlongs. Sir Mortimer, Oh Doctor, Molinero, Brown Bill and Voormel also ran.

CADDOCK IS THROWN BY LEWIS IN 1:35:45

EX-CHAMPION IS INJURED

Strangler Lewis will be the next challenger of Joe Stecher for the heavyweight wrestling championship of the world. The Kentucky grappler, after fighting off the determined onslaughts of Earl Caddock for one hour and a half, threw the former titleholder with a head and hip lock in their bout last night in Madison Square Garden.

The official time was 1:35:45.

In a preliminary match Jim Londos, the Greek idol, threw Salvatore Chevalier, the French heavyweight champion, with a body scissors and double wrist lock in 34:22. An earlier preliminary between Orlando Lupo of Italy and Raymond Cazaud of France resulted in an easy victory for the Italian after four minutes and forty seconds of wrestling.

Lewis's victory was both sudden and unpopular with the crowd. It came like a bolt from the blue, for the huge throng that assembled to watch the two heavyweights had picked Caddock to win. The former champion had justified this confidence up to the moment of his downfall by outpointing Lewis in every department. Although lighter and smaller, he had displayed a speed and aggressiveness that more than counterbalanced his opponent's superior weight.

The first indication that Caddock was weakening came when the bout had been going on for 1 hour and 33 minutes. At this point Lewis threw the Iowan to the mat, heavily and pinned him down with a face lock and leg hold. Caddock's right shoulder was touching, but the left was pocketed between Lewis's head and shoulder, and Caddock finally extricated himself after a tortuous struggle.

End Comes With Lightning Speed

It was only two minutes later that Lewis again resumed the attack. With the suddenness and quickness of a lightning flash, he lunged at Caddock, gripped his head in the dangerous lock, forced him to the mat, and with a hip lock slowly turned the Iowan over on his shoulders. Thirty seconds later Referee George Bothner tapped Lewis on the shoulder and the match was over.

A physician who examined Caddock's right shoulder after the bout announced that the collar bone was probably splintered, and perhaps broken. Caddock declared that the injury came previous to the final fall, and that the first indication he had was when he attempted to twist himself from Lewis's last hold.

The first part of the main encounter was all Caddock's, the former champion pursuing his opponent around the ring or slowly backing him away by means of an arm lock. When the bout was only seven minutes old Caddock clamped the Strangler's arms, buttressed his head against the latter's chin, and slowly forced his rival to his knees. As often as Lewis escaped Caddock repeated the process, and the former soon changed his tactics and retreated at the first approach of the menacing fins.

At the ten-minute stage, Caddock imprisoned the Strangler in a body scissors, but the latter slipped out.

Lewis's first opportunity to use his head lock came after sixteen minutes, but Caddock, with his usual craftsmanship, reversed the odds by shifting his entire body and clamping Lewis in a body scissors, all the while pillowing his shoulders on Lewis's head. Five minutes later Lewis again applied his favorite hold with a vengeance and again Caddock escaped by clinging to his man like a grapevine and slowly bending him back to the mat.

Lewis all but collapsed under the attack and escaped by the smallest of squeaks. Even narrower was his escape at the thirty-one minute mark. Caddock returned to the arm lock again, and Lewis escaped, but found himself in a worse predicament when Caddock clamped on a body scissors and head lock. One of Lewis's shoulders was touching, the other was a hair's breadth from the mat and it seemed all over for the stocky Strangler. Referee Bothner had raised his arm and was bringing it down on Caddock's shouled when Lewis slid out with the slipperyness of an eel. It was his second and narrowest escape in ten minutes.

The remainder of the first hour saw Caddock increasing, if anything, his initial advantage. He sidestepped the few dangerous moments with remarkable skill, shifting his tactics and attack with customary rapidity. Lewis, too, was stiffening his offense, although he never had the Iowan even within the shadow of defeat.

Chevalier Easy for Londos.

The first of the two feature bouts, between Londos, the Greek idol, and Chevalier, French heavyweight champion, resulted in an unexpectedly easy victory for the popular Londos. Instead of the long-drawn-out tussle that Chevalier's recent performances seemed to forecast, only 36 minutes and 22 seconds were necessary for the Frenchman's downfall. The end came after Chevalier escaped from a head lock, only to run afoul of a body scissors and double wrist hold. He quickly succumbed and at 9:25 Referee Bothner patted the triumphant Greek on the shoulder as an indication of victory.

Londos displayed surprising agility against his opponent, who had a considerable advantage in weight. The Greek matched the extra poundage with speed, aggressiveness and knowledge of the game, and although he got into a difficult position at one occasion, he had no trouble in evading the more ponderous Frenchman. Londos won almost exclusively with his legs, using the body and head scissors with deadly effect.

Chevalier's only chance for triumph came in the tenth minute of the encounter. Through a wary bit of strategy he lured Londos into a scissors and head lock and proceeded to clamp the Greek to the mat. Londos, by bridging on his opponent's legs and securing an effective leverage, finally, with his arms, slowly wriggled out and extricated himself from his predicament.

This brief crisis marked the limit of Chevalier's threat. The remainder of the clash saw the unique situation of the smaller and lighter man slowly wearing his heavier opponent down. That this task took only twenty-two minutes more was the best tribute to the skill and power of the sinewy Greek. In the last five minutes it was solely a question of how long Chevalier could stand out against Londos's aggressive onslaughts.

The bouts attracted the usual huge throng and when the Londos-Chevalier clash was beginning there were few vacant places in the arena. The north and south blocks were jammed to the limit with fans and the sections at either end, although they were the least desirable, filled up as the preliminary tussles progressed. The second and third balconies, too, were as full as the law would permit, and a ragged line of standees marked the furthest stretches of the throng. Conservatively estimated, there were upward of 11,000 spectators in the stadium.

Special to The New York Times.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., March 15.—Yale defeated Harvard this afternoon on the Randolph courts in a squash tennis match by the score of 6 games to 0. The Yale players had things all their own way except in one match, where Schoenhorn was forced to play three full sets to defeat Key, the score being 15—7, 12—15, 15—14. It was the first time that the two colleges had met in squash tennis.

Guillemot, a French Runner, Regarded as Olympic Winner

PARIS, March 15.—The French newspapers are devoting considerable space to victories achieved by France in sporting events last week. Guillemot, the crack French middle-distance runner, led a field of 223 of the best English competitors in a ten-mile race in Windsor Park, England, Yesterday a tennis team from Paris defeated Copenhagen with the greatest ease. The French Army Rugby team defeated a British Army team by 15 to 5.

The French sporting world looks to Guillemot to make a sweep of everything from the 5,000 meter run up to the Marathon at the Antwerp Olympic games. He is regarded here as a worthy successor to Jean Bouin, the noted runner who was killed during the war. He runs with the easy motion of Alfred Shrubb, the great English distance runner, and doubtless will force his opponents at the Olympic games to do their best up to fifteen miles.

MOORE IS WINNER OF ONE-MILE TITLE

Joe Moore of the Lake Placid Skating Club, international amateur sprint skating champion, last night added the Eastern indoor one mile title to his collection in the Brooklyn Ice Palace. In winning the title Moore showed his shining heels to eight rivals. The Lake Placid speeder finished well within himself in 3:01, the fastest mile recorded in the series of four heats necessary to decide the title.

A brilliant closing spurt, extended over the final two laps, gave Moore the title. For ten laps the Lake Placid star followed the pace set by Al Bach, 181st Street Ice Palace, a pace which carried the field around the ice at a dizzy whirl which several times threatened spills. Suddenly, out of the maze of closely bunched skaters, entering the eleventh lap, there loomed the meteor-like Moore. In a few strides he had displaced the leader and was launched on a bid for the title.

A spill spoiled a prospective victory for Moore in the half-mile title race, the other event on a card which attracted a crowd of more than 2,000. Moore was the favorite for this title, and his chances improved when he went through his preliminary and semi-final heats with flying colors. On the third lap of the final, however, a spill brought down four of the six contenders, including Moore, Jimmy Kieran, Bobby Hearn and Leslie Boyd. Al Leitch and William Murphy, unaffected by the tumble, continued at a rapid pace and had gained half a lap before Boyd, the first of the fallen skaters to rise, started in pursuit. The race was decided then and there, however, as far as it concerned the skaters who fell.

Leitch, increasing his pace in the final two laps, fought off a determined challenge by Murphy, and finished first by about two yards. A decision by the judges, however, disqualified Leitch from the title and placed him second to Murphy, who was awarded the race. The penalty was inflicted for an alleged foul.

Appel, Winston and Hyde Score in Harvard Club's Title Tourney.

The Harvard Club yesterday began its annual tournament for the squash tennis championship of the club, with an entry list of twenty-two, including three national titleholders of the past, John W. Appel, Jr., Eric S. Winston and Fillmore Van S. Hyde. All three advanced in the first day's play, although Hyde won his bracket by the default of J. W. Burden. Appel had some difficulty in putting out the veteran, W. Prentice Sanger, their second game going into extra points, after the opener had been decided with only two aces for the loser. Winston's victim was W. S. Seamans, who accumulated a total of only ten points, six in the first game and four in the second.

The summaries:

Divide Honors with Boston Players on Opening Day of Indoor Title Tourney.

With exceptionally few defaults and a general consistency of businesslike progress, the thirteenth annual tournament for the women's indoor tennis championship of the United States got under way at the 7th Regiment Armory yesterday, and before the afternoon was over two entire rounds had been completed in the senior event and a start made in the special competition for girls under 18.

Boston and New York divided honors in the opening rounds, two of the Hub entries, Miss Edith Sigourney and Miss Leslie Bancroft, coming through with flying colors, the former creating the sensation of the day by her defeat of the indoor title holders of 1916, Mrs. Frederick Schmitz, in straight sets. Mrs. Ingo Hartmann, Miss Clare Cassel, Mrs. W. H. Pritchard, Miss Martha Bayard, Mrs. Samuel H. Waring, Mrs. Helen Bernard Wolff, Miss Ceres Baker, Miss Caroma Winn, Mrs. Percy Wilbourne and Miss Helen Pollak were among the prominent local players to reach the third round, the last named advancing through the default of Miss Seavey of Kansas City, who was unable to get sufficient practice to do herself justice.

Miss Sigourney, a fellow-townswoman of the present champion, Mrs. George W. Wightman, showed at once that she would have to be counted among the serious contenders for the title by an impressive victory over Miss Alice Bayard, scored in straight sets. Mrs. Schmitz, however, had also begun well by defeating Miss Dorothy Cohen with the loss of only two games, showing an exceedingly steady game, and few believed that she could be eliminated by the Bostonian. To the surprise of the gallery, the latter ran through the first set to the one-sided tune of 6—2, and it was only in the second session that Mrs. Schmitz began to put up a real battle.

Here her steadiness accounted for a number of points, and she kept on even terms up to 5—all, when Miss Sigourney broke through her service and took the match at 8—6. It was a very pretty exhibition, although the loser seemed unable to call upon the potential speed of her shots, as she might have done with a little more practice.

Miss Bancroft had a harder time advancing, as both her matches went to three sets. In the opening round Miss Adele Cragin, who is usually too busy with committee work to worry very much about her own tennis, flashed the best game that she has shown in a long time, and actually drove her opponent off the court in a spectacular 6—1 victory for a start. Miss Bancroft was inclined to be wild at this stage, and the New Yorker's fast and accurate playing clearly disconcerted her. In the second set, however, the Boston left-hander began to find the range, and her drives carried more and more speed, besides watching the corners with great regularity. The match was squared at 6—2, and then Miss Bancroft, using everything in her repertoire, pulled out the decision in brilliant style without the loss of another game.

The summaries:

First Round—Miss Muriel Binzen won from Miss Lillian Schurman by default; Mrs. Frederick Schmitz defeated Miss Dorothy Cohen, 6—2, 6—0; Miss Edith Sigourney defeated Miss Alice Bayard, 6—2, 6—3; Mrs. Samuel H. Waring defeated Mrs. E. Dolmras, 6—0, 6—1; Mrs. C. Clark defeated Miss R. Marden, 6—0, 6—4; Mrs. B. F. Steng defeated Mrs. L. Mashelmer, 6—1, 6—3; Miss Louise Cattus defeated Mrs. G. T. Vaught, 7—5, 4—6, 6—3; Miss Leslie Bancroft defeated Miss Adele Cragin, 1—6, 6—2, 6—0; Mrs. M. B. Huff defeated Miss Florence Foud, 6—4, 6—4; Mrs. H. S. Billings defeated Miss L. Smidt, 6—3, 6—3; Mrs. Helen Bernard Wolff defeated Miss Augusta Wurm, 6—2, 6—6; Mrs. N. Dain defeated Mrs. J. Lawlor, 6—6, 6—7, 6—4; Miss Ceres Baker defeated Mrs. Helen Klein, 6—0, 6—1; Miss Caroma Winn defeated Mrs. F. Nesham, 5—6, 6—4, 6—4.

Pritchard defeated Miss G. Graham, 6—2, 6—0; Miss Martha Bayard defeated Miss Muriel Binzen, 6—4, 6—8, 6—2; Miss Edith Sigourney defeated Mrs. Schmitz, 6—2, 8—6; Mrs. Waring defeated Mrs. Clark, 6—0, 6—2; Mrs. Steng defeated Miss Cattus, 6—1, 6—3; Miss Leslie Bancroft defeated Mrs. Huff, 6—7, 6—0, 6—1; Mrs. Wolff defeated Mrs. Billings, 6—2, 6—4; Miss Ceres Baker defeated Mrs. Dain, 6—0, 6—0; Miss Caroma Winn defeated Miss M. Cochran Certain He Has Carpentier-Dempsey Bout

Confirmation of the report that Charles B. Cochran, English boxing promoter, had signed a new set of articles with Georges Carpentier, European heavyweight champion, for a bout against Jack Dempsey, to be held in Europe, was received here yesterday in a cablegram to THE NEW YORK TIMES. Under the terms of the new contract, Carpentier gives Cochran an option of his services until July next year. The English promoter proposes to hold the bout in Paris. Following is the cablegram:

"Supplementary agreement signed. Descamps agrees to box Dempsey only in Europe and only for me. Time extended to end of July, 1921. Descamps will confirm this. Propose to hold match in Paris.

"C. B. Cochran."

HAGEN WINS WITH 292.

Special to The New York Times.

BELLEAIR HEIGHTS, Fla., March 15. Walter Hagen of New York won the West Coast Open Golf Championship here today, when he finished the seventy-two holes in 292 strokes, leading his nearest rival, Leo Diegel, of Detroit, by twelve strokes.

Hagen was far in the lead after the second round. Jim Barnes began the morning round eight strokes behind, and by noon Hagen had picked up two more strokes, with a fine round of seventy-three, and started in the afternoon with a margin of ten strokes over the Cornishman.

Barnes played poorly in the last round and finished with an even eighty, which permitted Diegel, who made a 75, to pass him for second place.

PLATT IS SQUASH VICTOR.

Reaches Third Round in Yale Club Tourney.

Livingston Platt, H. R. Stern, Stuyvesant Wainwright, J. F. O'Rourke and C. J. MacGuire advanced yesterday to the third round of the Yale Club squash tennis championship, all winning their matches in straight games. Platt allowed R. W. Wolfe only five points in their match of two games, blanking him entirely in the opener. D. S. Baker, who was runner-up in this year's national handicap tournament, gave Stern a far harder battle, almost forcing the second game into extra points.

The summary:

Second Round—Livingston Platt defeated R. W. Wolfe, 15—0, 15—5; H. R. Stern defeated D. S. Baker, 15—5, 15—13; Stuyvesant Wainwright defeated S. H. Johnson, 15—5, 15—15; J. F. O'Rourke defeated J. O'Rourke, 15—12, 15—10; C. J. MacGuire defeated Reginald Roome, 15—5, 15—8.

PLANT EASY WINNER IN HANDICAP WALK

Willie Plant of the Morningside A. C., national walking champion, returned one of the fastest indoor performances of his career last night in winning the two-mile handicap walk, one of the principal attractions at the games of the 15th Regiment, National Guard, in the 22d Regiment Armory. Plant, starting from scratch, carried off the premier prize without really being extended, in the excellent time of 13:48 4-5. This time is among the fastest ever recorded for this distance indoors by an American walker. At the finish the national champion enjoyed an advantage of about twenty-five yards on Alexander Jessup, who was allowed a start of seventy-five seconds. Ted Neundorfer of the Todd Shipyards A. A., allowed a handicap of one minute, finished third, close on the heels of Jessup.

A surprise was furnished in the special 100-yard dash for the Major F. W. Cobb Memorial Trophy, when Frank Conway, local sprint champion, was defeated by Pete White, a colored sprinter. White scored his victory in spectacular fashion, just nosing Conway out at the tape. For fifty yards White, Conway and Roy Morse of the Salem-Crescent A. C., dashed down the board floor on practically even terms. Here White and Conway started to draw away in a battle for the premier prize.

Victory of Goulet and Magin in Six-Day Race Nets Them $7,500.

The total gross receipts at the six-day bicycle race last week in Madison Square Garden were $118,000, and, of this amount, the riders receive about $40,000, including the prizes offered by the management, expense money, and the special prizes and rewards donated by the fans for the winners of sprints. The prize money for the first seven riders totalled $15,000, ranging from $6,000 for the winning team down to $1,000 for the seventh combination.

Kaiser and Hill took away $3,000 as the second best combination, and the Dupuy-Hanley team carried off the third prize of $2,000. The prizes were distributed yesterday afternoon at the Garden.

FRANCKE WINS AT SQUASH.

The squash tennis players of the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity began a handicap tournament yesterday, under the direction of their professional coach, Stephen J. Feron, formerly of the Harvard Club. There are nineteen entries in the event, and the wide range of handicaps assures fairly even play throughout the tournament, which should be completed within a week's time.

Yesterday's feature match was played between the veteran polo star, R. T. Francke, and J. L. Feeny, the former winning in straight games at 15—4, 15—10, with a slightly larger handicap allowance. He showed exceptional promise for a comparative newcomer at the game.

First Round—G. E. Davidson (scratch) defeated N. J. Marsh, Jr. (plus 10 and one hand), 15—11, 15—12; W. W. Taylor (plus 7) defeated M. Crowell (plus 4 and one hand), 15—12, 15—10.

Second Round—F. A. Jenkins (minus 8, 2 on no-count) defeated F. M. Whelan (plus 4 and one hand), 15—10, 15—11; W. C. Becker (minus 6) won from A. K. Taylor (plus 10 and one hand) by default; E. C. Huntington, Jr. (plus 4 and one hand) defeated S. B. Warner (plus 10 and one hand), 15—11, 15—12; G. E. Davidson (scratch) defeated S. M. Smith (plus 7), 15—10, 15—13; W. W. SEEK TO ORGANIZE BIG HOCKEY LEGAUE

American and Canadian Cities to be Represented on Proposed Professional Circuit.

Special to The New York Times.

MONTREAL, March 15.—New York, Boston, Pittsburgh, Buffalo, Cleveland and Detroit will each have hockey teams in a new international league which will also include Montreal, Hamilton, Toronto and Ottawa clubs, if the plans laid before hockey people in these cities materialize.

An American promoter has been touring Canadian cities during the last few weeks with this aim in view. He looked over the arenas in the different cities and saw all the N. H. L. teams in play. He was greatly impressed with the commercial possibilities of the game and believes that, properly organized, it will boom from coast to coast and will develop keen international rivalry.

The players would nearly all have to be supplied by Canada at first, but it would not be long, in the promoter's view, before professional hockey caught on in the United States and players would soon be trained.

Both Montreal and Hamilton would have to erect new arenas, as the seating capacity is insufficient for the crowds the promoter believes he can draw. Some prominent hockey men are much interested in the scheme and nearly every player in the National Hockey League has been asked to pledge himself to the new international league.

STATEN ISLAND SELECTED.

Staten Island is the chosen locality for the metropolitan professional golfers to test their ability in the preliminaries to the P. G. A. championship, which will be held at Chicago in August. The local committee yesterday met at the offices, 306 Fifth Avenue, and decided to hold the qualifications over the links of the Richmond County Country Club and the Fox Hills Golf Club, both within hailing distance of each other on the island. The qualifying test will be at the customary thirty-six holes, one round to be played over each links.

As for a date, the local pros kept mum. The only definite decision made was to hold the trials some time during the first two weeks of July. The actual days will be governed by the intention to avoid conflicts with other local events. Until now only two events have been scheduled for the first half of July.

Be sure the make of truck you buy has behind it years of service. If the present model differs from last year's model, it is still an experiment.

No. 32 for 5 years served the Wanskuck Textile Mills of Providence, hauling raw materials and finished products between mill and freight stations. It was then purchased by the Pierce-Arrow Trucking Company, taking its place with a fleet of 6 Pierce-Arrows. New Rooms for Old—

"HELLO Frank," I said. "Did you get my wire to reserve my old room for me?"

"Yes sir," the clerk replied, throwing a key to the waiting bellboy, "but it's going to be a hard job to give you your old room. I don't think it can be done."

That disturbed me. For fifteen years I had been stopping once every six weeks at this hotel, and my old room had become mighty homelike. Besides that, I had some particularly good samples to show, and while the light in that room wasn't the best in the world, at least it was the best in the hotel.

"Why can't I have the old room, Frank?"

"That's a little hard to explain, sir," he replied. "Take this one anyway and tell me over the phone what you think of it. If you don't like it I'll see what I can do."

Leaving the elevator I followed the bellboy down the familiar corridor. Sure enough he stopped in front of my old number—436. What the deuce is the matter with Frank, I thought. The 'hop' opened the door, and I could see the dim shape of the bed—everything the same so far. Click! and by George, it wasn't old 436 after all—yes it was, too, but you could hardly believe it. Bright and cheerful? Why, it looked like a runaway boy's recollection of his mother's kitchen at suppertime.

"No, sah, it's just exactly your old room only except old man light in the ceiling. Everybody what comes here says new paper or new somethin' but they nevah seem to think of old light in the ceiling—yes sir, and that's what does it. They call it Duplexalite. Mr. Frank wanted to surprise you."

He did. I couldn't believe that the light alone made all the difference. I was just going to climb up and take the thing to pieces and see why, when there was a knock at the door.

It was Mr. Griege, one of the buyers I had come to see. "Hello, old timer," he greeted me. "How are you—why, what has happened to this old hole? This new wallpaper makes me feel as if I might really buy something."

I did some rapid thinking. Don't wake him up. "Let me show you a few nice things, just to pass the time," and I got the samples out of the bag.

I'll admit those were good samples. But they certainly took on additional beauty under that light. Griege said, "Why didn't you show me stuff like this last season?" "I did, but you wouldn't see it." I didn't attempt to explain why he could see it better this time, not just then. I was too busy with the order book. When he got through spending his firm's money I let him in on the truth about the Duplexalite. Like me, he wouldn't believe it at first. So we both climbed up and gave it a good inspection.

There was a flat glass diffusing disc at the bottom, and a curved metal deflector, with a Mazda C lamp inside. The deflector spread most of the light throughout the room, lighting up even the far corners, while other rays came directly downward through the diffusing disc making an extra intensity for reading—or showing samples!

I jumped down and started for the telephone. "Where are you going?" he asked.

"I'm going to wire my wife to stop the painter who's due at my house tomorrow and tell her to buy Duplexalites and redecorate with light instead."

SHIPOWNERS FIRM AS STRIKERS PARLEY

SOUND LINES AFFECTED

Fall River and Norwich Boat Service Hampered—Forty Women Workers Quit.

With the strike of the coastwise longshoremen reported to have spread to the Hampton Roads district and Charleston as well as to Boston and Savannah and also to the New York piers of the Sound boat lines, representatives of the longshoremen and the steamship interests held a conference yesterday afternoon in the office of H. B. Walker, President of the Old Dominion Line, at which the longshoremen gave notice of a modification of their demands from $1 an hour regular time and $2 an hour overtime to 80 cents regular time and $1.20 overtime, which is the rate of pay received by the deep sea longshoremen.

The steamship managers remained firm in their determination not to consider an increase in wages from 65 cents an hour regular time and $1 an hour overtime until they are permitted to increase their freight rates, a petition having been presented to the Interstate Commerce Commission for an increase of 25 per cent. T. V. O'Connor, President of the International Longshoremen's Association, who came here yesterday from Buffalo to take charge of the strike, said that he did not look for an immediate settlement. He has, however, joined the steamship companies in an effort to obtain an increase in freight rates.

E. A. Kelley, Assistant General Manager of the Clyde and Mallory Lines, announced last night that the passenger service between New York and Charleston and Jacksonville will be continued. This is the season of the year when the passenger traffic between New York and the Southern ports is at its height, and four boats will be continued in service, but no freight will be handled. Three of the boats are oil burners and the other, the Lenape, will coal at a Southern port.

Steamship men say that no perishable freight is held on board the steamers or the terminals here with the exception of one steamer which arrived yesterday, and arrangements have already been made to unload the perishable freight. Ordinarily considerable perishable freight is handled on these steamers, but an embargo was placed on perishables as soon as the strike started.

There are twenty steamers tied up in the harbor as a result of the strike and it is said that with the exception of the Clyde Line no effort will be made to operate any of the coastwise boats.

The strike spread yesterday to the Sound lines, those affected being the Fall River and Norwich Lines. The Colonial Line to Providence, R. I., had not been affected last night, but the management did not know how soon its longshoremen would join the strike. The Fall River Line has had its freight service curtailed since the strike started, but has been able to keep its passenger boats running. Four hundred members of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks engaged on the docks of the Fall River Lines struck in sympathy with the longshoremen on account, it was said, of the employment of non-union longshoremen. Forty girls and women, employed as stenographers, checkers, bookkeepers, switchboard operators, &c., also struck.

The Norwich Line expected that a passenger boat for Norwich would get away last night. The freight service between this port and New Bedford has been interfered with seriously.

John F. Riley, President of the New York District Council of the International Longshoremen, said last night that the strike would spread on Thursday to the United Fruit Company's lines if the company continued to employ non-union men. He said also that the union teamsters, chauffeurs and helpers in New York City would not handle freight billed through any of the coastwise steamship companies.

The strike of workers on tugboats, ferry boats and lighters, which was considered imminent Saturday by some union leaders, appears to have been avoided. F. Paul Vaccarelli, Business Agent of the Harbor Boatmen's Union, representing the deckhands, oilers, firemen, cooks, floatmen, bridgemen, bridgemasters, dispatchers, porters and towermen, received a letter from the General Managers' Association stating that the demands for an increase in wages had been referred to the Association of Marine Departments and that H. L. Joyce, the Chairman of the organization, would confer with him.

Thomas B. Healey, Business Manager of the Marine Engineers' Beneficial Association, received a similar letter for the marine engineers, masters, mates and pilots. Both Mr. Vaccarelli and Mr. Healey said they expected Mr. Joyce to call a conference the latter part of this week.

Great Lakes Unions Demand Rise.

CHICAGO, March 15.—The three unions of Great Lakes seamen—marine firemen, marine cooks and sailors—have submitted demands for a 30 per cent. wage increase and the eight-hour day to representatives of the ship-owning interests. Victor Olander, President of the Lake Seamen's Union, announced today. No time was set for an answer, but settlement of the demand is expected before the beginning of the season, usually the latter part of April.

ARMY FOODSTUFFS SEIZED.

Captain Peterson Starts Raids on Alleged Profiteers.

Several hundred cans of tomatoes and peas and other army foodstuffs purchased from the Army Quartermaster Retail Stores, at the old Astor Library, on Lafayette Street, and being offered for resale at alleged excessive prices were confiscated yesterday afternoon by Captain Jaffray Peterson, officer in charge of the store, and taken in an army truck to the stores. A quantity of the goods was taken from the cellar of a grocery store conducted by Mrs. Pauline Cosenzu, 246 Elizabeth Street, and other articles were taken from the store of Serafino Geraci, 29 Stanton Street.

Captain Peterson explained that in the army stores the Government had been limiting the number of cans of peas and tomatoes to a customer and sold them expressly for household use. Recently the number of cans has been increased to a case, as the stores are soon to close. Captain Peterson said several storekeepers had seen how cheaply the foods were being sold and sent children to increase their stock in order later to make large profits. He said the raids yesterday marked the beginning of a campaign to put a stop to such transactions.

BERGDOLL DEFENSE TO OPEN

Government Completes Its Evidence in Desertion Case.

After ten days, the Government completed its case yesterday against Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, under charges of desertion before a general court martial on Governors Island. Bergdoll's counsel, who will open their case tomorrow morning, have refused to divulge their line of defense. Thus far, they have opposed the admission in evidence of the draft records, and have contended that Bergdoll was not legally inducted into military service and therefore not subject to military law, and have refused to accept the verdict of the board of army medical officers who found Bergdoll sane.

The prosecution closed yesterday with the attempt to prove through David Carvalho, a handwriting expert, that Bergdoll was the author of a number of derisive postcards received by Philadelphia draft officials during the Summer of 1918, when the country was being searched for Bergdoll.

PAY TEACHERS MORE, OFFICIALS DEMAND

The Commissioners of Education of nine States, following an all-day conference on the alarming shortage of teachers, held at the Chamber of Commerce yesterday, adopted resolutions calling upon Boards of Education to increase salary schedules to meet the increased cost of living and retain in and attract to the teaching profession capable men and women. While the conference was concerned primarily with the low salaries which have caused such an enormous shortage of teachers throughout the country, it dealt also with the ultimate effect that this shortage is bound to have on the education of the youth of the nation. It was the concensus that not only must salaries be increased but more humane methods must be adopted in dealing with teachers.

The resolutions pointed out that experienced teachers were resigning in large numbers to enter more remunerative fields; that an ever increasing number of teaching positions could not be filled; that many more could not be filled with adequately educated teachers; that the number of persons preparing for teaching in the training schools had been reduced by one-half within the last six years; and that the number of students preparing to enter the training schools had been alarmingly reduced within the last year.

It further was pointed out that the colleges generally report that practically none of their students are preparing for teaching and that Commissioners had been compelled to lower materially the qualification standards. The resolution continues:

"Resolved, That the members of the Commissioners' Conference here assembled urge upon Boards of Education to increase existing salary schedules to a point that will meet the present cost of living and serve to attract to the teaching profession as a life work capable men and women who are now entering more remunerative positions, and to urge the several States so to supplement their contributions to the support of the schools as to equalize the financial burdens of education and assure an equality of educational provision, to the end that it shall be made possible for every child to be taught by a teacher who has had at least two years of normal school training, based upon a high school education."

The resolutions were signed by Calvin N. Kendall of New Jersey, Augustus Thomas of Maine, Ernest W. Butterfield of New Hampshire, M. B. Hillegas of Vermont, Payson Smith of Massachusetts, Walter R. Ranger of Rhode Island, Thomas E. Finegan of Pennsylvania, M. P. Shawkey of West Virginia and John H. Finley of New York.

Dr. Finley said that New York would try to meet the situation in part by the establishment of a Teachers' Platsburg this Summer. For this purpose $35,000 already has been appropriated, and college graduates will be urged to take courses of six weeks at the normal schools with a view to entering the schools of the State as teachers. Dr. Finley added that the appeal to the college graduates would be made on the ground that it was a patriotic duty for them to come to the aid of the schools in the present emergency.

While the schools of New Jersey had not been forced to close on account of a shortage of teachers, State Commissioner Calvin Kendall said that between 1,800 and 2,000 teachers were admitted to be below the usual standard. He said public opinion supported readjustment in teachers' salaries. There ought to be a committee in every township whose duties would be to make the teachers have a good time, said Mr. Kendall. He declared he would not blame a teacher who, on going to a new place where no one was at the train to meet her, decided to throw up the job.

In the New York City schools, said Associate Superintendent William J. O'Shea, the shortage of teachers had forced the turning out daily of 14,000 pupils during the period between Jan. 28 and Feb. 17. He said that 1,004 teachers had resigned and 1,391 had been retired. Of those who resigned 704 were between the ages of twenty and forty and 317 above forty years. Of those resigning 90.3 per cent. had been rated B plus, which is excellent, or A which is superexcellent.

Anning S. Prall, President of the New York City Board of Education, said he believed it was time to fix a standard of value on the teacher or the profession of teaching, and William G. Willcox, former President of the Board of Education, believed that much could be done to keep teachers satisfied if more uniformity were created in the salary schedules in all States. Mr. Willcox found encouragement in the crisis which he said would result in good for the schools whose need will be appreciated and more adequately met in the future.

J. R. Waldo, head of the Kalamazoo, Mich., Normal School, said it was time now to raise the standards for teachers, not to lower them. He thought New York City was the one city that should take a hopeful view and set the pace for the rest of the country. Mr. Waldo said all unfit teachers should be legislated out of their positions.

Sees Peril in Industrial Courts.

The American Labor Party at a meeting at the Labor Temple, 243 East Eighty-fourth Street, last night adopted a resolution condemning the Knight bill now before the Legislature which provides for the establishment of industrial courts for the settlement of labor disputes, fashioned after the Kansas law. The bill, the resolution set forth, would "rob the worker of the right to strike for redress of grievances" and "means autocracy and industrial despotism" and is "dangerous and subversive of democracy."

The New Telephone Ringing Signal

You will hear it in your telephone receiver after you have given the number to the operator and while you are waiting for the called telephone to answer. It is a low burr-r-ing sound lasting several seconds, followed by a distinct pause and then a renewal of the burr-r-ing sound.

It starts as soon as the connection is established and keeps up until the telephone you called answers or the operator tells you they do not answer.

This ringing signal is designed to give the calling party definite audible notice that the work of putting up the connection has been performed by the operators concerned.

Complying with the request of the Newspaper Publishers Association to cooperate in the conservation of newsprint during the present emergency, this advertisement has been reduced from the usual 3-col. 10-in. size to 2-col. 10-in. size.

A Madonna of the Sick

Thousands of mothers in New York City do not get any nursing or medical care when baby arrives. In many of the thousands of cases we do reach, medical care and nursing both before and after birth, have often been the means of saving life, as well as insuring health. This work, which is one of the most important functions of the Visiting Nurse Service, is being carried on day in and day out all through the year.

Our nurses keep watch over the expectant mother, visit the homes to give instruction in hygiene, diet, clothing and preparation for the coming baby. They are present to help the attending doctor when baby arrives, and they watch over mother and child during the weeks that follow. This care is one of the greatest single factors in protecting the new-born baby.

Don't let the women of this city, while doing the greatest of all creative work, vainly call for help because you have not given your support.

WILL YOU Send a Contribution TODAY?

Send a check today, with the prescription for happiness. $1,450 will support a nurse in the field for one year. If you cannot give that sum, will you contribute as much as you can—and NOW? Every able man, woman and child in New York City should support this great humanitarian work.

The Visiting Nurse Service Covers this Great Territory

Working from 14 centers, almost 200 nurses now serve on its staff. In one year 302,543 visits were made into homes in all parts of the city, east and west, north and south, from the Battery to Yonkers. 43,946 sick people received the care of these nurses; people of every race, creed and color, tiny newborn babies, and bed-ridden old men and women; pneumonia and typhoid patients and children, sick or injured.

Neckwear Still Subdued.

Large retailers of men's neckwear still show no signs of exploiting more brilliant colors and patterns. Some of the leading merchants continue to restrict their displays to dark, neatly figured effects. In one store a window is given over to showing a black scarf with white polka dots. But even this seems extreme in comparison with other displays where small, embroidered effects remain favorites. There are some showings of diagonal stripes, but usually in subdued colorings and not in brilliantly contrasting shades. The popular pattern is somewhat wider than it was.

Gray Will Sell Trimmings.

If the prediction of a prominent factor in the dress goods business that gray will be one of the leading shades for next Fall comes true, sellers of trimmings and dress accessories see prospects of good sales ahead. It is explained that gray is a color that permits the use of other shades in trimmings to the extent that no other does. For this reason it is expected that a lively demand for trimmings of one kind or another should develop as a result of the popularity of gray. Dealers in such articles have very little to complain of in the present demand, as the absence of a definite and arbitrary "silhouette" in women's fashions has meant a larger call for trimmings.

Retail grocers find the same cause for complaint in the so-called "allotment" system as do merchants in other lines. One of their spokesmen points out that the pro rata plan benefits the big jobber to the disadvantage of the retail trade. The preliminary canvas of retail orders by a packer, it is explained, acts merely as a gauge of the demand. Once this is determined and the total orders found satisfactory, a distribution of equal shares of the product is made to the jobber and to the retail trade. Then it becomes necessary for the retail dealer to go to the middleman for the other 50 per cent. of purchases necessary for his business requirements. In the corset trade something of the same pro rata arrangement is the subject of general complaint.

Score One for the Seal.

That classic joke of the retail dry goods trade, in which a female clerk in the book department referred a prospective customer to the fur department for Lamb's Tales, has at last got a rival. A certain local fur dealer, desiring to keep posted to the minute on the activities of the industry at large, recently subscribed for a Canadian press clipping service. Yesterday, on going over some clippings that had come in the early mail, he found one about an auction sale of art objects. Wondering why a clipping of that kind should be sent to a fur man, he was about to throw it into his waste basket when his eye caught the words: "Washington's seal brought $1,600."

Sales and Advertising.

In the opinion of a local department store executive, the principle of "buying money for advertising rather than paying it to the Government" now seems to be applied to sales. He explained that there is a well-founded idea in retail circles that from now on more sales will be staged than ever before. The object will be, he said, to increase the number of customers, so that the store may have acquired many more of them when excess profits taxes are removed. He stated that this policy would have been adopted earlier only the merchandise scarcity prevented it.

Increases Its Membership.

The National Garment Retailers' Association has increased its membership by the addition of 115 stores. The new members are located in all parts of the country, fifty-six being located in the South. The campaign for new members started on Feb. 15, following the successful fashion show presented by the Couturiers' Division of the organization. Another fashion exhibition at which leading society women will act as mannequins is announced for April 6 to 14 will be given at the Hotel Commodore for the benefit of the relief work being done in the devastated regions of France.

Gray Goods Demand Fair.

Gray goods were in fair demand in this market yesterday, with prices firm to higher. In the printcloth business of the day were sales of 39-inch 68-72s for March-May delivery at 25 cents. While April lots of 38½-inch 64-60s brought 23 cents, those for delivery during the remainder of this month fetched a quarter of a cent more. March-April shipments of 38½-inch 60-48s moved at 22 cents. Sheetings were stronger in price, April-May business having been done on 4-7ths yesterday at 21 cents and on 5-8ths at 17 cents. Buyers again paid 41 cents for March-April 39-inch 64-104, 4.20-yard sateens.

Organdies for Summer Hats.

Present indications in the millinery trade point to a wide use of organdie in Summer hats this year. Sometimes by itself, and sometimes in combination with soft taffets, hats of this material are already being shown in the local market. One very chic model combines organdie with taffeta in an effective black and white color scheme. A rather small, close-fitting, scoop-shaped hat shows rows of plain organdie, about an inch wide, alternated with rows of shirred taffeta. They are joined by means of a feather stitch that gives an attractive openwork effect. A little rose cluster of organdie and taffeta flowers, appearing on the under brim just above the prospective wearer's ear, is the only trimming.

Selling Our Cutlery Abroad.

Such rapid strides have been made in the development of export business in American-made cutlery in the last few years that it is now a simple matter to obtain it in practically any part of the world. Not only are American pocket knives, razors, scissors, &c., retailed in South America, Asia and various European countries, but travelers returning from England say that London shops are now showing American knives side by side with the best Sheffield goods they have in stock. Some English shops are said to be displaying the American-made cutlery than Britain, due, it is asserted, to the high quality and reasonable prices of the former. With the growing recognition of the worthiness of American cutlery products throughout the world, the "Made in U. S. A." stamp on a knife or razor has assumed an important place as the "Made in Sheffield" stamp held before the war.

Will It Come to This?

With Easter less than three weeks away, more than one member of the local cutting-up trades, particularly among those who specialize in the manufacture of coats and suits, is wondering if the warm weather that seems to be needed to stimulate the consumer demand for Spring garments will get here in time. Unless it does, it appears that the week following Easter will see quite a little figurative wailing and gnashing of teeth. Yesterday's brightness brought out about the best business at retail that has been seen for some time and, with retailers buying for the present hand-to-mouth style, the results of the improved demand are expected to manifest themselves in wholesale circles in the next day or two. It was said yesterday, however, that another heavy snowstorm, or a prolonged cold "spell" before Easter would be a serious matter to several manufacturers.

Houses Inquires as to Shortage and Preference in Distribution.

WASHINGTON, March 15.—Information as to shortages in print paper and whether any newspapers or periodicals have obtained preference over other publications in the supply of paper was requested of the Department of Commerce today by the House.

Representative Harrison, Democrat, of Virginia, said that suspension of many small papers was inevitable unless action was taken to relieve the situation. Newspapers not having annual contracts, said Representative Mann, Republican, of Illinois, have been forced to pay unusually high prices for paper.

Strike in 19 Fall River Mills.

FALL RIVER, Mass., March 15.—A strike of doffers and other spinning-room operatives, affiliated with the United Textile Workers, an A. F. of L. organization, went into effect in nineteen cotton mills here today. Most of the mills remained in operation as only a comparatively small part of the help in each was concerned in the strike. There was no disorder at the mill gates.

The Shelton Looms Bar Woven Furs

A SOUND BUSINESS PRINCIPLE

IT is sound business to place the Shelton Looms Label in every garment made of these fine fabrics.

The garment buyer knows that it is a symbol of quality. The consumer immediately recognizes it as a mark of acknowledged fabric superiority.

Shelton Looms Synthetic Furs possess no irregularities as do animal furs. They are uniformly woven—every yard wears alike—yet their similarity in appearance to animal fur is astounding.

Every garment made of Shelton Looms Material should bear the Shelton Looms Label.

Man for Texas

A company producing a line of staple bleached cotton fabrics, suitings and special cloths, selling direct to the large retailers, is open to consider the offering of the State of Texas on a commission basis to one who is now carrying non-conflicting lines, understands cotton piece goods, and is well acquainted with retail buyers. To the right man this should prove a most acceptable side line, as the cloths we make are in demand the year round, and we give excellent co-operation. In making application give particulars, with experience, lines now carried, territories covered and references. Address D 145 Times Downtown.

Dancer's Wife Seeks Divorce.

George Hoffmeister, known on the stage as George Harcourt, who was dancing partner of Joan Sawyer for several years, was sued for a divorce in the Supreme Court yesterday by Mrs. Louise V. Hoffmeister, who asked a separation some years ago. The courts awarded her $15 a week alimony, and in 1917 she had her husband arrested while he was dancing with Miss Sawyer because $1,185 alimony was unpaid. He made a settlement and was released.

M'MULLIN INDICTED FOR MURDER; IN CELL

CALLED A "STOOL PIGEON"

Detective Says He Was Employed by Lusk Committee and Sought Police Job.

Coincident with the indictment yesterday by the additional Grand Jury of Stewart N. McMullin, prohibition enforcement agent, on a charge of murder in the first degree, for the shooting of Henry Carlton, chauffeur, during a raid last Thursday night in a tenement house in East Seventy-sixth Street, it was asserted that McMullin had been employed as a "stool pigeon" by the Lusk legislative committee which investigated anarchist activities in this State, and that he subsequently offered his services as a "stool pigeon" at the Detective Bureau in Police Headquarters.

According to an official of the Detective Bureau, about three months ago Ray W. Finch, formerly connected with the Department of Justice, and who acted as chief investigator of the Lusk committee, introduced McMullin to a detective. Finch, it was explained, informed the detective that McMullin had been recently released from State prison and that he had been employed by the committee to obtain information about anarchists.

"We're cleaning up our affairs," Finch was alleged to have informed the detective, "and I thought this fellow would be of service to you as a 'stool pigeon.' He's a clever fellow, and I think he can give you a good line on what a lot of crooks he knows in the city are doing."

The detective asked McMullin if he had done a "bit" in prison, and he is alleged to have replied in the affirmative, and declared that he was willing to aid the police of the city in getting information about "some of the cleverest thieves in the city." He told the detective he was sentenced to Sing Sing Prison from Westchester County for a term of from six to nine years for holding up a railroad ticket agent above the city line. "I was drunk when we pulled the job off," he is alleged to have told the detective. The detective asked him if he knew Frank Thompson, a swindler whom the detective had sent to Sing Sing several years before, and McMullin is alleged to have replied: "Sure, I live with him now in West Twenty-third Street, near Seventh Avenue. Do you want any dope on him? He's up to something right now. I can find out what it is for you, but you must put me on the payroll."

The detective is understood to have given McMullin his home telephone number and instructed him to call him up "any time you hear of anything good." The next day McMullin appeared at the Detective Bureau at Police Headquarters and offered his services as a "stool pigeon," but, it was explained yesterday, "there was a wild stare in the man's eyes" which caused the officials in the Detective Bureau to decide they didn't want to trust him.

After his release on $10,000 bail in the Night Court Saturday night, on the homicide charge, McMullin called up the detective at his home, and said he wanted to see him on an important matter at 11 o'clock that night. The detective refused to see him, and McMullin asked him to meet him the next day, but the detective declined to make an appointment with him.

Mr. Finch denied last night that McMullin was employed by the Lusk committee in any capacity. "Did McMullin say that?" he asked. He was told the information came from another source, and he replied: "You had better ask him about that."

McMullin was indicted for the Carlton murder when he was being arraigned before Magistrate Harris in the Yorkville Court on the homicide charge made against him by Policeman Neville of the East Sixty-seventh Street Station, who arrested him soon after the shooting of Carlton. The Magistrate adjourned the hearing in the morning when he was informed by Assistant District Attorney O'Shaughnessy that District Attorney Swann was in possession of evidence received from L. P. Davis, District Attorney of Westchester County, which revealed that McMullin, under the name of John Conway, was on July 25, 1913, sentenced to Sing Sing Prison by Judge Platt at White Plains on his plea of guilty to participating in the holdup of Edward Morrisey, ticket agent of the Pelham station of the New York Central, soon after midnight on June 15, 1913.

Refuses to Reduce Bail.

John E. Joyce, Assistant United States Attorney, appeared as counsel for McMullin and demanded that his bail of $10,000 be canceled, and that he be placed in the custody of the Federal Government. "I will adjourn this hearing until this afternoon," replied the Magistrate. "If the District Attorney produces evidence that McMullin served time in State prison I shall not reduce his bail. Had I known that he was an ex-convict when McMullin was arraigned before me last Friday, I should not have released him in $10,000 bail."

When the hearing began before the Magistrate in the afternoon, Assistant District Attorney O'Shaughnessy informed the Court that an indictment for murder in the first degree had been returned against McMullin, and the Magistrate immediately discharged him, and he was taken in charge by Detective Skelly of the East Sixty-seventh Street Station and hurried down to the District Attorney's office. When the detective reached the Criminal Court Building with McMullin he learned that Judge Malone, who had issued a bench warrant for McMullin when the Grand Jury returned the murder indictment, had adjourned court. John F. Joyce, Assistant District Attorney in charge of the Homicide Bureau, ordered McMullin looked up in the Tombs.

Before McMullin was taken to a cell Mr. Swann's aid asked him if he had served six years in State prison for the Westchester Station holdup, but Federal Prosecutor Joyce refused to permit him to answer the question. The head of the Homicide Bureau then showed McMullin a photograph of "John Conway," who was sent to prison for the holdup, and asked him to identify it as that of himself, but McMullin refused to reply on the advice of the Federal prosecutor. "He refuses to say anything," announced the Federal prosecutor after his namesake had asked McMullin a dozen questions, to which he received no reply.

The Federal prosecutor then went to Judge Malone's chambers in the Criminal Court Building and requested that McMullin, whom he described as his client, be released from the Tombs on bail. Judge Malone said that while it is discretionary with a Judge to release a person indicted for murder on bail, he had never done so and would not do so in McMullin's case, even though he was a Government employe. Assistant District Attorney Joyce then announced that McMullin would be arraigned in General Sessions at 10 o'clock next Wednesday morning for pleading on the murder indictment.

It took the Grand Jury less than an hour to return the indictment against McMullin. Assistant District Attorneys Joyce and Ryttenberg presented the evidence to the jury. Among the witnesses who testified before that body were Carlo Carini, his wife, Anna, and their daughter, Maslvina, in whose apartment at 234 East Seventy-sixth Street Carlton was shot in the head by McMullin. Carini and Benjamin Golofsky, a chauffeur of 125 East 113th Street, now are under $5,000 bail in the Federal Court for selling $735 worth of alleged whisky and wine to McMullin and two other Prohibition Enforcement Agents, which sale led up to the killing of Carlton by McMullin.

Other witnesses called were Policeman Charles J. Reynolds of the West 152d Street Station, who encountered McMullin on the stairs three floors below the Carini apartment, and to whom McMullin declared Carlton had tried to stab him before McMullin shot him in the back of the head, and Policeman Neville of the East Sixty-seventh Street Station, who took McMullin in custody after Reynolds had disarmed him. Reynolds declared before Magistrate Harris, when McMullin was arraigned last Friday, that he could find no knife in the Carini apartment such as McMullin declared Carlton attempted to use on him.

No splinters or sharp edges—that's why freight handlers are willing to handle a corrugated or fibre shipping case far more carefully than a wooden case

Made to meet the tests of transportation in 1920

A MILLION dollars a week lost in shipping! That is the average amount paid weekly by our railroads and express companies in loss-and-damage claims.

It's not all the carriers' fault, by any means. Immensely increased production and limited carrying facilities mean unavoidable congestion and overloading. These conditions impose terrific tests on every shipment—from the time it leaves your factory until its delivery to the dealer. Unless a wide margin of safety has been established, the shipping case will give way under the strain.

That is why it is so dangerous today to ship in cases which merely comply with the traffic regulations—to feel that the boxmaker's certificate alone is an adequate guarantee. Today, more than ever, your shipping cases should be designed specifically to carry your goods. They should be built by an expert maker who can study your individual problem, and construct cases which exactly fill your needs.

Solving shipping problems for the leaders in every industry

Because of its broad experience in solving shipping problems for the leaders in every industry, the Robert Gair Company is especially qualified to offer expert assistance and advice.

We can decide without prejudice whether your goods should be carried in corrugated or fibre cases—for we manufacture both. Often, by rearranging the units within the case, we can cut your freight costs considerably. We can determine exactly what the weight and dimensions of your cases should be.

With our fifty-five years of printing experience, we can reproduce your identifying trade-mark in colors on every case—thus adding advertising value and affording extra protection against loss in transit. And the cases which we design for you will meet even abnormal strains safely, and minimize delivery failures.

The Gair Unit Service

The ability to meet all demands for highest quality or greatest quantity is characteristic of Robert Gair Company's four departments—Folding boxes, Labels, Shipping cases, Window display advertising.

Because the greatest merchandisers of the country recognize this ability, more than a billion dollars' worth of merchandise was carried last year in Gair folding boxes, in Gair shipping cases, under labels made by the Robert Gair Company.

We control the whole process of manufacture, from wood-pulp to finished product. We operate our own paper-mills, make our own inks and glues, maintain our own art, engraving, printing, lithographing departments. Our chemistry department regulates and improves our processes, and tests our finished products. We operate the largest plant of its kind in the world.

With its facilities, we are prepared to offer a complete service for packaging and displaying your product—folding boxes, labels, shipping cases, window display advertising—giving unity to your product from factory to consumer.

STATE BUDGET BILL FOR $74,998,603

NEW HIGH RECORD SET

Expenditures Planned Estimated at $14,000,000 More Than Revenue.

CASH BALANCE TO BE USED

Salary Increases and Higher Cost of Materials and Construction Amount to Over $11,000,000.

ALBANY, March 15. — The annual Budget bill, carrying appropriations totaling $74,998,603, was introduced in the Legislature tonight by Senator Henry M. Sage and Assemblyman H. Edmund Machold, Chairmen of the Financial Committees. To this amount must be added the total of appropriation bills already passed, aggregating $4,942,-281, excluding highway appropriations. The leaders hope to keep all appropriations of the present session to within a grand total of $116,885,879, a new high record. The estimated total revenues of the State for the fiscal year are $122,-973,037, including a direct tax of $14,-868,984, and an estimated cash balance of $19,868,553.

"Estimating our revenues at $103,-000,000 and our expenditures at almost $117,000,000," Senator Sage and Assemblyman Machold said, in an explanatory statement, "makes our appropriation almost $14,000,000 higher than our current revenue. The only reason that we can make these appropriations this year without seeking further revenue is that we have a large cash balance. This condition will not occur next year, because in case our revenues are as estimated, our $19,000,000 cash balance will be reduced to less than $6,000,000.

"The total appropriations made last year were $95,868,000. It is estimated that the total appropriations this year will be $116,885,879.

"Messrs. Sage and Machold, in explaining this items of increase, said that this year personal service charges would be $4,683,000 more than last year. Other increases as compared with last year follow: Maintenance and operation, the big increased cost of materials, $4,305,-000; cost of construction, $2,644,000; appropriations for highways, $4,371,000.

Regarding the increase in personal service the statement said:

"We have increased substantially the salary of a number of positions which can be regarded as among the higher paid where we felt that simple justice was being done. In the lower paid positions we have made as a base the salary of last year with the bonus added, and have made reasonable increases where justified beyond that base."

Concerning construction the Chairmen said they felt that in view of the greatly increased cost of labor and building material "no work should be carried on by the State which is not emergently necessary."

"It is probable," they added, "that the revenues of the State this year will be higher than for several years to come unless new means of taxation are devised or the rate of the income and direct taxes are increased."

Russian Trade Delegation to be Admitted to England

LONDON, March 15.—Replying to a question in the House of Commons today Premier Lloyd George announced that the Government would permit the visit of a delegation of the Russian Co-operative Societies, subject to the right to exclude individuals.

In this connection the Premier emphasized that Maxim Litvinoff, the Bolshevist Assistant Commissioner of Foreign Affairs, could not be admitted because on a previous occasion he had taken advantage of his diplomatic privilege to engage in political propaganda in England.

The Premier added that it must be clearly understood that the delegation would be forced to confine its work to commercial lines.

ANDERSON DEMANDS ASSEMBLY INQUIRY

Fights Plan to Have Albany County Investigate Anti-Saloon League.

WARNING SENT TO SWEET

Speaker Told Socialists Will Be Reseated If He Defeats 3.50 Beer Bill.

ALBANY, March 15.—William H. Anderson, State Superintendent of the New York Anti-Saloon League, came to the Capitol tonight breathing defiance against the Assembly which has adopted a resolution to investigate his own activities and those of the league. It was his first visit since the resolution, presented by Assemblyman Louis A. Cuvillier, was adopted.

While Mr. Anderson remained one of the most conspicuous figures in the Capitol corridors and lobbies during the night session of the Legislature, a publicity agent of the League was handing out to the newspaper correspondents copies of a statement in which he made reference to a rumored plan on the part of the Assembly leaders to "duck" the proposed probe of the League and its State superintendent by calling on the District Attorney of Albany County to investigate actions cited in the Cuvillier resolution against Mr. Anderson and other agents of the League who have been engaged in prohibition lobbying at the Capitol.

Mr. Anderson in his statement branded the plan as "cowardly," and he would fight it to the end, and intimated that the Anti-Saloon League had some facts regarding the Assembly that it was anxious to have brought out through the medium of the proposed inquiry before the Assembly Judiciary Committee.

"The Anti-Saloon League is ready to stand or fall on the facts brought out in an honest, thorough investigation," said Mr. Anderson. "How about the Assembly and those responsible for it?"

"It would be both cowardly and dishonest for the Assembly now to duck the investigation of the Anti-Saloon League by referring the matter to the District Attorney and the Grand Jury of Albany County. It would be dishonest because the Grand Jury hears only one side and the league would be deprived of the chance to get the facts in its favor into the record before the matter is dropped. It would be cowardly because it would be an effort to allow the Assembly to escape the public condemnation that will follow open proof that there is no justification for its attack upon this agency of the Churches.

"It is already the sworn duty of the District Attorney to act if the law has been violated, without any prompting from the Assembly.

Charges "Deal" in Assembly.

"Failure to appropriate enough money and to go through this matter to the end will be a confession, of course, that there is nothing against the league. But that is not enough. We want a chance, under conditions where our every right is protected, to show the things that are in the league's favor. The mere fact that the wets have failed to make a case against us does not destroy the league's right to make one in its own behalf. We want a chance publicly to refute the "witnesses" against us. We want the conclusive proof that will be supplied by investigation by a Republican Assembly on motion of a Tammany member of the deal between Tammany and Republican leaders."

Assemblyman Cuvillier said tonight that a number of Assemblymen, among them many Republicans, who favor legislation legalizing the sale of beer and light wines, would serve formal notice on Speaker Sweet tomorrow that, unless he kept his hands off and did nothing to obstruct the enactment of a beer and wine measure, he would find the five Socialist Assemblymen who have been under suspension since the opening of the session, returned to their seats because there would not be enough votes to throw them out.

Fate of Bill Up to Sweet.

"If the Speaker keeps his hands off there will be enough votes to pass a bill to legalize the sale of beer and light wines," said Colonel Ransom Gillett of Columbia, author of a 3.50 beer and a 10 per cent. wine bill. Colonel Gillett will seek indorsement for his bill from the thirty-five ex-service men in the Assembly at a conference they are to hold here tomorrow.

On the eve of the public hearing on the Anti-Saloon League Prohibition Enforcement bill, which is to be held before the Senate Judiciary and the Assembly Excise Committees tomorrow, President pro tem of the Senate J. Henry Walters stated tonight that there were not sufficient votes in the Senate for the enactment of that or any other rigid enforcement measure.

It was learned tonight that a number of "dry" Assemblymen had urged upon high officials of the Anti-Saloon League that Superintendent Anderson be kept in the background as much as possible at tomorrow's hearing. The plan originally made by the prohibition advocates was that Mr. Anderson was to lead the fight for the Thompson-Slacer bill embodying the league's enforcement scheme. Tonight, however, Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel for the Anti-Saloon League of America, arrived from Washington for the purpose of making the principal argument for the league.

"Mr. Anderson will be at the hearing, but not of it," said one of the league officials.

Mrs. Ella A. Boole, New York President of the W. C. T. U.; William H. Burr, State Chairman of the Prohibition Party, and C. H. Huested of the Independent Order of Good Templars, it was announced tonight, would also speak for the Thompson-Slacer bill.

Assemblyman Cuvillier announced tonight that a fund of $50,000 had been guaranteed for a thorough investigation of the Anti-Saloon League at a meeting held on Saturday evening at the Calumet Club in New York City, which was attended by a number of bankers and "big Republicans," at which a Personal Liberty League was formed.

2.75 BILL LIKELY TO PASS.

Measure Would Permit Sale of Three Per Cent. Wine.

ALBANY, N. Y., March 15.—Passage of a bill designed to permit the sale in this State of 2.75 per cent. beer and 3 per cent. wine was indicated in the Legislature tonight, on the eve of important conferences and hearings on prohibition enforcement legislation and measures dealing with light beverages.

SOUTH DAKOTA VOTE PROMISED TO WOOD

FARMERS PLEDGE SUPPORT

Special to The New York Times.

WATERTOWN, S. D., March 15.—Major-Gen. Leonard Wood, candidate for the Republican nomination for the Presidency, began today his last tour of South Dakota prior to the primaries in this State.

All of the candidates who have filed in South Dakota realize its importance as a barometer of the situation in the Northwest, and during the week Senator Poindexter will enter the State, as will some of the best speakers allied with the Lowden organization. It is reported that Senator Johnson will also return to make a last minute appeal for South Dakota's indorsement.

That General Wood has the inside track and that all indications are for a substantial Wood plurality in the State on March 23 is the assertion of the Wood supporters, among whom are Governor Peter Norbeck and Chairman King of the Republican State Committee; S. X. Waythe, editor of the Watertown Public Opinion, and scores of other well informed citizens. General Wood made his principal speech tonight in the Methodist Episcopal Church, the largest meeting place in the city. He faced a sixty-mile wind and a snowstorm today to meet and talk with farmers and their families in the outlying sections, who, because of the storm, were unable to get into Watertown for tonight's mass meeting.

Travels in a Blizzard.

To get to these people General Wood had what was his hardest day since he began his campaign. To reach the meeting places, usually country school houses, he traveled by automobile, in horse drawn vehicles, on railway handcars, and for one stretch of the journey on a Chicago & Northwestern switch engine. He started out at 6 o'clock this morning when he left his train a mile this side of the Minnesota line and proceeded by automobile to the little farming centre of Clear Lake. He will visit Aberdeen County tomorrow.

Everywhere General Wood was received with the warmest cordiality, and his farmer supporters assured him time and again not to worry about the outcome in this county.

"Codington County," an old farmer told General Wood at Clear Lake, "is going to give you a substantial plurality. Don't lose any sleep about South Dakota. We know you, and we are going to stand by you."

A young man formerly of the A. E. F., who wore a Wood button, approached the General and told him that one of the arguments being used against him was that he was a man of great wealth.

"If there are many people around here or anywhere else in the United States," General Wood replied, laughing, "who are any poorer than I am they most certainly are to be pitied."

Another False Story.

Another story being told against the General is that while he was Governor of the Moro provinces in the Philippines he permitted soldiers under his command to loot churches and to masquerade in sacred vestments taken from those churches.

"That is so false and so contemptible," said General Wood, "that I hesitate to notice it even to the extent of branding it as a falsehood. Of course, even those who are most opposed to me know that a nefarious act of the kind ever happened in the Philippines under my own or any other American's administration of any part of the islands."

Senator Johnson campaigned in Codington County last week, and it is admitted by both the Wood and Lowden organizations that the Californian made some headway, especially among those elements whose sympathies are to an extent Socialistic, or who lean toward the Non-Partisan League movement dominant in North Dakota. The California Senator's appeal for Non-Partisan League endorsement and wherever the league has gained a foothold considerable Johnson sentiment is found.

Governor Lowden's managers assert that the Illinois Governor has held his own in the storm of Wood-Johnson politics, but this statement is challenged by the opposition managers, who declare that Lowden has lost considerable of his following to both the Wood and Johnson factions. Everybody seems agreed that Poindexter is not a serious contender for the South Dakota delegation to Chicago.

Wood Talks to Farmers.

In his speeches to the farmers today—and 95 per cent. of the population here about is identified with agriculture—General Wood emphasized the importance of the farmer in American life. The farmer, he said, was entitled to all the help the Government could give him, and he declared nothing was more essential to the future stability and welfare of the United States than to find some way to keep a large proportion of the people on the farms of the country.

"We must try to find a way," said the General, "to diminish the proportion of tenant farmers in America and to have as many people as possible own the land. The ownership of land by those who live on it has always been a great stabilizing force, for those who own the land stand for law and order, for good government and for the rights of property."

General Wood discussed the League of Nations, business, the military service and foreign relations. The farmers cheered when he told them that Americans had to be protected no matter where they were, in Mexico or anywhere else. Protection, not ransom, must be the answer, he said, to the situation regarding Americans in some parts of the world.

He again urged the thorough Americanization of the League of Nations and, that accomplished, the prompt ratification of the Treaty of Peace by the Senate.

General Wood has applied to the War Department for a two months' leave of absence to begin the first of the next month. If the leave is granted—and it is not believed it will be refused—it is his intention to campaign in every State in the Union in which a primary system controls the election of delegates to the national convention. He will pay particular attention to Ohio, and will also go into Texas, from which State he is receiving daily scores of invitations to come and fight for the delegation, these letters being from some of the most prominent men in that State, many of them former Democrats.

WOOD MANAGER IN ALABAMA

OPELIKA, Ala., March 15.—Colonel Dallas B. Smith has been appointed State manager of the Leonard Wood campaign in Alabama, succeeding J. O. Thompson of Birmingham, who was removed by Frank H. Hitchcock, national campaign manager for General Wood.

State headquarters probably will be maintained in Opelika, according to Colonel Smith, who is a veteran of the World War and one of the best known Republicans in Alabama.

Commissioner Uhl Calls Servants Exempt From Contract Labor Law—Many Available

There is no violation of the Federal contract labor law involved in hiring servants overseas and bringing them into this country to aid in solving the servant problem, according to Acting Commissioner of Immigration Byron H. Uhl. Charles K. Lexow, Commissioner of Records, and Allan Lexow of 100 West Fortieth Street, put the question up to the Commissioner yesterday.

Allan Lexow explained that he had received letters from friends in Denmark saying that the wealthy class throughout Europe, hard hit by the war, were economizing on their domestic establishment. As a result, many well-trained servants were on the lookout for places.

Commissioner Uhl looked through some of Legal Adviser Augustus P. Schell's law books and found that the law on Gretchen, f. o. b. Bremen, and Olga, f. o. b. Copenhagen, was as follows:

"Provided further, that the provisions of this law applicable to contract labor shall not be held to exclude professional actors, artists, lecturers, singers, nurses, ministers of any religious denomination, professors for colleges or seminaries, persons belonging to any recognized learned profession, or persons employed as domestic servants."

Henry Morcill of Paterson, N. J., and Joseph Ganlell of Hackensack, N. J., lawyers for the alleged radicals held on the island for more than a month, appeared at the Immigration Station yesterday to make closing arguments and to file briefs for such as may be held for a final hearing by the Secretary of Labor. The men whose cases came before the board were Ludovico Caminita, Franz Widmar, Alberto Guabello, Paul Guabello, Peter Baldaserotto, Sefarino Grandi, Severio Espi, Salvatore Palmieri, Francesco Pitea, Mario Croci and Francesco Coppo.

WOOD AND JOHNSON CENTRE ON DAKOTAS

R. H. TAFT TO AID HOOVER

With the Major-Gen. Leonard Wood and the Senator Hiram W. Johnson forces fighting hard to carry the only two States which hold Presidential preference primaries this month, North and South Dakota, the managers of the rival contestants for the Republican Presidential nomination claimed both States for their candidates. The North Dakota primaries will be held today and that for South Dakota on March 23. General Wood kept out of North Dakota at the request of the Republican State Committee there, but Senator Johnson made many speeches.

Such candidates will make whirlwind trips through South Dakota, General Wood, now there, is to make twenty-two speeches. Frank H. Hitchcock, the new manager of the Wood campaign, who was in the city yesterday on his way from Chicago to Washington, declared the outlook for General Wood to carry the South Dakota primaries was excellent, as things were going exceedingly well for the State. Mr. Hitchcock expressed himself as being well pleased with the Western situation generally. He will consult with Senator Moses at Washington, manager of the Southern territory, and then return to Chicago to give his entire attention next week to South Dakota.

Regarding the number of delegates said to be already lined up for General Wood, this statement was issued at the headquarters here:

"General Wood thus far is the only candidate for the Republican nomination who has any pledged delegates. They are six from Arizona, eight from New Hampshire, six from Tennessee, two from Oklahoma and two from the Philippines—a total of twenty-four.

"Tennessee has fourteen more delegates and they are practically certain to be pledged to Wood. Oklahoma still has eighteen delegates to name and they will be for Wood. Recent polls indicate that Wood will receive the votes of Kansas's twenty delegates, Delaware's six, Connecticut's fourteen, New Mexico's six and Colorado's twelve; a total of ninety more votes most probable for Wood. These ninety, together with the seventy already pledged, would give the General 114.

"Counting the twenty-four delegates already pledged, ninety which General Wood has every reason to expect; and 134 second choices, he has an aggregate of 248 delegates to whom to look for support at Chicago."

Thomas W. Miller, assistant Eastern manager, who has just returned from Wilmington, Del., his home city, said that arrangements had been completed to hold the Delaware State primaries on April 6, by which time six delegates to the Chicago convention will be named. Although it is expected that Delaware will adhere to its unbroken precedent of sending uninstructed delegates to the Republican convention, the Wood people express confidence that the delegates will vote for General Wood at balloting time.

"Connecticut's fourteen delegates," said Mr. Miller, "are to be selected at the State convention to be held Tuesday and Wednesday of next week. General Wood has received personal assurances that New England is solid for him and Connecticut is expected to line up with New Hampshire, which recently pledged its eight delegates to General Wood. A poll taken by a New England paper showed that out of 421 persons Wood received 165, Senator Johnson 34, Governor Coolidge 23, Governor Lowden 5 and Senator Harding 1, the other votes being for Democratic candidates."

At the Johnson headquarters in the Pennsylvania Hotel Manager Angus McSween, who returned yesterday from the West, declared that Senator Johnson was sure to get the four Michigan delegates at large and one-half of the district delegates, making eighteen in all. He said the outlook also was bright for carrying the Minnesota primaries.

It was announced that college men in New York City soon would take the stump for Senator Johnson. A speakers' bureau composed of undergraduates from colleges in the city was organized on Saturday.

A ballot of 1,079 votes taken in the Bureau of War Risk, the largest single department in Washington, resulted, according to the Johnson managers, as follows: Johnson 402, Lowden 321, Wood 228, Harding 75 and Poindexter 3.

The Hoover boomers began work in earnest yesterday to perfect a national organization. At the headquarters in the Hotel Vanderbilt it was announced that the movement would be known hereafter as the "Hoover National Republican Club," instead of "The Make Hoover President Club." District caucuses are planned in Denver, Minneapolis and Boston for this evening to "build the framework of the national campaign."

It was announced that among Mr. Hoover's younger supporters is Robert H. Taft, son of former President Taft, who has been appointed temporary chairman of the campaign district embracing Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and West Virginia. Mr. Taft was connected with Mr. Hoover's work abroad.

GEDDES DENOUNCES MAKERS OF DISCORD

NOT THE TIME TO CRITICISE

LONDON, March 15 (Associated Press).—Sir Auckland Geddes, the newly appointed Ambassador to the United States, made a sharp attack on papers which stir up Anglo-American irritation at a dinner given in his honor tonight by the Pilgrims.

Lord Desborough presided, and among those who attended were Andrew Bonar Law, Earl Curzon and Sir Alfred Mond, representing the Cabinet; Earl Reading, Viscount Devonport, numerous members of the House of Commons, Admiral Beatty, Rear Admiral Harry S. Knapp, commander of the American fleet in European waters, and Robert P. Skinner, American Consul General.

"It does not help either respect or understanding to cry 'peace,' 'peace,' where there is no peace, or 'love' and 'trust,' if love be cold and trust worn thin," said the Ambassador. "I hope and believe that this is not the case with any considerable section of either of the great English-speaking communities. But it would be folly, nay, criminal madness, not to recognise that there are pamphlets printed and daily and weekly papers published and circulated and read, and doubtless believed by some on both sides of the Atlantic, which dissemble love and conceal trust so thoroughly that one is forced to believe that there is neither love to dissemble nor trust to conceal in the minds of the writers, or at least in those men who pay the piper and by immemorial right call the tune.

"There is nothing I regret more than to read in some American paper an article accusing this country of quite impossible villainy, unless, indeed, it be to read in some British paper the article reversed. It is so fatally easy to criticise, particularly at a time like this, when human thought is boiling and bubbling down rapidly.

"The habit of criticising other nations without the slightest regard for their difficulties or fears is not confined to England and America, but it has dangers all its own when hurled from England at America, or vice versa.

"During the great war we had an outburst of international enthusiasm, founded in the main not on an increased mutual understanding, but on a common enmity, a common hatred and detestation. That enthusiasm was planned and fostered and artificially made to glow white hot. Look back over the old files, with their daily blast of superheated air—isn't it inevitable that we have to pass through a period of reaction?

"Let us remember that it is quite impossible for two peoples to see every question from the same angle or with the same clearness. Do not let us forget that the toad beneath the harrow is not likely to find much comfort in the terfly's whispered counsel."

CAFE STRIKE IN PARIS.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, March 15.—The strike in Paris is becoming universal. Last week it was the turn of the public which struck against double fares being charged by taxicabs. That strike still goes on, and cabs stand in rows while the strikers plod through the rain and mud.

Today there is a new strike which has arisen from another. In order to economize coal while the miners in the north refused to work the Government last week ordered all cafés and restaurants to close at 10 o'clock. Customers and proprietors lifted their voices in protest, but the order had to be carried out.

Tonight, however, the cafés and restaurants of Montmartre decided that they would strike against the order and not open their doors at all. Among the strikers are the Abbaye de Theleme, the Rat Mort, the Monico and the Bal Tabarin. This measure will throw several hundred waiters, cooks and attendants out of work.

The proprietors have sent a delegation to the Minister of the Interior, pointing out this effect of their action, and demanding that they be allowed to remain open at least till 11 o'clock, as otherwise they cannot continue to run their establishments profitably.

In other quarters of the city, it may be pointed out, the restaurant keepers have taken the simpler means of raising prices by another 10 per cent.

Exclusive Fashions

THREE pages of Spring fashion designs from photographs taken in Parisian ateliers expressly for The New York Times will be reproduced in the Rotogravure-Picture Section of The Times next Sunday. They indicate the trend of women's fashions in the French capital.

Paquin, Deddy, Bernard, Cecil et Lafontain and Blanchard are among the arbiters of fashion who have exercised their art in designing these creations, which include hats of wonderful becomingness, afternoon gowns, street dresses, dance frocks and wraps.

CONVOYS FEARED GERMAN SHIP RAID

SAYS GERMANS KNEW CODE

WASHINGTON, March 15.—A hitherto unpublished story of anxiety in London and Washington last German battle cruisers should attempt a forlorn-hope raid against American transports was disclosed today to the Senate Naval Investigating Committee by Rear Admiral Sims. Messages exchanged by Admiral Benson, Chief of Operations, and Admiral Sims in July, 1918, were presented by the latter to correct "implications" which, he said, Secretary Daniels had made to the committee that "general plans and policies were none of my business."

In the Spring of 1918, said the Admiral, when the submarine menace had been overcome, naval officials in London became apprehensive that the Germans might, as a last venture, send out battle cruisers in the hope of destroying an American convoy. That this apprehension was felt also at the Navy Department, he said, was demonstrated by the following cablegram from Admiral Benson:

"As last hope, German battle cruisers may be sent out to completely destroy one of our large troop convoys. We depend upon you to gain and give information on this point and Grand Fleet to take necessary action until United States could act."

In reply Admiral Sims said he cabled that there could not be any guarantee that enemy battle cruisers would not reach the open Atlantic undetected. He advised guarding United States troop convoys with battleships.

Were to Seek Japan's Aid.

Despite this the Navy Department, on July 30, outlined a plan of its own to meet such raids, predicated, he added, on the "false premise" that advance warning would be given. The plan contemplated placing one division of American battleships at Queenstown to cover the eastern Atlantic, another to be held at home in readiness to cover the western Atlantic, and a division of Japanese battle cruisers to be stationed with the Atlantic Fleet to pursue and sink raiders.

"The plan was impracticable for a number of reasons," Admiral Sims declared. "It was eventually abandoned, with the full concurrence of the Navy Department, and for it was substituted a plan substantially the same as previously recommended by me."

A raid while the discarded plan was being discussed would have found the United States without a practical working plan to meet it, he added.

"Only the fact that God was with us" saved early troopship convoys from German torpedoes, he declared, as the enemy had advance information of the sailing of convoys and destroyers through the department's use of an old and unsafe code. Data regarding the first convoy were obtained, he said, and the transports De Kalb and Savannah, carrying thousands of troops, narrowly escaped destruction.

Admiral Sims said he had "implored" the department to use British Admiralty codes in sending news of convoy movements, but without avail. Vital facts regarding American convoys were discussed at social affairs in Paris before either he or General Pershing knew them, the Admiral said. In some cases, he added, the news was sent to France from New York in business codes.

Berlin Knew When Destroyers Sailed.

"The announcement of the sailing of the first American destroyers was printed in Berlin four days before they arrived at Queenstown," declared the Admiral. The United States Naval Attaché at Paris obtained his first word that the first troop ships were sailing from a woman whose husband had received the information in a business message.

"Arrangements for the early convoys were "confusing" and did not conform to the Allies' methods of safeguarding troops in transit, Admiral Sims said, and the Navy Department made no effort to consult him. His first knowledge of the arrangements came when he received a copy of the regulations nearly a month later. I resolved information from both the French and British naval authorities concerning the convoy before I was officially informed of it by the department," he added.

Referring to a message from Secretary Daniels, dated July, containing directions for the protection of the convoy by destroyers, Admiral Sims said it "would be impossible to find a more striking example of the department's insistence upon making decisions based upon complete misinformation. The whole scheme of troop convoy, outlined in this message showed a complete ignorance and disregard of convoy methods and of war experience in the submarine danger zone."

FOUR U. S. SOLDIERS LOST IN RUSSIAN FIRE

WASHINGTON, March 15.—Two members of the American Expeditionary Forces at Vladivostok were burned to death in a fire which destroyed the American barracks at that place on March 6, and two others are missing, the War Department was advised in a cablegram received today from Major Gen. Graves. The men were:

Privates Alex V. Labeau, Quartermaster Corps, Oakland, Cal.; Merrill D. Martin, Company M, 31st Infantry, Tulsa, Okla.; Julius W. Morris, Company M, 31st Infantry, Ringford, N. J.; James A. Brantley, 27th Infantry, Fitzgerald, Ga.

The bodies of two of the men were found in the ruins, but were so badly burned that identification was not possible. No trace of the other two was found.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

THE HAGUE, March 15.—Many people have been freed from prison in Berlin, including, it is reported, Prince Joachim. The university has remained closed, but only a few students put themselves at the disposal of the new Government. The general strike began in Berlin this morning and groups of workingmen stood about the whole town excitedly discussing events.

No private telephoning is allowed. The long distance telephone abroad only was allowed after the protest of foreign journalists.

Texas Force Ordered to Hold Oil Land Claimed by Oklahoma

AUSTIN, Texas, March 15.—Governor W. P. Hobby has ordered sent to the Texas-Oklahoma boundary a force deemed sufficient to hold oil land involved in dispute between Texas and Oklahoma and to surrender it to no one except upon a decree from the United States Supreme Court.

ENID, Okla., March 15.—Attorneys for the Judsonia Developing Association announced this afternoon that they would ask Federal Judge Frank A. Youmans to issue warrants charging contempt of court for the arrest of those holding the areas in the bed of the Red River in dispute between Texas and Oklahoma.

STATE DEPARTMENT IS WITHOUT A HEAD

PUTS EMBARGO ON TRAVEL

There Is Now No Official Authorized to Sign Passports—May Tie Up Other Functions.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 15.—A peculiar state of affairs in the conduct of United States governmental business has been produced by the failure of the Senate to confirm the nomination of Bainbridge Colby to be Secretary of State. Today the tenure of Frank L. Polk as Acting Secretary of State lapsed by legal inhibition and there is no officer at the head of the State Department now competent under the Constitution and the laws to carry out certain necessary duties of the Secretary of State's office.

Mr. Polk was designated Acting Secretary of State one month ago today. The law stipulates that a designation as Acting Secretary or Secretary of State ad interim cannot be renewed after one month. The Attorney General, who was appealed to for an opinion, has sustained the obvious intent of the law. A suggestion that the so-called Overman law would permit the President to transfer the head of some other executive department to the State Department to perform the duties of Secretary of State with full powers has been rejected. The Overman law, a war measure, gave the President authority to transfer any branch of the Government service as he saw fit. It is doubtful if the law could be construed to permit the transfer suggested, but an obstacle impossible to overcome was found in the provision that it should be applicable only during the progress of the World War. The war is still technically in progress, as far as the United States is concerned, but it is plain that the Overman law was meant to apply only for the period of actual hostilities.

Polk Acts, but is Handicapped.

Mr. Polk continued to serve today as the head of the State Department but his functions were considerably curtailed. He was unable to attest signatures or issue proclamations or to authorize the issue of passports. The passport situation is the most immediate and the most embarrassing.

By taking advantage of the broadest construction of the passport law the State Department decided to issue passports where direct application for them was made, or applications were placed in the mails prior to midnight Saturday. Applications for passports made yesterday, a legal holiday, or today will not be granted until the office of Secretary of State has been filled. Many Congressmen today heard from constituents anxious to go abroad and kept the State Department telephones busy in making inquiries. Passports granted on applications made directly or by mail or telegraph prior to midnight Saturday will be signed by acting Secretary Polk as of the date of application.

This will be the greatest passport year in the history of the State Department. While 20,000 has been a high yearly issue, about 28,000 were issued in January and February of this year and the number issued so far in March is about 14,000. The busy season for passports will be the Spring and Summer months and a deluge of applications is expected.

SYRIANS TO CROWN FEISAL NEXT SATURDAY

WASHINGTON, March 15.—Prince Feisal is expected to be crowned King of Syria on March 20, the State Department was advised today by the American Consul at Beirut, Syria.

Emir Feisal is the son of the King of Hedjas, and, according to press dispatches, was proclaimed King of Syria by the Syrian congress at Damascus on March 8, when the congress declared the independence of Syria.

LONDON, March 15.—Simultaneously with the proclamation of Prince Feisal as King of Syria, Abdulla was proclaimed King of Irak (Vilayet of Bagdad and including the City of Bagdad) and of Mesopotamia, according to a dispatch to The London Times from Cairo.

BEIRUT, March 8, via Constantinople, March 15 (Associated Press).—The independence of Syria was proclaimed here today by the representatives of the Syrian people. Emir Feisal was declared King, with Palestine part of the kingdom.

The Syrian banner consists of a seven-pointed white star placed in the red field of the Hedjas flag. Two similar stars placed in the same way will compose the pennant of Mesopotamia, which is reported also to have declared its independence, with Emir Abysmal as King and Emir Zed as Regent. They are the third and fourth sons of King Hussein.

KING SEES AMERICAN PLAY.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, March 15.—King George attended a premiere of a new play at the Strand Theatre tonight for the first time during his reign. He was accompanied by Queen Mary, the Prince of Wales and the Princess Mary.

The play selected was the American comedy, "Come Out of the Kitchen," by A. E. Thomas, in which Gertrude Elliott played the leading role.

The royal party appeared to enjoy the play, which certainly bredded will be as popular in London as it has been in the Provinces.

ALL CLASSES JOIN IN LATE TAX RUSH

Federal Receipts Range from $12,000,000 for Quarter Payment to 1 Cent.

400,000 RETURNS HANDLED

TETRAZZINI CALLS EARLY

Opera Star Pays Cash on $100,000 Income for Five Months' Work—Rich Arrive Late.

Thousands of income tax payers—push-cart peddlers, millionaires, space writers, longshoremen, manicure girls and others of the moneyed class—joined yesterday in a last-minute rush to file their returns and make payments to the Federal and State Governments before midnight last night, the time limit for payments. When that hour struck the employes of the tax collecting agencies—the Collector of Internal Revenue and the State Controller's office—breathed deep signs of relief. Their task was not ended, but the nerve-wracking "last day" was over.

It was a day that taxed the energies of every one of the thousand or more workers, from Collector William H. Edwards, at the head of the Federal office, and John J. Elliott, in charge of the State office, down to the newest office boy. Yet the task was accomplished with little confusion and without much grumbling on the part of the taxpayers. More than 400,000 returns have been handled by the Federal offices alone.

It will be a week or more before the returns are tabulated and the totals made public. Nearly a hundred sacks of mail, bulging with checks and money orders, still have to be assorted before final figures will be available. Most of the eleventh-hour payments came in by mail and they included the taxes of the larger corporations and the payers of the biggest personal taxes, who waited as long as they could so as not to lose the interest on their money.

The payments ranged from $12,000,000—which was only a quarter payment—to payments of 1 cent. Several of the latter class were sent in by registered mail with 12 cents' postage. There was one payment of $5,000,000 and another of $4,000,000. Among the late payers were John D. Rockefeller, Percy Rockefeller, Thomas W. Lamont, Henry P. Davison and Charles H. Sabin.

Theda Bara, Herself

The Shubert Theatre was packed to suffocation last evening by a first-night audience that attended with hilarious insensibility the unfolding of a play called "The Blue Flame," which was all adorned with expensive actors and gaudy hangings in order that it might set off properly the New York debut as an actress of Theda Bara, the reigning vamp of the movies. It was no paltry shadow on a screen, mind you, but Theda Bara herself, Theda Bara in her proper person (if the phrase be not objectionable to one who has done the dirtiest of as many sinful ladies for the benefit of a spellbound camera), Theda Bara, in short, in the flesh—to say nothing of the world and the devil.

The play is a terrible thing. The authors of all the bad plays produced in this town in the last ten years were present in a body to jounce with their derisive laughter the poor dramatic critics, who, these playwrights said, must now be sorry they had exhausted their vocabulary on less stimulating occasions. Owen Davis, who has discovered a disconcerting similarity between "The Blue Flame" and an ill-starred piece of his called "Lois" which came and went these many years ago, witnessed last evening's performance in a sort of stupor of wonderment, as who should say:

"I certainly never wrote this."

You know how it is when you have visitors from out of town who are possessed to go on a perfectly delightful slumming party down on the Bowery or somewhere to see one of those killing melodramas—Oh, come on, won't it be fun!—and you take them, and, after all, the melodrama is not bad enough to be funny and you come home disappointed. With "The Blue Flame" is the kind of play you always expect the cheap theatres to show, and they never do.

It is all about a sweet, girlish, God-fearing heiress who is very gentle and does settlement work and takes guava jelly (in a basket under a snowy napkin) to old invalids. She is engaged to a scientist who says (to the flies, usually) that he does not believe in God—indeed, that there is none. She is killed by accident and he restores the warmth to her body and the beat to her heart, but he cannot restore the soul which has escaped in full livery of the audience, and ascended, somewhat jerkily, to heaven. The soulless Ruth comes to groggily, says "Gimme a kiss" to her startled intended, demands an immediate wedding (a sign of extreme depravity, apparently), and starts on a career of crime. That is the end of the first act.

The various steps in her subsequent career (before the scientist awakes and discovers it was all a terrible dream, dearest) are marked by such mile posts as the time where she says: "Have you brought the cousine?" Or, in a sinister, between-the-clenched-teeth whisper: "I've got to have $85,000 in a hurry." Or her great exultant line: "You make my heart laugh and I feel like a woman of the streets."

"To be good is to be forgotten. I'm going to be so bad I'll be remembered always."

It would be ever so easy to write the review around that line, but it would not be quite fair to the brave little woman on whose shoulders the burden of the entertainment rests. She is pretty bad, but not bad enough to be remembered always. Indeed, she has a very pleasant voice, in which she puts to shame the Ziegfeld beauties who are occasionally made giddy by the responsibility of a line to speak. She speaks her lines distinctly and rather like a young girl at a high school commencement exercise—with an additional touch of elegance achieved by the simple process of pronouncing pocketbook as if it were "pawkitbook." And she displays a fine self-possession which enabled her to proceed last evening with unflinching gravity even when the audience lost control of itself and shook with laughter.

If it were not for Miss Bara, it would be easy to predict a phenomenally brief existence for "The Blue Flame." It is the kind of play which, under ordinary circumstances, could not run a week in New York. But it has drawn crowded houses in Boston and may possibly repeat the achievement here and elsewhere. These audiences will be drawn by nothing more than their curiosity to see in the flesh one whom so many have seen upon the screen, and such attendance would have no significance at all in relation to the ways of the theatre, the movement of the stars and ability as an actress.

In the midst of all the goings on last night, in the midst of all the old-time elegance of the Fourteenth Street literature, the twang of incidental music and the turning on of the old calcium spot, an actor—a real actor—walked quietly off with the chief applause of the evening. It was Donald Gallaher.

Riccardo Martin, the tenor, formerly with the Metropolitan, has just accepted an offer by cable from the Directors of the London "royal" season to sing at Covent Garden in June. Mr. Martin will sail for England early next month. The British Metropolis has had opera in English, even many of Wagner's music dramas in translation, ever since 1914, but the reopening of Covent Garden with international stars took place last season for the first time since the start of the war. Mr. Martin, it is said, will be the first American star to appear there in the same period. Before the war he had already sung two seasons in London.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

Adele Rowland appeared for the first time at the Vanderbilt Theatre in the title role of "Irene," succeeding Edith Day, who will play the part in London.

The performances of the Russian Ballet at the Lexington Theatre a week from tonight will be a benefit in aid of the American Central Committee for Russian Relief.

Williams and Wolfus, well known in vaudeville, have been added to the company which will be seen in "What's in a Name?" at the Maxine Elliott Theatre tomorrow night.

20 STARS AID OPERA BENEFIT

Twenty stars of the Metropolitan sang to the tune of some $10,000 for the opera house "emergency fund" yesterday afternoon, when the Broadway doors had to be closed midway on a line of buyers long enough to have filled the theatre's standing room twice over. Caruso in Act I. of "Pagliacci" capped a bill of special scenes, another of which was the triumph episode from "Aida," in which Rose Ponselle acted the title rôle. There were also the kirmess from "Faust," with Harrold, and the "Lucia" mad scene, with Miss Scotney.

The Monday subscribers turned out a brilliant house last evening for Massenet's "Manon," shown for the second time in its new decorations of Parisian gaiety, and the added dances of Act III., the Cours la Reine. Mme. Farrar brought to Manon a sophisticated beauty not unsuited to the rôle, while Mr. Hackett had the proper air of impetuous youth as the lover, Des Grieux. Messrs. De Luca, De Segurola and others reappeared, and Mr. Wolff conducted a performance especially good to hear in French, the language of Abbé Prevost's story.

Walter Hampden Again as Hamlet.

Walter Hampden's Hamlet, first revealed here in the production of the Shakespeare Playhouse two seasons ago, was seen again last night at the Lyric Theatre, where it will be on view for two weeks. There is a new Ophelia in the person of Beatrice Maude, and new incidental music by Louis Siegel.

Raymond Havens, Pianist, Pleases.

Raymond Havens, pianist, appeared at Aeolian Hall yesterday, his audience not only listening with pleasure to many "little classics," but remaining late for more. His most striking afterpiece was the "Tristan" finale, stranger now in New York than it has been to Mr. Havens's public in Western cities and at Dartmouth College. Of program numbers, Schubert's fantasie in C was longest, a merciful end not a "heavenly" length, while the well-played toccata of Schumann was preceded by John Carpenter's "Little Indian" and "Little Dancer," and some capital Chopin was followed by Liszt's Campanella," echoese and Aikan's novel and imitative "Le Vent."

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Stocks Rise and Exchanges Show Stability in Face of German Upheaval.

The security market practically ignored the revolution in Germany as an influence to shape the price trend yesterday, being directed mainly by matters of domestic import. Outside of a decline of German exchange from about 1.30 cents per mark to 1.05 and a later recovery to 1.12 for checks, the exchanges also were unmoved by the establishment of a new Government to succeed Germany's Socialistic Republic. Sterling started off at a lower level than Saturday's final quotation, following the procedure of several recent days, and in the afternoon it moved slowly upward to a point not far from where it closed last week. The impression that the strife in Germany was a purely internal affair and did not, as yet, threaten new international complications prevailed among bankers, and while there may have been a degree of caution in dealings the fluctuations of exchange rates disclosed no alarm over the outlook.

Stocks swung forward with considerable strength as far as the rank and file of industrial and railroad issues were concerned, while several shares favorites with speculators, were distinctly buoyant. The movement was a continuation of Saturday's rather unusual upturn. The bank statements at the end of last week supplied more encouraging reading than the Street had thought would be the case, what with preparations for income tax payments coming upon an already tight credit and money situation. But the deductions to be made from the improved reserve ratio of the Federal Bank had to be colored by general sentiment to make possible such extensive and sustained movements of stocks as those of yesterday. What was evidently of more influence than bank figures was the feeling in speculative quarters that call money rates would tend toward easement before the end of the week. There is ground for thinking that many traders have, coincident with a growth of cheerfulness over international developments affecting trade and exchange, become imbued with the idea that the stock market was so well liquidated in the first two months of the year that the technical position of prices has been strengthened. Yesterday's advance occurred amid a volume of dealings considered moderate from recent standards. A 9 per cent. call money rate did not disclose supplies in excess of the day's demand, but the rate was not considered sufficiently high to reflect unusual strain. While the speculative community has grown more confident of late that liquidation of commodities is having influence upon bank credit, still there certainly has been nothing to justify the thought that funds for stock market purposes are soon to be plenteous. For that reason brokers continue to advise caution in commitments among the volatile shares, and sight is not lost of the fact that a great deal of new financing for the railroads must be put through later on. Since the foreign exchanges first began to recover discussion of needs of credit to finance raw material which Europe requires has been less in the foreground of banking comment than before. That is not to say, however, that these requirements will not be large, and if the American export movement is to be maintained a great deal of credit must be made available for foreign merchants.

Railroad stocks were less prominent than industrial issues in the day's business. In fact, both speculative and investment buying seemed to have lost the snap which was in evidence last week, a development not altogether surprising in view of the gradual course which the carriers are likely to follow in returning to a normal condition.

PARIS, March 15.—Prices moved irregularly on the Bourse today. The Berlin news scarcely affected values. Three per cent. rentes, 57 francs 80 centimes; exchange on London, 49 francs 74 centimes; 5 per cent loan, 88 francs 10 centimes. The dollar was quoted at 13 francs 61 centimes.

BARRETT CO. SALES DROP.

A sharp decrease in net sales of the Barrett Company is shown in the report for last year as compared with that for 1918. The current statement records net sales of $32,235,947, as compared with $41,330,604. This decrease is reflected in net income, which is reported as $2,222,785, as compared with $3,789,561 in the preceding year. The net last year was equal, after preferred dividends, to $10.23 per share of common stock. The earnings of the preceding year were equivalent to $20.82 per share of junior stock after providing for preferred stock disbursements. The reserve for Federal taxes in 1919 amounted to $157,908, a decrease of $1,842,091 from the total the year before. After dividends last year a surplus of $376,193 remained, whereas the surplus for the year 1918 was $2,095,749.

William H. Childs, President, in his remarks to stockholders, says that business was unusually dull during the Winter and Spring of 1919, due to the readjustments of business from a war to a peace basis. The first six months, he states, showed a slight loss instead of the normal profit, so that the net profit for the year was actually made during the last six months. In discussing the current year, Mr. Childs states that earnings for January were the largest ever recorded in the history of the company and that the unfilled orders on the books and innumerable inquiries for goods indicate earnings for 1920 that will be very satisfactory.

SOLAR DOUBLE EARNINGS.

The Solar Refining Company, one of the Standard Oil groups, reports earnings for 1919 were nearly double those in 1918. The net income available for the stock was $1,651,992, or the equivalent of $82.50 a share, after making allowance for Federal taxes amounting to $876,327. In the preceding year the net available for dividends was $967,880, or the equal of about $46 a share on the capital stock. The net earnings before Federal taxes in the current report are shown to have been $2,528,319, as compared with $1,739,443 in 1918.

The surplus last year was $1,051,992 after dividend payments of $600,000, or 30 per cent. on the $2,000,000 capital. In the preceding year the surplus after dividends of $300,000, or 15 per cent., was $667,880. The total surplus of the company now stands at $4,415,991, or approximately 2¼ times the present capitalization.

EARNINGS DOUBLED BY PACIFIC MAIL

EQUAL TO $5.92 A SHARE

The report of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company for the year ended Dec. 31, 1919, which has just been put out, shows a net income of $2,376,761, which, after the deduction of $600,000 as a reserve for Federal taxes, left available for dividends $1,176,761. This was equivalent to $5.92 a share earned on the $1,500,000 capital stock (par value $5) outstanding. In the preceding year $2.95 a share was earned on the same stock.

The balance sheet shows several big changes in such items as cash $739,122, compared with $1,418,669; marketable securities $750,000, compared with $2,825,000; loans and bills receivable $400,000, compared with $4,500,000. In his remarks to stockholders President George J. Baldwin, explains the difference in the 1919 and 1918 reports as follows:

"It is impracticable to make comparison with the result obtained during 1918, as our income account in that year did not reflect the true earnings, which were greatly in excess of the amount shown in the table, as in the case of all our vessels with the exception of the steamers San Juan and San José the earnings which accrued to the company were determined entirely by the charter rates allowed by the United States Shipping Board, under the terms of United States Government Requisition Charter.

Discussing activities on the Pacific, Mr. Baldwin says:

"Owing to the release of much tonnage on the Pacific freight rates necessarily declined to the level of the preceding year, but we are pleased to say that all lines have adopted the commodity tariff, as published by the United States Shipping Board, governing this trade, and stabilized rate conditions have followed with a consequent increase in traffic.

"The necessity for larger and faster steamers in this service is pressing and is one of national importance, and travel has now increased to such an extent that existing lines can no longer meet the demand. Repeatedly have applications for accommodations had to be declined months in advance of sailing. The United States Shipping Board appreciates the situation and, it is confidently expected, will shortly assign new and suitable steamers to this service.

"Outlook for business on the Trans-Pacific Line for the coming year is encouraging, but some material reduction in freight rates may be expected before the year is completed."

Mr. Baldwin said that the company has entered 1920 with a very promising outlook and with facilities to handle a larger traffic than even before in the history of the company.

FRENCH TEXTILE MILLS GAIN

Bankers Trust Company Predicts Industry's Recovery in Two Years.

Complete restoration of the textile industry in Northern France within the next two years seems not only possible but probable, according to The Bankers Trust Company, which bases its assertion on advices received from its London correspondent. It is estimated that about 40,000 workers are now busy in mills which one year ago were either razed or had been stripped of their machinery by the enemy. The bank says that much of that machinery has been recovered, some has been repaired and new machines have been received from England and the United States.

The pre-war figures show that 106,000 French workers were employed in 265 factories in 1914. In October last 30,382 workers were employed in 162 French textile plants. The bank asserts that at the present rate of progress it is expected that the production of textiles in the devastated regions will reach 50 per cent. of pre-war production within a year, provided that labor shortage, coal requirements and raw material wants are met.

Goodrich Stockholders Elect.

The stockholders of the B. F. Goodrich Company at the postponed annual meeting held yesterday, approved the Directors' proposal to change the common stock to no par value and to issue $30,000,000 convertible notes. The six Directors, whose term of office had expired, were re-elected to serve for three years. E. G. Work was re-elected President and Chairman of the board. E. J. Raymond was elected Vice Chairman. W. C. Arthur was elected an Assistant Treasurer and B. I. Montenyohl and L. I. Smith were elected Assistant Treasurers.

EXCHANGE WAR BONDS.

$154,000,000 of Third Loan Converted Into Permanent Issue.

Exchanges of the Third Liberty Loan temporary bonds for permanent bonds began yesterday, and at the close of business it was estimated at the Federal Reserve Bank that upward of $154,000,000 of the bonds had already been converted. The original sales in this district, it was estimated, were in excess of $1,000,000,000, taken by something more than 5,000,000 subscribers. The exchange of the temporary bonds of the First and Second Loans, of both the 4 per cent. and the 4¼ per cent. issues, will not begin until April 1. The Federal Reserve Bank yesterday issued the following statement concerning these operations:

"Exchanges of Third Liberty Loan temporary bonds for permanent bonds are now being made. Holders of these bonds may present them for exchange at any bank or trust company, or, if in denomination of $50 or $100, at the Liberty Loan Association, at 19 West Forty-fourth Street. Exchanges may in this manner be made more speedily and with greater facility for bondholders than by presenting them direct to the Federal Reserve Bank which, as the central institution, makes the exchanges principally in large volume for the banks."

DEFICIT IN COLORADO FUEL.

Gross Business for 1919 Reported at $34,405,217.

The Colorado Fuel and Iron Company's report shows gross business for 1919 totaled $34,405,217, a decrease of nearly $14,000,000 from 1918. The net earnings were $3,299,002, as against $7,464,368 the year before. The production of coal was 3,328,613 tons, as compared with 4,455,881 tons in 1918. The coke decline amounted to 300,000 tons. The production of finished iron and steel was 329,537 tons, a decrease of 150,000 tons.

The decreased production in all lines brought about an actual deficit of $577,646, after providing for depreciation, bond interest, taxes, &c. In the preceding year there was a surplus of $3,182,047. The balance sheet shows a dropping off in cash, the item amounting to $212,279, whereas the cash on hand a year before was $708,432. A decline of more than $5,000,000 is shown in holdings of stocks and bonds, and Liberty bond holdings declined more than $1,400,000.

February Cotton Consumption.

WASHINGTON, March 15.—Cotton consumed during February amounted to 516,594, equivalent 500 pound bales of lint and 26,320 bales of linters, the Census Bureau announced today.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

E. W. Bliss Stock.

An indication of the effect of the stock dividend decision on the stocks of small companies, which are in a particularly strong position, appeared in an advance of 75 points in E. W. Bliss stock yesterday. The company was a large manufacturer of munitions during the war, and while the manufacture of torpedoes for the Government is a sizable portion of its business even in peace times there is more extensive activity in the manufacture of presses and dies. The stock advance was doubtless a reflection of a possible stock dividend at the annual meeting yesterday. As a matter of fact, no talk of a stock dividend developed. The earnings statement was issued, however. This showed net profits, after taxes, of $1,855,024, as compared with a common capitalization of $1,250,000, and a like amount of preferred. Net profits were computed after making provision for Federal taxes.

Previous High Prices.

It is unquestionably true that short covering contributed in large part to the advance that has taken place in the stock market. The inception of the forward movement was found in this. Apparently every one was imbued with the idea that the market could not go up but must go down. The argument against an advance was to be found in the stringent money situation and the forced liquidation of loans. The words of one man who was trading several weeks ago sum up the situation. He said: "The Federal Reserve Board has given a stop loss to any one operating on the short side, and that stop is only 10 points above the market. If the market goes up that much, money rates will be powerless." The product of this reasoning was an unwieldy short interest that is covering raised prices rapidly. As a result prices are now in some instances "near" as high as at the peak last year.

Crucible Steel Gains.

The buying in Crucible Steel moved this issue up close to its high for last year. In the early morning the shares touched 255½ as compared with a high for 1919 of 261. The activity in Crucible is directly attributed to the stock dividend decision, for this company stood committed to a policy of declaring stock dividends in case the decision of the United States Supreme Court was favorable. The Directors of the Crucible Steel Company will meet in Pittsburgh today, and holders of the shares are confidently expecting that some stock dividend declaration will be made. A few days ago it was reported that the dividend might be high as 100 per cent. Estimates yesterday were more conservative, some believing that if a stock dividend disbursement is made it will not amount to more than 25 per cent.

Oil Shares Strong.

Texas Company was the leader among the oil shares. There was quiet accumulation of the stock when the quotations were below 200, and those who were seeking to purchase found that the floating supply was small. This accounted for a sharp upturn that eventuated in a gain of 15¾ points. As compared with the high point last year Texas Company shares are still low. There is this difference, however, that the present shares are selling ex valuable rights. When the rights first came on the market they were quoted in the neighborhood of 60. The high asset value behind the Texas Company shares has been well established as public information, and the stock dividend possibilities are no mean factor. The investment quality of the shares has therefore led to the elimination of a goodly percentage of the stock from the normal floating supply.

Railroad Morale Improved.

In spite of recent suggestions in some quarters that the railroad situation is none too favorable, the heads of the big companies are inclined to the opposite belief. One man who is known throughout the country as the successful head of a successful railroad said yesterday: "The law is the law and bickerings between different railroad men will have but little effect upon it. The Transportation act orders that the Interstate Commerce Commission shall fix rates which will bring about a return of 5½ per cent. on the aggregate value of railroad property. Nothing any one carrier may do to change the return on property value as written in the law, will have any effect. On the other hand the return may be increased beyond 6 per cent. by diligence and sticking to it, and I believe that, with few exceptions, the railroads of the country are improved in morale and have re-entered private operation with each man's best foot foremost."

***

Rails Speeding Up.

Reports are already being received in the financial district of the increased efficiency in the operation of the railroads. Definite figures are not yet obtainable but the reports say that great efforts are being made in many districts to repair equipment so that better service may be rendered than was possible in the last year of Federal operation. The condition of equipment is admitted to be poor. Several of the more firmly intrenched carriers have already ordered new equipment to ease the present shortage of cars in good condition. This eases just so much the strain which the roads will be under to do approximately 11,000,000,000 worth of equipment and additions and betterment work this year. Answering the assertion made in some quarters that the roads will find it difficult to meet such an expenditure, conservative operators say that with a careful paring down of budgets the transportation system as a whole should be able to weather the year satisfactorily. The public is waiting for proof of the efficiency of private operation and operators are doing their utmost to provide that proof.

The New Express Embargo.

The announcement by the American Railway Express Company of an embargo on parcels weighing more than 200 pounds apiece is due to the great volume of business which flooded back to the express carriers as the result of severe winter weather. Automobile express services were retarded greatly in the deliveries they could make during the storm period of the last month and a half, and shippers turned again to the railway express companies in their dilemma. That some of this business will be retained is a logical assumption, but at the present time there has been so much suffering that it threatened to clog the machinery and had to be curbed.

Today's Clearings.

Today's turnover at the Clearing House is likely to be very large, yet it is extremely doubtful if it comes anywhere near the high record of $1,385,000,000 on the big day following the Jan. 1 settlement. The revised estimates of what the Government had to meet in this district have reduced even the figures which were talked of last week, when it was expected that today's exchanges would run only slightly over $1,000,000,000. The revised figures of Government's cash payments against maturing certificates of indebtedness, instead of calling for some $800,000,000 plus, show that of the issues originally sold in this district to mature yesterday, amounting to $940,176,900, only $282,000,000 were outstanding, and of this $18,000,000 were exchanged for other certificates, thus leaving approximately $264,000,000 to be paid in cash. Tax collections, on the other side of the account, were expected to amount to $400,000,000 or possibly $500,000,000. But it may require several days to get all of these latter cleared.

The German Revolution.

In Wall Street there was much less inclination to regard the revolution in Germany with serious apprehension than might have been expected. The former Government, whatever its virtues may have been, was not considered strong nor was it regarded as constructive. It had allowed a tremendous amount of paper currency to be emitted and in other ways had weakened rather than strengthened the financial position of Germany. The new crowd, it was hoped, would at least effect reforms in finances, and to this extent there was little regret for the upheaval. As evidence of the lack of concern, German marks, which fell to 1.05 at London before our opening, recovered to around 1.12 to 1.15 here late in the day.

STATE SAVINNGS BANKS MAKE RECORD IN GAINS

ALBANY, March 15.—The volume of business transacted by the 141 savings banks in this State in 1919 was not only unprecedented but "astounding," according to a report made public today by George I. Skinner, State Superintendent of Banks.

Resources at the end of the year totaled $2,436,993,719, representing a gain of $225,531,791. Deposits increased from $2,043,411,104 to $2,367,393,799, while the number of open accounts at the end of the year was 3,655,485, an increase of 190,971.

Investment companies showed a gain in resources of $311,951,119. Thirteen new companies were organized in 1919 and thirty obtained permits to open branch houses outside the State, operating in the Far East, South America, Canada and Europe.

The report suggested that banking laws be amended to allow savings institutions to establish branch offices more freely.

SALES OF BATTERIES RISE.

The volume of business done by the Electric Storage Battery Company for last year was more than $1,000,000 greater than in the preceding year according to the recently issued annual report for 1919. Gross sales were $6,600,685 and total net income amounted to $4,800,812. This was equivalent to $26.96 a share on the common stock after providing for preferred dividends but before making allowances for Federal taxes. In the 1918 report the amount available for dividends was $3,949,373, or the equal of $24.45 a share after making allowance for the preferred. The payment of Federal taxes for 1918 is made from surplus this year, this amounting to $1,817,010. On this basis the taxes for 1919 will come out of surplus in the 1920 report. It is estimated in the present report that 1919 taxes will amount to about $2,000,000.

The balance sheet shows a sharp increase in the stocks and bonds owned of other companies, this item amounting to $6,071,628 as compared with $1,694,471 a year ago. Holdings of Government securities also show an increase, this amounting to approximately $1,200,000. The item of cash in the current report is set forth as $1,121,677, as compared with $583,353 in 1918.

PANHANDLE BONDS OFFERED FOR STOCK

TO RUN 50 YEARS AT 5%

New Obligations Are Exempt from Taxes, Except Levies on Incomes.

The offer of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company through its subsidiary, the Pennsylvania Company, for the minority stock of the Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis Railroad Company, (The Panhandle) is to exchange at par new 50-year 5 per cent. mortgage bonds of the Panhandle Company, when issued to the Pennsylvania Company. The basis of exchange is contained in a circular which has been sent to holders of Panhandle shares. The circular reads in part:

"The Pennsylvania Railroad Company, has, directly or through the Pennsylvania Company, assisted and developed from their inception the railroad lines of the Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis Railroad Company known as the (Panhandle,) which forms part of its system west of Pittsburgh, and these companies own over 77 per cent. of the $84,860,111, outstanding Panhandle capital stock. The development of the territory in which the Panhandle lines are located and the large cities which it serves demand a considerable and continued enlargement of terminals, yards, tracks, facilities and rolling stock, and its credit is not sufficiently broad, under the railroad earnings and conditions of recent years, to assume the resulting necessary financial burden.

"Further, owing to the general financial conditions and its narrow margin of profits, it has been impossible for the Panhandle Company latterly to finance itself through satisfactory sale of its stock or securities, so that to meet its requirements for additions, extensions, equipment and other capital expenditures, the Pennsylvania Company —wholly owned by The Pennsylvania Railroad Company—has in the past been obliged to purchase issues of capital stock to which the minority stockholders did not, except to a very limited amount, subscribe, and has also from time to time loaned the Panhandle Company necessary funds, taking as security therefor the temporary obligations of the borrowing company. These temporary obligations will be funded with an issue of new mortgage bonds of the Panhandle Company, which the Pennsylvania Company is willing to accept at par for its temporary obligations.

"The Pennsylvania Company would not, under existing financial conditions, raise the funds to make a cash offer for the minority stock, but it is willing and does hereby make the following offer for its acquisition.

"It will purchase the $192,929.56 minority shares and will pay for the same, par for par, in new fifty-year mortgage bonds of the Panhandle Company when issued to the Pennsylvania Company, bearing interest at the rate of 5 per cent., per annum—that is, to say: a $1,000 bond for each ten shares, par $100 per share, of said minority stock. Non-interest bearing scrip will be issued for from one to nine shares deposited, $100 of scrip for each share, which scrip will be convertible in to bonds when presented in sums of $1,000.

"The principal and interest of these bonds will be guaranteed by The Pennsylvania Railroad Company and are to be payable without deduction for any tax or taxes (other than income taxes) on the holders thereof which the Panhandle Company, or its successors and assigns, or the trustees under the mortgage securing such bonds, may be required to pay or retain therefrom under any present or future law of the United States of America, or of the several states in which the lines of the Panhandle Company are located."

OLD SALTS SAY KEEP SHIPS.

They Vote Against Selling Former German Vessels to Foreigners.

By an almost unanimous vote, old seamen in Sailors' Snug Harbor on Staten Island have disapproved the sale of the former German steamships to foreign owners, it was announced yesterday. A substantial majority expressed opposition to Government ownership and operation of the newly-built vessels in the hands of the Shipping Board. A total of nearly 800 ballots were cast.

According to Captain George E. Beckwith, Governor of the institution, 451 voters favored the sale of the captured German ships to American owners only, against ten who would allow them to sail under foreign colors. While the vote on Government operation was not so emphatic, the 346 votes for private operation against 197 for Federal-owned lines were conclusive.

Motor Wheel Corporation

8% Cumulative First Preferred Stock

THE Motor Wheel Corporation, by the purchase of all the assets of the PRUDDEN WHEEL COMPANY, Lansing, Mich., THE AUTO WHEEL COMPANY, Lansing, Mich., THE GIER PRESSED STEEL COMPANY, Lansing, Mich., and THE WEIS & LESH MANUFACTURING COMPANY, Memphis, Tenn., will become one of the most important manufacturers of motor vehicle wheels in the world.

Through the Gier Pressed Steel plant, it will also have an extensive production of various pressed steel parts for passenger cars and trucks, including hub caps, axle housings, brake drums, etc., and will be equipped to supply metal wheels, should the demand arise.

From Forest to Highway

The Prudden Wheel Company—the first in the United States to adapt the present artillery type of wheel to automotive use—will devote its entire facilities to the manufacture of wheels for passenger cars. The Auto Wheel plant will be devoted to the exclusive manufacture of wheels for motor trucks, which forms an important and increasing part of the business. Through timber holdings in Tennessee, and the mills of The Weis & Lesh Manufacturing Company, the new corporation is assured its hardwood requirements.

These plants as a whole represent a complete cycle in the manufacture of wheels for motor vehicles.

Sales and Net Income

The combined net sales of the four companies have increased from $2,543,427 for the year 1915 to $7,366,473 for the ten months ended October 31, 1919. During the four years and ten months ended October 31, 1919, the annual net income available for dividends, even after deducting Federal taxes, averaged over 3¼ times the annual dividend requirements on this issue, and for the ten months ended October 31, 1919, were at the rate of over five times the dividend requirements.

The new capital will be used to complete the present construction program, and for additional working capital.

Future issues of stock are restricted. Voting power provisions also protect the holders of this stock. The Corporation has no funded debt.

In offering this issue of preferred stock great care has been taken to make it an investment security of a high order. Net current assets are to be maintained at an amount equal to at least 125% and total net tangible assets equivalent to at least 250% of the aggregate par value of the outstanding Preferred Stock. An annual sinking fund of 15% of net earnings (after payment of First Preferred dividends) is provided for the retirement of the stock at not exceeding $115 per share and accumulated dividends.

SOUTH AMERICAN OIL NEEDED BADLY NOW

LACK OF TRANSPORTATION

Extensive Development Work in Rich Fields Planned by Many American Companies.

With a crude oil shortage facing the country, operators are looking to South America for relief. American and British companies hold extensive properties there, but possibilities have been estimated in only a vague way. It has been established, however, that oil exists in large quantities and awaits only extensive development work. South American oil is on the market, but not in anything like the quantity that is possible and necessary, according to oil men. Certain companies have drilled big wells in Venezuela, Colombia and Peru, but except from the latter country little of the petroleum is coming to the United States, it is said.

Lack of development work and facilities for transportation to the seaboard are retarding exports from South America, it is said. The transportation problem is said to be the worst. There is little incentive to bring in large wells, oil men say, because they would have to be capped, or the drilling would have to be stopped just short of the oil strata and the well cemented. It is said there is little likelihood of the transportation problem being solved in time for South American oil to relieve the shortage this year.

Development Work Planned.

Some of the largest companies, however, are preparing the way for opening up the South American oil territory. The world production of petroleum is not dwindling as compared with previous years, but the demands made upon the output are reported to be steadily growing heavier. The world production for 1918 was 514,729,354 barrels, an increase of about 5,000,000 over the preceding year. But this increase in production was more than eaten away by the increased use of petroleum products.

One factor which is said to make the South American fields look attractive is the high grade of most of the oil. Most of it will nearly approximate the Pennsylvania grade, it is said. The Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, through its subsidiary, the International Petroleum Company, is operating in Peru, where an especially high grade of petroleum is obtained. The development work in this quarter of South America is shown by the activity of International Petroleum. The company not long ago announced an increase in capital stock, the old capital being doubled. There are reports also that International Petroleum will absorb Tropical Oil, which has extensive oil lands in Colombia.

Regarding several of the companies operating in the South American fields there is quite an air of mystery. This applies to Carib Syndicate, the Burlington Investment Company, the Colon Development Company, General Asphalt and a number of others. This, it is said, is due to the fact that development work is not extensive in many cases, but more particularly to the fact that the fields are far removed from the touch of people in the United States, and the lack of knowledge is confusing.

Peruvian Wells Best Established.

It is true, however, that a number of large wells have been brought in, some of them, according to reports, rivaling the high producing gushers in the Homer field of Louisiana. Of the South American fields those in Peru are best established as producing mediums, the output from that country in 1918 totaling 2,536,102 barrels and making it the ninth largest producing country in the world, being exceeded only by the United States, Mexico, Russia, Dutch East Indies, Rumania, India, Persia and Galicia.

Oil men contend that transportation for oil is the really big factor which has to be solved in developing the South American fields. The United States is interlaced with pipe lines in the oil-producing sections, which afford the means for a quick transportation of petroleum. Thus far there has been little done in the way of pipe lines in South America, although some undertakings along this line are planned. These carriers are necessarily the sequel to oil development, according to men interested in the petroleum industry, and they predict rapid progress in construction in the new fields. It is believed the International Petroleum Company, should it absorb the Tropical property, will construct a twenty-five-mile pipe line from the producing wells to the Magdalena River, the greater part of the distance having to be constructed through dense jungle. This would make it possible to ship oil down the river

Britain Interested in Fields.

Great Britain, it is asserted, has become very much interested in South American fields and there have been numerous reports that Royal Dutch held an interest in certain of the Colombian properties. The Carib Syndicate, it was reported recently, had acquired control of the properties of the Equatorial Company in Colon, consisting of about 250,000 acres. Some idea of the extent of the oil property to be developed in South America is to be had from the fact that the Tropical Oil Company, organized in 1916 by the Benedum-Trees interests in Pittsburgh, took over concessions covering about 3,500,000 acres in Colombia. The General Asphalt Company has large holdings in Venezuela, showing some large producing wells, according to report. It was rumored some time ago that Royal Dutch was interested with General Asphalt in the development of its properties.

When these South American fields have been brought to an efficient point of production by extensive development it is believed by oil men that there will be an ample supply of petroleum to meet requirements.

The Service We Render

II. Supervision of Investments

ON subscribing, each client may file with us or submit to us for examination and analysis, his list of investment holdings or proposed investment purchases.

WE carefully analyze this list and furnish a complete audit or report in which we point out all the weak as well as the strong features of the securities under examination, recommending definite changes where necessary with a view to improving and strengthening both principal and income.

WE retain and file a duplicate of our report for current and future reference and thereafter keep the client in direct touch with every development relating to his security holdings. Where a client has no list, but is contemplating investing, we make careful and conservative recommendations, in the light of his needs or wishes.

MANY investors make good selections, but go to sleep on current factors which may entirely change the standing of their holdings. We watch these changing factors for our clients. Sound investing is a continuous, not a temporary task.

THIS is the first feature. Does it interest you? If so, let us know; if not, watch for our next announcement.

COTTON FLUCTUATES TO GERMAN REPORTS

UPSWING WELL SUSTAINED

Idea of Trouble Between Our Growers and Germany's Spinners Was Soon Dissipated.

The belated influence of the German revolution, which had had very little effect on prices here on Saturday, but which inspired quite a break in Liverpool yesterday before our opening, caused first prices in yesterday's market to sag off, and in the first hour there were losses of as much as 50 to nearly 60 points. This movement, though rather sharp, did not last long, and sometime before midday the market had turned and was working upward.

On this recovery the market went nearly as far in the upswing as it had gone down early. There were evidences of good trade buying, and the ring and the commission houses were more bullish in the afternoon than they had been in several days. The idea that the German revolution would upset the relations of America's cotton growers and Germany's cotton spinners was soon dissipated, and after the first rush to sell there was a more optimistic feeling.

In some quarters there was a disposition to regard the revolution as favorable, from a financial and economic viewpoint, as it was contended that the new Government would be more conservative, and probably would make a stronger appeal to the financial classes. In this light, the revolution ceased to be regarded as unfavorable, and by afternoon there were many who were willing to consider it as just the reverse.

The statistics of the day were, for the most part, negative as market factors. The exports over Sunday fell of considerably, amounting to only 13,139 bales, of which all that yesterday supplied was 1,025 bales. This was a marked falling off from the corresponding days of last week, but the trade and the ring paid little attention to it. The Census Bureau report on domestic consumption for February showed 516,594 bales, exclusive of linters, taken by the mills. This compares with 591,725 bales taken in January. Reduced to a daily average, the February showing is ony about 1,000 bales a day below the January total. Considering that many had looked for a much greater shrinkage, the statement was regarded as something of a bull argument.

Texas Company's Issue Taken by Banking Syndicate.

The Texas Company, it was announced yesterday, has sold an issue of $35,000,000 of three-year sinking fund 7 per cent. gold notes to a banking syndicate composed of the Chase Securities Corporation, William A. Read & Co., the Illinois Trust and Savings Bank and the Bankers Trust Company. The notes, it was said, will soon be offered to the public at a price close to par. This is the largest single piece of financing announced in some time and attracted a good deal of attention in financial circles.

The proceeds of the sale will be used for acquisition and development of new properties, extension of refineries, construction and purchase of steamships, laying of new pipe lines and installation of additional marketing facilities.

The notes are the direct obligation of the Texas Company and will comprise its only funded debt, provision having been made to redeem the $14,798,000 outstanding 6 per cent. debentures. Back of the notes is $130,000,000 capital stock, representing a market equity at present quotations of over $250,000,000.

Dividends have been paid by the company on its stock each year since its incorporation in 1902. The present rate is 10 per cent., which has been paid since 1913. A stock dividend of 50 per cent. was declared in June, 1910.

Under the trust agreement covering this issue of notes a semi-annual sinking fund of $2,500,000, beginning Sept. 1, 1920, is provided for the purchase at not to exceed 100 and interest. During the life of the present note issue the company cannot mortgage any portion of its property now owned, nor issue any securities ranking equally with or ahead of them, and it agrees at all times maintain quick assets equal to at least 150 per cent. of total liabilities, including these notes.

Winchester Company's Earnings.

The statement of Winchester Company earnings from April 16, 1919, to the close of the year showed after charges and dividend allowances a balance of $4,521,017 available for the common stock. This was equivalent to $152 a share on the stock. Through error the earnings on the common were reported on Saturday to have been much lower.

ROADS HANDICAPPED CITY CLUB IS TOLD

DISAPPROVES PLUMB PLAN

Assistant to Head of Executives' Advisory Committee Outlines Test to be Met.

Robert S. Binkerd, assistant to the Chairman of the Railway Executive Advisory Committee, speaking last night before the City Club, said the railroads are facing one of the biggest tasks they ever have been called upon to carry out, that of national reconstruction. He said they are now on trial and will be judged by the transportation service they provide. He disapproved the Plumb plan, which, he said, would "never get anywhere." He said in part:

"On March 1 the railroad executives of the country undertook one of the big tasks of national reconstruction. Hundreds of thousands of tons of rails and ballast and millions of new ties which ought to be in the roadbeds of the railroads are not there. Cars and locomotives have been used to the utmost and need thorough repair. The supply of new cars and locomotives has been far below normal and is considerably behind the needs of the country. There has been not net addition to passenger cars, Pullman cars, nor refrigerator cars, for practically three years, during which time passenger traffic has increased over 10 per cent. and the perishable crops requiring refrigerator transportation as much or more.

"The problem of making good these deficiencies, as well as the present deficiency in net operating income, would have to be met under either Government or private operation. What we hope will distinguish private operation will be in the use made of the existing facilities. These statements are not meant in the slightest degree as a criticism of the management of the railroads during the period of Federal control. What took place during that period was undoubtedly mainly due to the unescapable conditions of Government operation and to a temporary release from the necessity of maintaining solvent finances.

"Time will be required for adjustment. The morale of individual companies will have to be recreated. The shortage of facilities cannot be made good for a long time. It is only by a slight superiority in operation by making cars and locomotives move a little bit more each day that the traffic of the country can be moved.

"Nevertheless, it is upon the success of private management, with its superior insistence on efficiency, on supervision and on economy, and its welcoming of enterprise, that the country will have to look to prevent a permanent decrease in the efficiency of railroad operation and an absolute and not relative increase in the cost of transportation. The railroad executives are undertaking this trust on behalf of the country under the terms of the new law, a law which, while not by any means providing everything thought wise or desirable in the common interests of the country and of the railroads, is, nevertheless, a courageous attempt on the part of Congress to initiate policies of a permanent and constructive nature.

"For the purpose of determining the rental to be paid to the railroad companies the three years prior to our entry into the war was designated as the 'test period.' These next years will be a new and still more important test period, at the end of which the decision will be given by public opinion—an opinion to which every man and woman in the country should add a definite and intelligent judgment."

ASKS MORE DRINK FOR SICK.

Newark Mayor Plans Meeting to Back Arrested Physician.

Mayor Gillen of Newark, in a letter yesterday to Dr. A. A. Mutter, President of the Kearny Board of Health, who was arrested on the charge of prescribing for a patient more whisky than the Volstead act permits, announced his intention to call a meeting of Essex County physicians to protest against the medical provisions of the act. Mayor Gillen, commenting upon the physician's statement that his patient would have died had he obeyed the law implicitly, wrote:

"This is an unwarranted and outrageous provision of the law, and interference of the most dangerous character with the proper practice of medicine. Incidentally, I may say, for the benefit of the Federal agents who made the charge against you, that there is more whisky being consumed in this country today than ever before in the nation's history. Liquors are pouring into Florida and other Southern States in unlimited quantities, and in the North they are pouring in from Canada."

Mayor Gillen suggested that a meeting be held in Hudson County similar to the one he plans for Essex.

PAYNE TAKES NEW POST.

Is Sworn In as Secretary of the Interior, Succeeding Lane.

WASHINGTON, March 15.—John Barton Payne retired today as Chairman of the Shipping Board and was sworn in as Secretary of the Interior, succeeding Franklin K. Lane, who retired on March 1.

Mr. Payne was replaced on the Shipping Board by Rear Admiral William S. Benson, retired. Admiral Benson was appointed only as a member of the board, but it is expected that he will be elected Chairman.

One of Mr. Payne's last acts as Chairman of the Shipping Board was to create two new positions, that of General Counsel and General Solicitor. Robert A. Dean, General Counsel for the Emergency Fleet Corporation, was appointed to the first office and Charles F. Dutch was made General Solicitor.

WILLIAMS SUCCEEDS ROPER.

Solicitor of Department of Agriculture Will Head Revenue Bureau.

WASHINGTON, March 15.—William Martin Williams of Alabama will succeed Daniel C. Roper as Commissioner of Internal Revenue. Mr. Williams's selection by President Wilson was announced today at the White House. He is solicitor for the Department of Agriculture and was recommended for his new post by Secretary of the Treasury Houston, who formerly was Secretary of Agriculture.

Commissioner Roper recently presented his resignation to President Wilson, effective April 1. With the retirement of Mr. Roper, Claude Callan, assistant commissioner in charge of income tax collections, will leave the bureau and will be succeeded by Paul M. Myers, Chief Clerk of the Treasury Department.

Mr. Williams has been solicitor of the Department of Agriculture since 1917, and prior to that time practiced law in New York and Montgomery, Ala.

SOLDIERS ASK WAR PROFITS.

Want Surplus Earnings Taken as Taxes for Their Benefit.

WASHINGTON, March 15.—A resolution proposing legislation to "tax into the United States Treasury" for the benefit of former service men surplus war profits held by the Standard Oil Company, the United States Steel Corporation and other companies or corporations was introduced today by Representative Little, Republican, of Kansas.

The measure, prepared by the Private Soldiers' and Sailors' Legion, proposes that the Attorney General be directed to begin immediately injunction proceedings against the corporations to restrain them or their officers or agents "from taking any steps either by stock dividends or other devices to distribute the surplus war profits accumulated in their treasuries during the past six years."

The Ways and Means Committee would be directed to draft immediately a bill to tax the surplus profits into the Treasury.

Maximum production

"Working to capacity" does not always mean maximum production. A single operation incorrectly executed many times a day will lessen the efficiency of any department. Repeated in many departments it will noticeably affect the output of your plant.

Often such leaks first make themselves known through the figures of the department concerned. The correction of them involves a study of these figures as well as the process itself.

Toronto, February 28.—According to reports from the local customs house, trade with Great Britain is increasing to the detriment of the United States. This is largely due to the adverse exchange rate. Although figures are not available here as to the exact amount of imports from United States and Great Britain, the collector of customs stated today that imports from the United Kingdom were increasing considerably.

The customs returns for Feb- were $3,700,000, as com- $2,887,105 for Febr- biggest mon'- port w- o- —Montreal Gazette

Co-operation With Canadian Importers

A Means of Counteracting the Adverse Effect of Canadian Exchange

The premium on the American dollar in Canada is gradually forcing Canadian importers of American merchandise to buy at least a portion of their requirements elsewhere. If America is to retain unimpaired the trade of her third best foreign customer, American exporters must take decisive steps to counteract the effects of the present situation in the Canadian exchange market in co-operation with their Canadian customers.

This may be done in a number of ways; the officers of the New York Agency of the Union Bank of Canada will be pleased to discuss with American exporters methods of financing Canadian trade.

TRADING IS SCATTERED

Numerous apartment houses in both the midtown and uptown neighborhoods changed hands yesterday in cash deals. Max N. Natanson, operator, has purchased from Florence Miller, 245 and 247 Fifth Avenue, southeast corner of Fifth Avenue and Twenty-eighth Street, a ten-story building known as the Knickerbocker Apartments, on a plot 86.10 by 125. The building is fully rented and was held for $1,000,000. The transaction, which was for cash, was negotiated by W. Albert Pease, Jr., who was the broker in the sale of this property last December to the seller. All leases expire in October, 1920.

The building was erected some thirty years ago and was one of the first duplex apartment ventures of the co-operative type in this city. Recently it was reported that the property would be converted into a high-grade office building, and it is possible that a resale will be made for an improvement of this character.

Within easy commuting distance, with frequent and comfortable train service, I have homes at $4,200, $5,000, $6,500, $7,500 and $10,000, built a few years ago, that would cost at least a half more to construct now. They are the real bargains today and call for decision and prompt action. We have already done the "shopping" to find them; they are for you to act upon; they sell because they are worth more than their present price. See me about them. Howard Goldsmith, 63 Park Row. GALLATIN TO OPEN CITY FLOWER BOOTHS

Markets Will Be Established at Columbus Circle and Union Square.

NO PROFITEERING, A RULE

Would Permit Those of Moderate Means to Buy—Only Growers May Sell There.

Park Commissioner Francis D. Gallatin will, on Monday, March 29, establish two municipal flower markets, one on the Central Park Plaza, near the Maine Monument at Columbus Circle, and the other in Union Square. It will be the beginning of what he called an experiment in the beautiful, and primarily his purpose, he said, is not to give opportunity for barter, but to give the poor and the dweller in three or four rooms in a crowded apartment house a chance to satisfy a longing for flowers, without having to pay exorbitant prices. The experiment will be discontinued at the end of the month if it is found that those who grow flowers do not care to sell them in this way, or that the public does not respond to these efforts.

The new market will be opened each Monday and Wednesday from 7 o'clock in the morning to 5 P. M. and on Saturday afternoons from 1 to 5 o'clock. Applications for permits to sell must be made to the office of the Commissioner of Parks, tenth floor of the Municipal Building.

Before making the announcement the Commissioner asked the opinion of one of several florists in Fifth Avenue, and the latter said that such a market was not only desirable but would fill a definite want. In no sense will the new markets compete with other florists for the present plan is only to open the markets to those who are the actual growers of the flowers they offer for sale.

"There is a need for such flower markets," said Commissioner Gallatin. "They enable small growers to find a ready market for their surplus products and they generally promote the love for flowers. Nearly every one of us has at some time had a longing for flowers, either for our own enjoyment or to send to some sick friend. If we had money this longing was easy to satisfy. If we did not have money, we either went without or made sacrifices to obtain what we wanted. Such flower markets will stimulate the longing for the beautiful and give opportunity for buying. One of the first requirements to do business in our markets will be that prices be moderate for, after all, it is those of moderate means that we wish to supply with flowers. There must be no profiteering. There should be a good demand for small potted plants.

"In establishing these markets no attempt will be made to gain profit to the city and the nominal rent that will be charged will be only sufficient to cover the cost of cleaning up and looking after the markets. If feasible more flower markets will be opened on Park Department property in other parts of the city. I think many growers will find in these markets an outlet for flowers that would otherwise not be sold."

MOHAWK ASKS AID, ENGINES DISABLED

WILMINGTON, N. C., March 15.—A wireless picked up here today reported the American steamer Mohawk of the Clyde Line, Jacksonville to New York, 38 miles southwest of Cape Lookout, with her engine dead. The cutter Manning of Norfolk, is steaming toward the distressed vessel, which has aboard 214 passengers and a crew of 41.

The Naval Communications Bureau at 44 Whitehall Street, received the news by radio early yesterday that the Mohawk of the Clyde Line was disabled 80 miles north of Frying Pan Shoals with a large number of passengers from Jacksonville, Fla., to New York and was in need of immediate assistance.

The message sent out by Captain James Ingram of the Mohawk, which was relayed via Cape Hatteras, read: "Forty miles north of Frying Pan Shoals. Engines broken down. Want immediate assistance."

On receipt of the message, the officials of the Clyde Line telegraphed to Wilmington, ordering all their tugs in that vicinity to proceed at once to the aid of the Mohawk, as there was a danger of her drifting on the rocks unless she received immediate assistance. The position of the vessel seemed to be about twenty-five miles south of Cape Lookout.

Instructions were also sent by radio to the Merritt & Chapman wrecking tug Relief, bound from New York to Key West, and which was believed to be near the Mohawk, to go to her assistance. Clyde Line officials said if the weather was fair along the coast the Mohawk would be towed to Hampton Roads, but if it was rough they would send her to Charleston, S. C.

The Mohawk has a gross tonnage of 4,822, is 387 feet long, has 48 feet 3 inches beam and was built in 1908 for the Clyde Line passenger and freight service between New York, Charleston and Jacksonville.

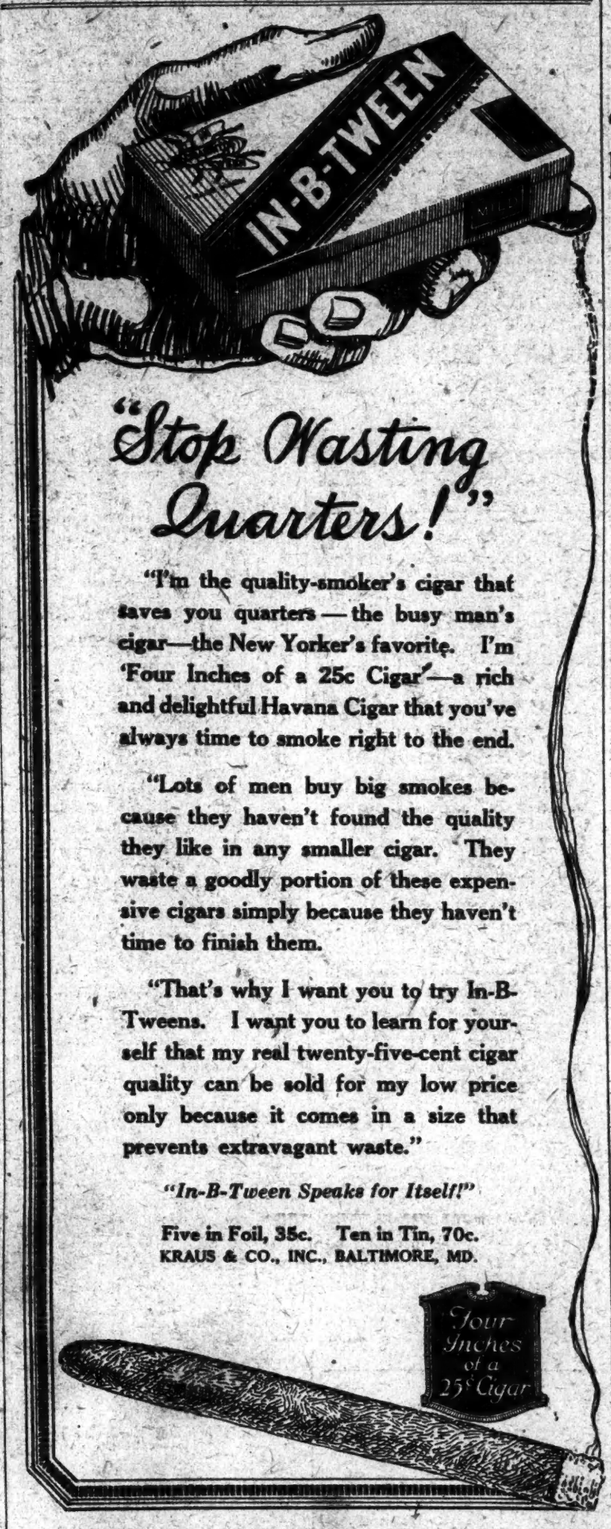
COLER FOR PROHIBITION.

Charities Commissioner Tells of Beneficial Effects Here.

The bill recently passed at Albany changing the name of the Department of Public Charities to the Department of Public Welfare will probably be signed by Mayor Hylan within a week, said Commissioner of Charities Bird S. Coler yesterday. Speaking before the Daughters of Indiana in the Hotel McAlpin, the Commissioner said he thought the change would remove an unpleasant connotation generally found in the former designation. The beneficial effects of prohibition were emphasized by Commissioner Coler.

"Two years ago," he said, "I should have been against prohibition, but the recent results have been remarkable. The number of alcoholics received at Bellevue Hospital has dwindled to seven or eight a week, and the alcoholic wards are being abolished. The demands for ambulance calls in the Harlem colored district, where stabbings and murders were formerly so frequent, have fallen off one-third. There are far fewer children committed to institutions, while the decrease in social disease cases is phenomenal."

The Commissioner condemned the practice of certain Judges in committing criminally defective children to Randall's Island as feebleminded. "I am not afraid of contempt of court charges," he declared. "The next such case I shall refuse to receive, and public opinion will support me."



"Stop Wasting Quarters!"

"I'm the quality-smoker's cigar that saves you quarters—the busy man's cigar—the New Yorker's favorite. I'm 'Four Inches of a 25c Cigar'—a rich and delightful Havana Cigar that you've always time to smoke right to the end.

"Lots of men buy big smokes because they haven't found the quality they like in any smaller cigar. They waste a goodly portion of these expensive cigars simply because they haven't time to finish them.

"That's why I want you to try In-B-Tweens. I want you to learn for yourself that my real twenty-five-cent cigar quality can be sold for my low price only because it comes in a size that prevents extravagant waste."

"In-B-Tween Speaks for Itself!"

MERCANTILE TRUST COMPANY

A PROMINENT business man died recently and left his son a small weekly income.

"I make this provision for my son," he wrote by way of explaining his action, "because I am of the opinion that he is lacking in business ability, and is not competent to take charge of and prudently use, manage and dispose of money and property."

As a matter of fact, how many persons of your acquaintance are competent to take charge of and prudently use, manage and dispose of money and property?

Comparatively few! And they are likely to be persons of sound experience in business matters. Estate management in the hands of inexperienced individuals is always attended with risk.

You can sidestep this risk, in the case of your own family, by appointing the Mercantile Trust Company executors and trustees under your will.

When you make this important business arrangement, you enlist the active co-operation of our permanent TRUST COMMITTEE, which is composed of men in the highest degree qualified to take charge of and prudently manage the property you leave your family.

For instance, the members of this experienced committee are selected by the Board of Directors from its own personnel. The President of the Company serves ex officio with the Committee.

If you are interested in creating a Mercantile trusteeship for your family, we shall be glad to go into the matter with you in detail.

The LEADER OF LIGHT WEIGHT CARS

Factory Trucks—Warehouse Trucks—Freight-house Trucks

Do You Need Truckers?

The answer is "yes," because every man responsible for the internal handling of goods by trucks needs more truckers and can't get them.

Better Trucks relieve this situation by enabling your present force to handle more goods at a decreased cost per ton mile.

One man can handle, on an easy running Hyatt-equipped truck, loads that require two and three men on an ordinary friction bearing truck. He does it without overexertion and can keep it up all day without excessive fatigue.

Give a hundred Hyatt equipped trucks to your gang and see them fight to get one of these husky, easy running trucks that lightens the load and keeps truckers in good humor.

"A Gentleman to See You"

If the gentleman is one of the Hyatt Better Truck Engineers it will pay you to see him and talk with him for a few minutes.

He knows truck designs, truck materials, truck specifications—but best of all he knows Better Truck Performance. Performance counts and when you hear the story of quality trucks that perform their work quickly, economically, and constantly, you will want them to perform for you.

Remember Better Trucks are not special—they are just capable trucks built of honest materials by progressive manufacturers.

The Spat Pump—a Creation

Women with proud high insteps are finding just what they want in this new spat pump. The spat is just a bud at its throat, yet this little insert relieves strain where strain was felt; it furnishes a backing for ornaments against the jet-black patent leather; and it alters a simplicity some thought too severe. Suitable for all occasions. A Walk-Over—tailored to fit you perfectly. Call and notice how well your instep looks above this high Louis heel.
